

Fall semester brings abundance of new employees

By CHRISTA M. FRYAR
and JENNIFER BENFIELD

Michael Dubrowsky, a new math instructor, graduated from Barton College with a BA degree and from East Carolina University with a MA.

Dubrowsky serves on the Distance Learning Committee, advises students, instructs math classes, and helps with appropriate study guides for developmental math. He says that WCC is a great college to work for, a very friendly and personal place.

He was previously employed at Lenoir Community College. His family includes his wife, Christine Dubrowsky, and a toy poodle named Belle.

He enjoys golf, running, and snow skiing, and he has a special talent for tennis.

Katina M. Phillips

Katina Phillips, math instructor at WCC, graduated from East Carolina University in 1995 with a BS in math education.

In 1998 she received an MAEd in math education. She taught at West Craven High School in Vanceboro 1995-99 and at Eastern Wayne High School 1999-2000.

Phillips says she is single "but looking."

Her hobbies include going to church, singing in the choir, teaching Sunday School, and teaching part-time at SJAFB for Mount Olive College

She also has a talent for clogging. She clogged for 13 years with The Buck Swamp Kicking Cloggers, receiving Clogger of the Year several years in a row from her peers.

Barbara Markow

Barbara Markow, psychology instructor at WCC, graduated from Fairleigh Dickinson University in Madison, N. J., with an MA in clinical psychology.

She went from there to work at Cherry Hospital in Wayne County as a staff psychologist.
