

65 YEARS OF THE VOICE

THEN

ARCHIVES
Fayetteville State Teachers College
 Published by THE STUDENTS OF FAYETTEVILLE STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE
 Volume 1 FAYETTEVILLE, N. C. - MAY, 1946 Number 3

Senior Edition Dedicated To War Veterans

F S T C VETERANS OF WORLD WAR II

SENIORS ENTERTAIN FACULTY
 On Saturday evening, April 29 the senior class entertained the faculty of the college with a delightful variety party in the college gymnasium which was immediately transformed into a garden. The white fencing and green boughs laden with flowers, added a realistic touch to the scene. The members of the faculty, informal and friendly, enjoyed themselves in a variety of games. The occasion was lightened by the faculty member's report of President Seabrook as being a "firt" and Mrs. Lala Gomez's being on the verge of receiving a "proposal."

BLAINE CLARK HEARS "Y" FOR ANOTHER TERM
 Blaine Clark was elected president of the YWCA for the year 1946-47. The large majority of votes which she received indicates that her work as president during the past year has been highly approved by the group. The four remaining executive offices were filled as follows: Alma Young, vice-president; Rose Burwell, recording secretary; Berline Litton, corresponding secretary; and Frances Greenfield, treasurer. Pauline Adams will serve as chairman of the program committee, while Mary Alice Higgins will work with freshmen. Dorothy Boykins who has so effectively filled the place of Mrs. Marie Watson Jackson as chairman of the working committee will continue in that capacity for next year. Hilda Horrell will serve as chairman of committee on community affairs, with Rosamond Clark as chairman of world affairs committee. The cabinet is not yet complete. It is planned that the membership on the cabinet be increased from eleven to fourteen for next year.

EDITORIAL STAFF
 Editor in Chief — Gladys B. MacRae.
 Associate Editors — India M. Martin, Reda Hobbes.
 Social Editors — Sarah F. McKoy, Beatrice L. Martin, Grace E. Gordon.
 News Editors — A. Oleska Vician, Lolla C. Eggleston.
 Business Managers — Vician M. Stanley, Elaine Wilkins.
 Circulation Manager — Virginia Newton.
 Sports Editor — Odell Cazel.

DOCTOR JAMES WARD SEABROOK IS INSPIRATION
 President James Ward Seabrook, known far and wide as an educator, a builder and a friend, is remembered by his students as an inspiration as well. Those who know him, have come to the conclusion that he is found always on the side of democracy, and on the side of right as he sees it, regardless of the issue at hand. Always a busy man, he takes the time, nevertheless, to know each student, rather personally and to share fully whatever problems he may face. This it develops that the students who catch his spirit of helpfulness and of fair play somehow feel his presence in every endeavor which they undertake. His famous three C's — cleanliness, courtesy and Christianity — take new meaning when the college community sees them so well exemplified.

CAPTAIN PARKER VISITS FSTC
 Captain Lafayette Parker of Jacksonville, N. C., was one of the distinguished guests recently visiting the campus. Capt. Parker was graduated from Fayetteville State Teachers College in 1942. He was inducted into the army in July 1942. He was commissioned second lieutenant in 1943 and advanced rapidly to the rank of captain. Captain Parker served overseas twenty-four months with the 435th QM Bakery Company. While a student here at Fayetteville he was active in the Debating Team, Glee Club, Physical Science Club and the Future Teachers Club. He was also Superintendent of the Sunday School.

NOW

FAYETTEVILLE STATE UNIVERSITY STUDENT PRESS
The Voice
 FOR STUDENTS, BY STUDENTS
 January 26, 2011 • Vol. 2, Issue No. 6

FSU budget woes worsen

By Alicia Bayat
Editor and Chief

At Fayetteville State University jobs will be lost, and students will have to scramble to meet class requirements. "I have been here 30 years, this is absolutely unprecedented," said Dr. Young referring to the budget crisis and cuts that will be necessary next year. Budget concerns have been at the forefront of every topic throughout the country. It is the concern of every state, city and county as states scramble to cover budget short falls. Last year, Governor Bev Purdue called for an additional 15 percent in budget cuts throughout the state. FSU budget director, Carlton Spellman indicated that the expectation was to shoot for cutting 10 percent and only if it was necessary make those 15 percent cuts. That absolutely necessary time has come to make extensive budget cuts to meet these expectations with more changes to come. Primarily this will mean extensive changes in the operation, class availability and job positions for existing faculty. "Students should be aware that there will be fewer class sections next year," said Dr. Young. Provost and Vice Chancellor for Academic Affairs at FSU. "In fall 2007, we offered 1450 sections but because of reductions in 2008 and 2009 this year we offered only 1269 class sections." This means basically that in the past three years there was a 12.5 percent decrease in class availability. There have been 181 fewer classes. Dr. Young indicated that next year the estimate is that there will be 100 fewer classes.

see BUDGET, page 5

SHAPING STATE HISTORY

Marcela Casals (left), a junior Visual Arts major with a Concentration in Sculpture, along with FSU Professor Soni Martin, works to develop the casting process of a bronze hand for the 100 Bronze Hands, Wall of Oath, for the North Carolina Veterans Park. The theme is "From The Soil of North Carolina" and the hands will be dedicated on July 4 at the grand opening of the new park.

FSU Students help create first veterans park in state

FSU students are working to complete the many art fixtures for the new North Carolina Veterans State Park currently under construction. The park is scheduled to open July 4. It will be next to the Airborne and Special Operations Museum located off of Bragg Boulevard. It will feature many hand crafted symbolic pieces of art and authentic history reflecting all five branches of the United States Armed Forces and all 100 counties of the state. Soni Martin, a professor of Art at FSU, was chosen to coordinate the project, and has hand selected a diverse group of individuals to assist her with the project. Among the group picked, were FSU art students Marcela Casals, Aaron Wallace and FSU alumna, Amanda Stephens, who is now a graduate student at Western Carolina. The park's theme is "A Veteran's Journey. Life considerable involvement in the project. FSU students are working to complete the many art fixtures for the new North Carolina Veterans State Park currently under construction. The park is scheduled to open July 4. It will be next to the Airborne and Special Operations Museum located off of Bragg Boulevard. It will feature many hand crafted symbolic pieces of art and authentic history reflecting all five branches of the United States Armed Forces and all 100 counties of the state.

see CASTING, page 5

Freefalling
 page 8

8-Ball!
Broncos
 page 11

INDEX

News pages 1-6
 Opinion page 7
 Features pages 8-9
 Sports page 11

1956

THE VOICE
 SPECIAL PUBLICITY ISSUE
 This Is Fayetteville State Teachers College
 A Community Resource Fayetteville's Place Here in National Schools - Bruce Mack

1965

The Voice
 PEACE ON EARTH GOOD WILL TO ALL MEN
 FAREWELL OF DECEMBER

1968

THE VOICE
 PROSPECTIVE EMPLOYERS FREQUENT FAYETTEVILLE STATE
 Two F.S.C. '68 Grads Already Employed
 Christmas In