

The Wayne Communique

Vol. 3—No. 1

Wayne Community College, Goldsboro, N. C.

September 6, 1971

SGA President Welcomes Students

The Student Government Association welcomes you to Wayne Community College. You will find the people in the Goldsboro area warm, friendly, and willing to help you.

Let me tell you a little about the Student Government Association (S.G.A.) On registration day, you will pay five dollars activity fee. This fee goes to the S.G.A. and is used to support dances, athletics, the school newspaper, the school annual, cookouts, and the Community Concert Series. Each student is allowed free admission to any of the above-listed activities. All that is necessary is an identification card. The Student Government Association truly hopes that each and every student will participate in all the events if at all possible.

I personally would like to welcome you to Wayne Community College. If there is anyway I can help you or anyway my office can help you, please let me know. The office of the Student Government Association is in the Student Union. I hope to get a chance to meet each of you in the coming weeks and welcome you personally.

JERRY LEE KORNEGAY

Record Enrollment Predicted

Enrollment in curriculum programs at Wayne Community College continues to climb and once again a new record high will be reached. Last fall enrollment jumped 209 over the previous year and 1,306 students were enrolled. Applications on file for Fall Quarter, 1971 are even higher than those for last fall and

YEARBOOK?

The SGA will be considering the Insight this fall. Due to lack of sales in the past years, there is chance WCC will not have an annual. If you want an annual tell your SGA officers and representatives. You will decide.

more returning students will be back than ever before.

Base on previous averages, 97 per cent of W. C. C. students are from North Carolina with 61 per cent being from Wayne County. The student body is comprised of approximately 67 per cent males and 33 per cent females. 49 per cent of the students are enrolled in technical programs with 32 per cent in College Transfer and 19 per cent in vocational programs. WCC is one of the few community colleges to have gone through the three stages of industrial, technical institutions and then community college.

Quickies

PHI THETA KAPPA MEMBERS

Members of Phi Theta Kappa will be working as work-study students in the math and English labs this fall in the afternoons. Their services will be available to anyone needing assistance in these fields.

FRATERNITIES BACK

Brothers of both Sigma Tau Sigma and Delta Chi Omega will be at a booth in or around K Building during Registration days to talk with any males interested in joining a fraternity. All interested males are urged to go by and talk with the brothers of these active fraternities.

EMBERS PLAY

A "Back-to-school" dance will be sponsored by the SGA on Thursday, September 9. Music will be provided by the Embers beginning at 8:00 P.M. at the Wayne Center Goldsboro. Dress will be casual. All WCC students and their guests are invited to attend.

ELECTIONS

Elections of SGA Representatives are just around the corner. Are YOU going to run? Who will be YOUR representative? For information see any of your SGA officers or the Dean of Students office.

BACK IN?

Did you know it is illegal to back into a parking place on WCC's campus? Be sure to read your rules pertaining to parking.

Mike Hanville, Chairman of Sadie Hawkins Park project; Carl Cox, business manager; Nina Powell, instructor of the sociology class developing project; and Clyde A. Erwin, President, discuss recent paving of walkways.

Patios Are Completed

Two new patios on the west side of the Student Union and walkways between the Union and "F" building are ready for student use. Under the leadership of Mike Hanville and Mrs. Nina Powell, Sociology classes 201 has struggled with plans for campus improvement through active participation and cooperation with students, student government, faculty, administration and the community throughout the past academic year.

Wayne Community College students have shown that they can be active and responsible in achieving goals which meet their needs by becoming involved in campus affairs.

The project, currently called "Sadie Hawkins Park" - and in need of a new name, began as a study of social movements in Sociology 201 last spring. The class, as a group organized under the leadership of Mike Hanville, Larry Usry and James Holmes worked with other groups on campus to establish a comprehensive landscaping plan for one small area on campus.

The area is bounded on the North and South by driveways and parking lots, on the East by the Student Union and on the West by "F" building.

The students envisioned a network of walkways in the area as the first step in their plan. The walkways lead to strategic points of student interest: classrooms; the union; bookstore and parking lots. The walks were completed during the first summer session.

The second stage of park development involved designing and pouring patios adacent to the Student Union large enough for outside dances and other forms of recreation. The summer Sociology 201 class was instrumental in achieving this goal. The class project was coordinated by Randall Bryant. He was assisted by Pamela Johnson, Brantly Watkins and Theresa Askew. Other students involved were: Ava Best, Yvonne Best, Marion Boots, Susan Daniel, Larry McIntyre, Robert Maples, Ghauti Mehidi, Mary Patrick, Richard Sauls, Fred Staten, Sarah Weatherford, Steven Langston, Queen Wiggins, Paula Perkins, Patricia Cinquino, Harry L. Smith, Charles Wright, Fran Etherington, Deborah Tillman, William Montgomery, Martha Dabbs, Judith Fulghum, Kathryn Kornegay, and Curtis Shubert.

Mike Hanville, student chairman of the building and grounds committee for the Student Government Association, says that he hopes the coming academic year will see the comprehensive landscaping project completed, but massive cooperation of the student body will be needed. Anticipated phases of development include designing and installing irrigation and lighting systems; designing and constructing tables and benches throughout the area; submitting designs for a bandstand and supervising its construction; and finally gathering large quantities of dogwoods and other native plants to be planted during the proper season.

When the project is completed the students will have a park area which will serve their social, aesthetic, and recreational needs from dances to outdoor dinners.

Jerry Kornegay, President; Jim Baker, vice-president; and Debbie Evans, treasurer, will serve as SGA officers for this 1971-72 school year. A new secretary will be elected to replace Sandy Mitchell who married in August and will not return.

Mrs. Scottie Cox is appointed director of the Learning Resource Center.
