Basketball Classic

The National Civil Rights Museum and Hall of Fame will be the charitable beneficiary of the First Annual Black College All Star Basketball Classic and the attendant Black College Queen contest to be held at the new, ultramodern Genesis Center in Gary, Indiana.

Citizens of Gary, Indiana, have contributed to and spearheaded a drive that has raised well over a million dollars towards the establishment of the nation's first civil rights museum and hall of fame. Ground will soon be broken and construction will begin on the over $3 million venture.

According to Gary Mayor, Richard Gordon Hatcher, "The National Civil Rights Hall of Fame will gather in one place for all time important papers, documents and memorabilia from Montgomery and Selma, from the Sitin Movement, from the Freedom Summers of the sixties, and from the March on Washington. It will give long delayed recognition to those courageous citizens of all colors and creeds who have given so much, including their lives, so that we all might be free at last!"

"The historically Black colleges have played a major role in the fight for freedom," says Booker Griffin, Chairman of the game and founder of the game and Queen constest. "It is a natural institutional relationship for a project involving the colleges to benefit the Civil Rights Hall of Fame because the impetus for the Movement and most of the leaders came from the Black Colleges," Griffin concluded.

The basketball doublehitter featuring both women's and men's all stars from America's historically Black colleges will be played on Saturday night, April 9. The twelve person squads will vie against each other in an East-West format.

The Queen contest will choose a national Black Campus Queen from among the queens chosen on the campuses annually. Each queen will take a 200 question Black History and general information test. The top 20 scores will come to Gary to compete for the National crown.

The test score will be a major factor in choosing the winner. Contestants will also be judged on verbal expression, charm, poise, personality and physical beauty. The winner will receive $1,000 and serve as an ambassador to motivate and inspire Black youth while stressing the values and importance of education.

LSU Sports On Television

One of the outstanding athletes at Fayetteville State University is Reginald "Reggie" Williams. Reggie is the fifth of six children of Mr. and Ms. Robert Williams. He is a 1978 graduate of Pixon High School located in Jacksonville, Florida. In addition to being an outstanding running back for the Broncos, Reggie is a Business Administration Major with a concentration in management and has a G.P.A. (Grade Point Average) of 2.8.

Reggie started with the Broncos his freshman year (1979-80) and has been a starter since his sophomore year. He lead the team in rushing for three years and was the team's leading scorer two of the three years. When asked about the problems the football team has had, his response was, "The four years I've been at FSU, there have been three different head coaches. It's hard to establish a winning tradition when you are constantly changing to different coaching philosophy from season to season.

"Another problem," he added, "is the team depends on too many freshman from year to year and to play key positions because in the past we haven't retained many players from previous seasons."

"An example of this," said Reggie, "is when I was a freshman there were about fifty freshman players. From that number only eight remains, Joe Byrd, Sam Gantt, Kevin Martin, Barney Mason, Micheal Rush, Kenrick Sims, Percy Taylor and myself."

College football may soon be over for Reggie but there are other options. He has been contacted by four teams in the United States Football League (USFL) and offered the opportunity to tryout. However, Reggie's immediate plans are to attend graduate school at the University of Southern Florida or the University of Florida.

Reggie is not only an athlete but also the Parliamentarian of Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity, Inc. and has made the Dean's List on three occasions. Since his four year stay, he has seen many changes. "There have been improvements of the educational facilities on campus; yet however, the housing conditions on campus, student's involvement, and security needs improvement," replied Reggie. In additon, Reggie believes that the student body should become more involved with campus activites and become more aquainted with the office of S.G.A. (Student Government Association).

Reggie has been involved in sports; yet his academics and interest in student activities has not suffered.
