

Horoscope

Aries (March 21-April 20). Work officials may soon ask for detailed records. Watch for recent disputes or team indecision to create a need for accurate paperwork, completed duties or proof of ownership. Don't hesitate to refer to old rules or official contracts.

Taurus (April 21-May 20). An unusual business request may captivate attention. Shared duties, public relations, news gathering or media events may all be a concern. Authority figures will leave key elements vague; don't expect detailed or obvious instructions.

Gemini (May 21-June 21). Old promises, past employment aspirations or ongoing family discussions may be annoying. Even though career options are strong, loved ones may still not understand your motives or goals.

Cancer (June 22-July 22). Concentration and daily performance will be greatly affected by social events. Private discussions with colleagues or close friends may create an atmosphere of mistrust. Take extra time for reflection and inward thought.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22). Although career prospects and new educational projects are promising, avoid unclear documents or poorly defined contracts. Authority figures will react poorly to unfinished paperwork, delayed decisions or unusually creative input.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22). Close friends and relatives may be unexpectedly emotional. Watch for past family commitments or outdated romantic promises to captivate the attention of loved ones. Little of this will manifest as a serious or long-lasting concern, so don't worry.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 23). Financial promises and new workplace instructions are accented. Watch for outdated procedures to create controversy. The past may be challenged. Pay close attention to minor political delays or unusual requests from managers.

Scorpio (Oct. 24-Nov. 21). Marital relations and long-term romantic expectations will clarify. Expect loved ones to request solid promises or shared home responsibilities. Some Scorpions, especially those born in early November, may also welcome several new friendships into their private lives.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21). Work attitudes and daily duties may dramatically change. Watch for previously silent work mates to publicly challenge the ideas of authority figures. Much of this may lead to fast action or temporary team assignments.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 20). Gentle romantic overtures will be delightfully seductive. Rare flirtations and genuine statements of affection may all be captivating. However, new relationships will not be easily established; wait for romantic tensions to build before taking risks.

Aquarius (Jan. 21-Feb. 19). Pay close attention to the requests or observations of older friends and relatives. Someone close may offer valuable advice concerning family dynamics, home schedules or the private emotions of a loved one. Provide sensitive thoughts and new ideas; your efforts will soon create successful combinations.

Pisces (Feb. 20-March 20). Social messages will be emotionally productive. Expect previously shy or silent friends to propose unique group events, travel adventures or creative activities. Join in and enjoy the moment.

If your birthday is this week . . . Romance will greatly intensify. Watch for potential love affairs to soon create controversial choices. Some Pisceans will begin an important four-year cycle of social independence and new sensuality.

Hair

growing them out, the only thing that you hear the women say is cut it. So what is the deal. You can't go from no-hair to hair over night. (Unless you are female, ha-ha) Why this is a small issue is because guys and girls are different. Girls no matter what the length of they're hair try to make sure it look s good, well at least those around campus. It wouldn't matter if they had hair to the knees or were borderline bald, women will find a way to hook it up. Guys on the other hand have seemed to be a little relaxed in that area. On the average day it would be nothing to just throw a do-rag on the dome and run with it some tie you may see some wave under the do rag, ... but not if you're growing your hair out. It all goes straight down hill. This is where the problem starts. The females will complain especially if you're with her, which is not expected because every women wants her man to look good and vice-versa.

To make sure I have my facts straight it would have been easier to just do a little research. So for starters I just started a little survey to see exactly how many women actually like braids so it won't be biased. The actual turn out was so much different than you would think. Actually not as many girls like braids as you would think and if they did, they still had complaints about the way the braids looked. Every one has seen some one who's braids were a little fuzzy. My only

LL Cool J shows versatility in new movie

Different Role For Rapper LL Cool J

TMS Campus Report

He glosses over the story at first - leaving out the parts about the sprained ankle and raging flames.

It's not until you ask LL Cool J to rewind one quick sec that he delves into how hairy things really got on the set of "Rollerball."

"I had a stunt where I had to jump a ramp and save a young lady whose motorcycle was on fire," says Cool J. "I pulled her off her bike, but when she let go, the handlebars hooked onto the spur of my boot. So here I am riding with a burning motorcycle hanging off my leg."

"It was crazy." After narrowly escaping serious injury, the rapper-turned-actor (born James Todd Smith in St. Albans, Queens, in 1968) quickly dropped his plan to be another Jackie Chan - and encouraged his stunt doubles to get a little dirtier.

"I have other things to talk about," he says. "I don't need to tell the world that I do all my stunts."

Still, he performed some of the tricky motorcycle maneuvers and flashy Rollerblading in the pyrotechnically loaded remake of "Rollerball." The update is slightly different from the 1975 sci-fi film that starred James Caan. The original pitted an American athlete (Caan) in violent tournaments around the world. This one is set in very relevant, present-day Kazakhstan - a Central Asian country that borders Afghanistan.

"Rollerball," which was actually shot in Canada, examines what happens when an extreme sport turns deadly.

Cool J, who shares screen time with Chris Klein ("American Pie") and Rebecca Romijn-Stamos, says that playing athlete Marcus Ridley was his most physically demanding role to date.

In addition to having to learn how to ride a motorcycle - "it took me about three months" - the star had to bulk up, putting on close to 40 pounds.

"I was lifting heavily and frequently," he says.

He has since dropped most of that weight. But Cool J - who for this chat sported a fitted red sweater, black slacks and one of his 2,000 hats - is no pint-size performer.

When it is suggested that his winning smile and strapping build make him a prime candidate for action hero (after all, Schwarzenegger and Stallone are getting older), the actor chuckles.

"That'd be cool," he says, "but I'd like to do a lot of different types of films. I just don't want to limit myself to that."

See LL Cool J Next Page

From Page 4

thought are since you have to keep getting you hair braided to keep them from getting fuzzy, why not try that jell that women use on finger-waves to keep it looking nice. When getting your hair braided have her put the jell on your hair so that after the braids are done the little ends that stick up will stay down when the jell hardens like in finger-waves. I didn't keep my braid that long, I actually cut my hair last semester so I'm not a braids expert.

Most of the girls said the same thing but different versions of it. (Ohh, and they went into detail too!) The survey had a couple of options that you could pick. Ranging from short-n-wavy or clean cut to long-n-straight to long curly. The last place runners in the survey went to hair styles like the Caesar, curls, long straight hair and the mini-fro. The most bizarre hair style went to Carolina Brown. She wanted a man with the kid-n-play style box with the slant. (girl you know I had to put you in the paper for that one) I doubt she was serious though but guys if you really want to go there its on you, who knows, it might come back...yeah, uh-huh...right! There were about six people who said it didn't matter as long as the hair was clean and neat.. The three heavy hitters were with dreads with 15 votes, 2nd place for braids with 38 votes, and the blow out decision short cut hair with its many different styles at 107 of the 169 people asked. Not even braids really touch this one.

So for this season I guess that short hair is in. Also so are jokes, girls made comments about guys with the bald head being sexy accept for the ashiness. That was a new one for me. Never seen some one with a ashy bald head, maybe a couple pointy ones. Other than that, all the complaints were about fuzzy dreads and braids.

So there you go, if you are looking for the most liked hairstyles it goes to the short-n-wavy or the clean cut, not to say that braids are not in people are always going to like braids, just not every one.