

ORGANIZATION NEWS

Kappa Delta Pi

Kappa Delta Pi, the Honor Society in Education, recently held its Spring Induction ceremonies in the Rudolph Jones Student Center at Fayetteville State University.

Those inducted included both students and faculty and are as follows: Wanda Barefoot, Teresa S. Bass, Renate S. Blanton, Melinda S. Davidson, Sheila L. Furrell, Pamela J. Canady, Patricia C. Lewis, Tracy A. Lewis, Bradford L. Seadore, Nancy M. Shotwell, Dr. Doris L. Brightharp, Dr. Ann Holmes, and Dr. Samuel C. Moore. A Reaffirmation Ceremony was also held to welcome Laronda G. Freeman.

After the ceremony, each new member was asked to present an "abstract" from his/her pledge project which was an annotated bibliography entitled "Froming an Acquaintanceship With Kappa Delta Pi Literature." The project was to be directed toward the individual's field of study. The abstracts proved to be quite informative and presented the audience with an insight into the various topics and studies featured in The Kappa Delta Pi Record and Focus.

The featured speaker, Dr. Ernest McNeill, area chairperson of the education department at Fayetteville State University, spoke briefly concerning the dedication required to maintain the standards of excellence in academics displayed by the members of KDP. He also spoke of the necessity of member's assistance to other students as a contribution to excellence in education.

Friends and family joined the members in refreshments and a social hour after the program. A special guest from Durham was the Chapter Founder, Dr. Minnie Forte.

Delta Mu Delta

Delta Mu Delta, national business administration honor society, held its spring initiation at Fayetteville State University on Thursday, April 15 at 2 p.m. in the Butler Little Theater. The FSU chapter inducted twenty students and two honorary members. Mr. John Ayers, CPA at Moore & Price, was the speaker for the initiation ceremonies.

Miss Jacqueline Redding, senior business administration major, serves as president of Gamma Beta Chapter. Dr. Grace Black and Mrs. Norma McLaughlin serve as co-advisors of the local chapter.

Alpha Phi Alpha

Recently, the Epsilon Zeta Chapter of Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity, Inc., held a benefit fashion show for the March of Dimes Birth Defects Foundation of Fayetteville.

The March of Dimes Birth Defects Foundation is an organization established to do research in the area of birth defects. Through the work done by this and other such organizations, much progress has been made in this area and it is hoped that one day many birth defects may be eliminated. A great majority of the funding for such research is done through private donations and fund raisings of this sort.

This particular function was an overwhelming success. Held in the Seabrook Auditorium on the campus

Dawson Elected VP Of National Honor Society

Terrance Dawson was elected vice president of the Alpha Kappa Mu National Honor Society during the 44th Annual Convention of Alpha Kappa Mu. The convention was held in Tallahassee, Florida on March 25-27.

Dawson sent pictures and resumes to 70 universities throughout the United States. He also said they had been working toward this campaign since February of 1982.

Dawson said credit for him being elected vice-president goes to Carolyn Johnson, his campaign manager, John Stone and Minnie Futrell, members of his campaign committee. Dr. John Wolfe assisted him with his speech writing and Dr. Edward Hill also assisted in the presentation of his speech.

A junior majoring in Business Administration with a concentration in Accounting, Dawson's ultimate academic goal is to obtain a law degree in the field of taxation.

Dawson was born in Monroe, Louisiana. After graduating in 1972 from Carroll High School, he joined the Army in 1973. During his military duty he held the position of Administrative Assistant. In 1979 he received a honorable discharge from the Army.

of Fayetteville State University, student as well as community turnout was commendable.

Fashions for this event were displayed by Fashion Producers, Ltd., a fashion group here on campus. All proceeds were donated to the March of Dimes.

"Little Miss FSU" Pageant To Be Held

The Fayetteville State University Cumberland County Alumni Chapter will hold its second Annual "Little Miss FSU Pageant" on Friday, May 7 at 7:30 p.m. in the J.W. Seabrook Auditorium on the campus.

The public is invited to attend. Donation: $2.50.

Phi Beta Lamda Fellowship Of Christian Students

Phi Beta Lamda recently held its spring induction ceremony on April 22. With the addition of the new members, the total membership in the Fayetteville State University Chapter of Phi Beta Lamda increased to 85 members. The inductees were: Minnie Futrell, Eva McCallum, Melinda Smith, Barbara D. Matthews, Michelle Wilson, Willette Faison, Deidre Williams, Rochelle Gore, Cynthia L. Moore, Donald E. Jones, Samuel Garret, Thommasina Williams, Ricky D. Lawrence, Winifred Colvin, Henry Outlaw, Bethina Barker, Christopher Fester, Velma Jones, Elizabeth Brown, Eleanor McKoy, Patricia Green, Phyllis Lennon, Lorraine Jackson, Carolyn Pollard, Lou Stinson, Theresa Lewis, Felecia A. Walker, Linda S. Crosby, Sandra Swinton and Stephon Sanders.

The FBLA concept was developed in 1937 by Hamden L. Forkner of Teachers College, University of New York City. In the fall of 1940, official sponsorship of FBLA was accepted by the National Council for Business Education. February 3, 1942, the first chapter was organized in Johnson City, Tennessee. In 1958, a separate post-secondary division of FBLA - Phi Beta Lamda - was established.

The Fellowship of Christian Students (FCS), held their first Annual Gospel Extravaganza on April 17 in Seabrook Auditorium. Various University gospel and church choirs performed.

FCS' first dramatic production, "The Rapture," was presented April 19 and 24.

FCS takes this opportunity to thank everyone who contributed to their Clothes Collection Drive.

Accounting Association

The Accounting Association of FSU sponsored an Employment Skills Seminar on April 6. The purpose of the Seminar was to provide the students with beneficial information about how to prepare a good resume and how to prepare for an interview.

The Seminar was conducted by Mr. and Mrs. Dimitri Sleem who head PREP (Professional Resume and Employment Preparation) in Fayetteville on Hay Street. Mrs. Sleem (Ms. McKinney) teaches business courses at FSU.

Political Science Club

Students simulate the UN Security Council

The Political Science Club took part in a model session of the U.N. Security Council at Appalachian State University.

The revolution in El Salvador, the annexation of the Golan Heights by Israel, the continuing problems in Kampuchea, and Namibia's quest for independence - all of these were questions debated in the simulated session.

Fifteen colleges and universities participated in the sessions, which began on Friday March 19 and continued through Sunday, March 21. Carolyn Johnson, Cheryl Washington, and Sheikh Tejan of Fayetteville State University represented the countries of Guyana and Uganda - two of the non-permanent current members of the Council.

The Fayetteville State delegation was able to obtain passage by the Council of a resolution in support of Namibia's struggle against South Africa. A certificate of "honorable mention" was awarded to FSU for its contributions toward resolving some of the problems on the Council's agenda.

Through the efforts of members of the Political Science Club, contributions and help from individuals students, faculty and Dr. B.C. Patterson, faculty advisor, these students were able to take part in an enjoyable and valuable field experience.

Next year, the Political Science Club plans to participate in the model OAU Conference held annually at Howard University.