FSU Hires New Business Faculty

Fayetteville State University has named four new faculty members to its School of Business and Economics, according to an FSU press release.

The new faculty members include:

- Barbara A. Leuin, who has 11 years experience in industry and academia. For five years, she worked for a major electric utility in the Southwest making long-range forecasts of energy demands and served as an adviser to the Electric Power Research Institute.

- She holds a bachelor's degree in mathematics from New York University, a master's in economics from the University of Arizona and a Ph.D. in economics from the University of New Mexico.

- In 1982, she began teaching courses on energy economics, regulated industries and management.

- Leuin also visited the People's Republic of China as part of the "People to People" delegation that studied trade relations between China and the United States.

- Lawrence E. McLean, who has 20 years experience in financial and administrative management, corporate planning and profit-center management. He holds a bachelor's degree in economics from Duke University, a master's from the University of Chicago and a Ph.D. in finance from Syracuse University.

- He has worked for companies such as Ford Motor Co. and General Signal Corp. and served as the chief executive officer for English and Mexican companies. He has taught finance, economics, quantitative disciplines, computer-assisted decision making and business ethics, and researched such topics as capital structure theory and business simulation games.

- Barry Griffin, who has 17 years experience in industry and academia. For five years he worked in manufacturing, operations research and statistical analysis. He is a certified member of the American Production and Inventory Control Society.

- Griffin is a graduate of AACSB Management Information Systems

Institute and is experienced with mainframe and micro-based computer hardware and software.

- He has served as an associate professor of management at Valparaiso University in Indiana, Eastern Kentucky University and Western Kentucky University. For the past two years, he has worked with C.R. Industries in Elgin, Ill. where he was responsible for increasing manufacturing productivity through participatory management.

- Ellis M. Saums, who has more than 25 years of experience in industry. He has served as a consultant for developing strategic and business plans for companies, installing inventory control systems and starting sales forecasting.

- He was vice president of engineering and vice president of materials management for the Thomas J. Lipton Co. He also has held management positions with Bowater Corp., General Foods, Merck & Co., and Johnson & Johnson, and has been a management consultant with Remington Rand and McKinsey & Co.

1989-90 Elections

By Dr. Betty M. Lovelace
Director of Student Activities
A number of students gathered in the Rudolph Jones Student Center Multi-purpose room on Wednesday, Sept. 14 to listen to class candidates pledge to serve them this academic year. The spirit was high and the tone was one of competitiveness and sportsmanship.

As a Fayetteville State University administrator, I was proud to be a part of this year's election. The students were well prepared, well attired and handled themselves with a degree of confidence and self-assuredness that made it difficult for prospective voters to know who to cast his/her vote for.

I was particularly impressed with the 1989 freshman class. These individuals exhibited strong leadership, academic excellence and promise. Without question, the degree of potential they possess is limitless. I'm certain this group will be instrumental in establishing a new tone of excellence here at Fayetteville State - a tone in which I'm proud to have been a part of.

FSU Receives $4000 From Credit Union

Fayetteville State University has received $4,000 from the College Heights Credit Union on Murchison Road in Fayetteville. The contribution will allow two (2) $2,000 scholarships to be awarded to selected high school graduates of the Cumberland County School System. Among the criteria set by the College Heights Scholarship Committee is a request that the scholarships be awarded to a prospective Life Science major and a prospective Teacher Education major.

Chancellor Lloyd V. Hackley accepted the award from Mr. J. L.

Knuckles, Vice Chairman, Board of Directors and Chairman of the Supervisory Committee and expressed appreciation to the Credit Union for "sharing our commitment to the students."

Dr. Hackley noted that scholarships provide opportunities for many of our students that would otherwise not be available. He added that a college education is much too valuable to be denied for financial reasons alone. "I know the scholarship recipients and their families will greatly appreciate your generosity," said Dr. Hackley.

Kappa Delta Pi Membership

Invitation to membership in Kappa Delta Pi - An International Honor Society in Education, usually comes after a computer search of student records to identify those who are eligible to join. Those eligible to join are then mailed a personalized invitation. But for several good reasons this time a new gimmick is being added in the form of this more broadbased or universal announcement.

Undergraduate eligibility is contingent upon a GPA of 3.2 or better. For graduate students with a minimum of twelve hours, the GPA rises slightly to 3.5.

Neophyte scholars interested in joining the premier Honor Society on campus should present proof of their eligibility to Dr. C.I. Brown, Room 126 Butler Learning Center and pick up an Application for Membership Form. The Kappa Delta Pi Induction Ceremony for Fall 1989 will be held on Oct. 27, 1989. So applications must be picked up and processed by Oct. 1, 1989.

Harry S. Truman Scholarship

Fayetteville State University sophomores interested in a career in government service at the federal, state, or local level are invited to apply for a 1990 Harry S. Truman Scholarship. Established by Congress in 1975, the Harry S. Truman Scholarship Foundation operates an ongoing educational scholarship program designed to provide opportunities for outstanding students in the United States with potential leadership ability to prepare for careers in government service.

In April 1990, the Foundation will award 92 Scholarships nationally. The DEADLINE for all 1990 applications is December 1, 1989.

Fayetteville State University can nominate three students for the 1990 competition. The scholarship award covers eligible expenses up to $7000 for the junior year, senior year, and two years of graduate study.

To be eligible, a student must be a full-time sophomore working toward or planning to pursue a baccalaureate degree, have a B average or higher, stand in the upper fourth of the class, and be a United States citizen or United States national heading toward a center in government.

Interested students should submit a statement of career plans, a list of past public-service activities or other leadership positions, a current transcript, and a 600-word essay discussing a public policy issue of their choice to Dr. V. Dwight House, Truman Scholarship Foundation Representative, Room 307, Lyons Science Building, by Friday, Oct. 27.

Those students that Fayetteville State University nominate will have to secure three letters of recommendation from individuals knowledgeable enough about the student to assess the nominee's personal characteristics, potential for government service, and motivation. The evaluation must include one from each of the following:

1. An individual who can discuss the nominee's potential for a career in government service.
2. A faculty member in the nominee's field of study.
3. Another individual who can attest to the nominee's potential.

In addition they must complete biographical questionnaires, see that a secondary school report is completed and sent to the Truman Scholarship Review Committee, and copy their essay onto a proper form for submission to the Truman Scholarship Review Committee.

Five Part Series Examines the Civil War

The drama, the devastation and the ultimate reconciliation of the Civil War come alive at the library this fall in REBIRTH OF A NATION: NATIONALISM AND THE CIVIL WAR. Co-sponsored by the library and the Cumberland County Board of Education, this free five-part series combines lectures, readings and group discussion to examine the issues, events and personalities that split a nation.

Programs will be held every other Tuesday at 7 p.m. in the Pate Room of the Headquarters Library on Maiden Lane. Registration is required. Participants may register for the entire series or for individual programs by calling series coordinator for any one program is one week before the program date. Copies of the topic books will be loaned to registered participants in advance of program dates. Dates, speakers and discussion topics are:

- September 12 - "TWO ROADS TO SUMTER" by William and Bruce Catton - Speaker: Dr. Melton McLaurin, UNC-Wilmington.

- September 26 - "UNCLE TOM'S CABIN" by Harriet Beecher Stowe - Speaker: Dr. Diane Sesson, Duke University.

- October 10 - "ORDEAL BY FIRE, VOL. 11: THE CIVIL WAR" by James McPherson - Speaker: Dr. David Goldfield, UNC-Charlotte.

- October 24 - "RECONSTRUCTION: AFTER THE CIVIL WAR" by John Hope Franklin - Speaker: Dr. Paul Escott, Wake Forest University.

- November 14 - "THE PRIVATE MARY CHESNUT: THE UNPUBLISHED CIVIL WAR

DIARIES" by C. Vann Woodward and Elisabeth Muhlenfeld - Speaker: Dr. Kathleen Berkeley, UNC-Wilmington.

This project is made possible by a grant from the North Carolina Humanities Council, a state-based program of the National Endowment for the Humanities. REBIRTH OF A NATION is coordinated by the Duke University Office of Continuing Education and is partially funded with a grant from the Library Services and Construction Act Title I grant administered by the Division of State Library, NC Department of Cultural Resources.

Teachers in the Cumberland County School system who attend all five sessions will be awarded in-service program credit. To register, or for more information, please contact the library at 483-3745.

Students Against MS Program

NEW YORK, NY-The National Multiple Sclerosis Society announced today that the Students Against Multiple Sclerosis (SAMSSM) Program is back again for the fifth straight year. You can get your school involved and possibly win a MTV: Music Television "victory" Bash Party for the students on your campus. Plus you will be helping the people who really need your support—the quarter of a million Americans who have multiple sclerosis.

"SAMS, a national collegiate fund raising and awareness program will take place on more than 200 campuses this year," announced Admiral Thor Hanson, the Society's president and chief executive officer. "Across the country thousands of college students will be joining forces to help fight MS, a disease that commonly affects their own age group. We're proud to support their efforts on behalf of the Society's worthwhile mission—the eradication of multiple sclerosis for future generations."

Throughout the 1989-90 school year, and especially in February - "BUST MS MONTH" - college students will be involved in a variety of educational and fund raising activities geared toward increasing public awareness of multiple sclerosis, and establishing long-term fund raising support of the National Multiple Sclerosis Society's efforts aimed at finding the cause and cure for MS. One of the major exciting events is ROCK ALIKE, a national lip synch competition in which students impersonate their favorite rock stars to raise money for MS. The Contest culminates in the National Finals which are broadcast live from Spring Break at Daytona Beach on MTV: Music Television. Last year, the winning act came from the University of Alabama/Tuscaloosa. Five members from Sigma Delta Tau Sorority performed Guns and Roses' popular song,

"Welcome to the Jungle." While the real incentive of the SAMS Program is to help the 250,000 Americans who have multiple sclerosis, prizes and recognition awards are given to the top campuses and chairpeople. This year, the top fund raising campus will receive an on-campus "Victory" Bash sponsored by MTV.

Since 1985, SAMS has grown from 12 campuses to over 200, involving thousands of students across the country. SAMS has also received the enthusiastic endorsement of major corporations such as General Foods/Maxwell House Coffee, The Games Gang, Maxell, and Hertz, well-known celebrities including Cyndi Lauper and Brooke Shields, and many national student organizations, including Sigma Pi and Theta Xi fraternities. This year, popular NBC weatherman Willard Scott will once again serve as Honorary National Chairperson of SAMS.

Leading SAMS on campus affords students the opportunity to develop skills in leadership, organization, and management, while gaining valuable business experiences in areas such as marketing, public relations, and event planning. In addition, on many campuses students can earn internship credit for participating in the program. Another component of the program is the "Corporate Candidates" program, which will offer the top SAMS chairpeople the opportunity to have their resumes reviewed by major corporations with an eye toward creating sound business contact and referrals for future employment.

"We're very proud that college students have adopted SAMS as their own personal cause, and in doing so are helping our efforts to eradicate multiple sclerosis as a major disabler of young adults," added Admiral Hanson.

New Bookstore Policy

BY DORIS BIHLMAYER

For those of you who do not know why students are marking in textbooks, hang on to your hats! The bookstore has a new policy this semester which permits the marking of rental textbooks. This change was instituted due to the many complaints of students who desired to highlight and underline in their books to make their studying simpler. The new policy has gained wide acceptance, and students are taking full advantage of the situation. It all goes to show that students are heard if they voice their opinions long and loud enough. So, all your students out there, gear up your highlighters, pens, and pencils and mark away!

Just when you thought you didn't need a cold shower...
