FSU Comeback Bid Falls Short

By CHRIS MILLER

October 19, 1985 at 1:30 p.m. Fayetteville State hosted Winston-Salem State University (WSSU) for their homecoming opponent. At the start of the game, Winston-Salem won the coin toss and elected to receive the ball. On WSSU's first drive of the game, they were halted by a fired up Bronco defense, which went without the services of nose guard Otis Ransaw who was side lined because of a knee injury. The Bronco's offense came on to the field and moved the ball impressively, but was unable to come up with a first down and had to punt it away. Winston-Salem State took over and found that it was hard moving the ball up the field, and they had to punt it back to FSU at 6:35. In the first quarter, FSU began passing the ball and getting receptions from Moses Ford and Benjamin Knox. WSSU big defensive play came when Raymond Puryear intercepted a Jerome

Morgan pass. Winston-Salem was unable to score six points, so they settled for a Tyrone Smith field goal. Fayetteville's next charge with the ball was again halted and they had to putn it to Winston-Salem. The Rams did not control the ball for long when Ram Quarterback Bobby Junior was intercepted by Bronco Senior, defensive back Martin Ricks with 1:39 left on the clock before the half.

At the start of the second half of the game, FSU's Gary Moore ran for some big gains and picked up some key first downs. On the first down for the Bronco's, Bruce Dunlap for the Rams picked off a Jerome Morgan pass and set the Rams up for their first 6 points when Edward Byers bowed his way into the end zone. Tyrone Smith's extra point was no good. So the score was FSU-0 and WSSU-9. The Bronco's next drive was stopped when Bruce Dunlap picked off Morgan's pass. Once again, the Rams first possession with the ball was destroyed when they fumbled and Phillip Julius for the Bronco's recovered. Fayetteville started with the ball at the Rams 7-yard line when Jerome Morgan was sacked in the end zone for a safety. On a few plays later, WSSU scored again when Bobby Junior launched a pass to Masha Paul for another 6 points. The field goal attempt by Smith was no good.

The Bronco's first touchdown came on screen play to Gary Moore. The extra point attempt by Ted Squire was good. The Bronco's last touchdown came on a pass to Benjamin Knox from Jerome Morgan and FSU's two point conversion was foiled, causing the score to end with FSU-13 and WSSU-17. Phillip Cofield was chosen MVP for the Bronco's 1985 Homecoming.

Aggies Down Broncos 35-0

One of the most important games of the football season is a University's Homecoming; and on Saturday, October 12, the Aggies of North Carolina Agriculture and Technical University (A&T) played host the FSU Bronco's for their homecoming year.

A well coached and determined team, as well as a packed stadium of loyal fans helped the Aggies down the Bronco's 35-0. The opening of the game started with the FSU Bronco's winning the toss and receiving the kick-off. However, the Broncos soon turned the ball over to the Aggies when they failed to reach a first down. The first touchdown of the game came with 9:27 left in the first quarter when the Aggie quarterback hit Jessie Britt for a touchdown-pass, followed by a perfect field goal making the score 7-0.

Tension and tempers began to show only as the game really began to start moving along. About 5:42 left in the first quarter a fight disrupted the game when two players began to have a few punches passed followed by both teams rushing to the field to defend each teammate. The game however, was directed back in the right direction when the referees threw both players out of the game and ordered the field clear of all inactive players.

At the midpoint of the second quarter, approximately 8:02, the Aggies delighted their fans with another touchdown placing a bigger gap between their score and that of the Broncos. Then with 5:55 left in the first half, Stoney Polite made the Aggie's lead impossible to catch when he scored from 2-yards out. At halftime the Aggies had an outstanding 21-0 lead over the Broncos.

The third and fourth quarters came as a disappointment to the Broncos as their offense was unable to score in either quarters. On the other hand, the Aggies continued to score. Scoring twice in the third quarter the Aggies assured themselves of a victory. The game ended with a 35-0 victory for the Aggies over a disappointment Bronco team.
