

Layne Janning gets a head Bunch start on her education

By DANIELLE JAFFE
Staff Writer

Layne Janning attends Wayne Community College as a Jump Start student from Spring Creek High School. The program allows her to begin accumulating college credits while still attending high school.

Layne is an A and B student and wants to get into Interior Design. She hopes to one day attend Harrington College of Design in Chicago.

Layne is single and loves meeting new people.

"I have eight boyfriends," she chuckled, adding, "just kidding."

She is like many teenage girls. She enjoys shopping, playing golf, hanging out with friends and going to the beach.

You can often find Layne in her Outback server uniform. She has short dark brown hair, a cute smile, and lots of spunk.

"I have my own unique style," she said.

On her day off, you may well find Layne Janning in some cute ensemble, such as leopard high heels with jeans, girly top and purse to match. Layne loves clothes, especially shoes.

"Once you pick out the shoes, it's all down hill from there," she said.

Layne Janning

Continued from 1

the training or the dedication for the work that he believes they should have.

Music is about more than just numbers and writing words down that sound good, he said. One must have a genuine love of music to understand the level reached by outstanding performers who work all their lives. Some of these people, he says, give all they have and barely make a living from it ... but they persevere.

Mr. Bunch has loved music for as long as he can remember.

At the age of 10, he discovered just how important music really was after being asked to play for his church. There, he deepened his love for gospel and other types of music.

Years later, after having to choose between pursuing a career in either music or baseball, he earned a degree in Music Theory and Composition at East Carolina University.

Today he lives in Beverly Hills, where he has continued to enjoy a very successful career, thanks to people like top television music composer Mike Post and the people who encouraged and taught him while in Wayne County.

That love for home is why Mr. Bunch came back.

And home still loves him, demonstrated in part by the Foundation establishing a scholarship in his honor that will help other music enthusiasts work toward their dream of reaching the stars.

Kornegay Printing Company, Inc.

Email: kpco@bellsouth.net

2309 Norwood Ave. (919) 734-9262
Goldsboro, NC 27534 Fax (919) 734-9264

discover the chef in you™

Traycee Williams 919-273-1555
Independent Consultant 10% off with this ad!

The kitchen store that comes to your door!

Congratulations
WCC
Class of 2008!

PRISM
Signs and Graphics
919.440.1147

Vehicle Lettering and Graphics
Banners
Decals

Now featuring custom apparel

ACCU COPY
305 N. Spence Ave.
Goldsboro, NC 27534

Office (919) 751-2400
Fax (919) 751-2448
goldsboro@accucopy.com

Copying, Printing, Bindery
& Mailing Solutions

A-1 PAWN & JEWELRY

BUY, SELL & TRADE
(919) 731-3165

1302 N. WILLIAM ST.
GOLDSBORO, N.C. 27530

JOHNNIE BRYANT
SUSAN BRYANT

