

New Faces At WCC

Mr. John Berry, instructor of chemistry, is from Morganfield, Kentucky. He has both his B.S. and M.A. from Murray University, Murray, Kentucky. His wife, Ann, is a graduate of East Carolina University. She teaches at C. C. Wright Elementary School. They have one child, Melissa, age five.

Dr. John Wayland is the Director of General Studies. He attended school at William Jewell College in Missouri, Southern Seminary in Kentucky, and Yale University. He was formerly a Professor of Christian Education at Southeastern Baptist Theological Seminary at Wake Forest, N. C. Dr. Wayland is a former resident of Wilkes County. He was pastor at the First Baptist Church of North Wilkesboro from 1947 to 1953. He and his wife, Eunice, have three children: Bruce, Terry, and Jean.

Mr. William Davis is the Director of Life Sciences. He attended school at Appalachian State University where he obtained his Bachelors and Masters degrees. He did graduate work at UNC and N. C. State. He was previously employed as an educational consultant for the N. C. Department of Community Colleges. His wife is Linda Ann Davis, and they have three children: Eva Jane, Bryan, and Sandra.

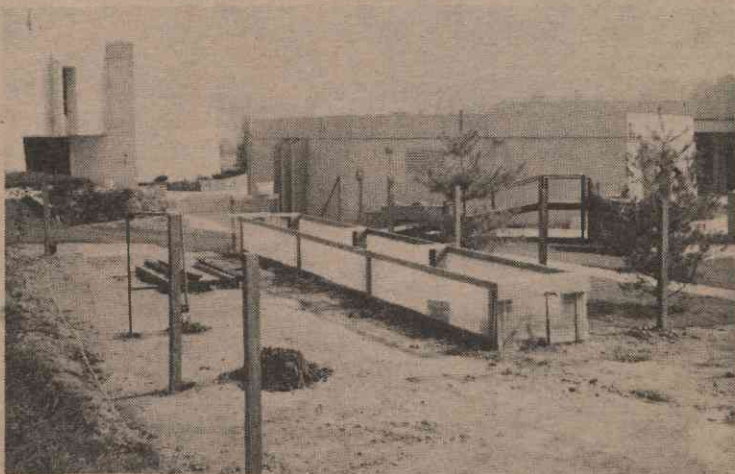

Mr. James Daniel is a landscape-construction instructor. He attended the University of Tennessee. His wife's name is Ernestine, and they have one daughter, Katherine, who is a student at Chapel Hill.

Mr. Gordon Wingard is a humanities instructor. He was born at Boise, Idaho and grew up in Tacoma, Washington. He received his MA and Ph. D. in philosophy at Syracuse University in New York. He formerly taught at the University of Montana and at Appalachian State University. Mr. Wingard retired at the age of 26 and is back working part time here at WCC. He and his wife, Anne, live in Ashe County where he is the caretaker of Elk Shoals Methodist Camp.

Mrs. Wingard teaches Early Childhood Development. She received her BS Degree at Syracuse University and is currently doing graduate work at Appalachian. Mr. and Mrs. Wingard have one child.

GREENHOUSE UNDER CONSTRUCTION

Landscape Technology

Trotting along to class, many of you probably have noticed that the former weed patches have been cleared and cultivated, that the wooded area has been cleared back, and that construction is going on behind Lovette Hall. These projects are the responsibility of Mr. Jim Daniels, and are connected with a new curriculum at Wilkes Community College.

The new curriculum, Landscape Technology, provides the student with a two-year degree in a wide-open area. The program includes courses in Floriculture, Green House Management, and Landscape Design. Graduates of this curriculum can easily find positions as landscape contractors, either in business of their own, with a construction firm or at a golf course. Mr. Daniels said that these technicians are very much

Enrollment To Exceed 1500

Total enrollment at Wilkes Community College for the Fall Quarter now stands at a record number of 1,132 curriculum students. Enrollment is expected to increase to some 3,500 students. This number will only represent those enrolled in curriculum studies on the campus in Westwood Hills, Wilkesboro, and will not include extension students taking courses at other points or adult education classes.

The full time equivalency enrollment now stands at 1,192, but is expected to exceed 1,600. This increase is the complete enrollment: curriculum students, adult education programs — community schools in various locations and continuing education classes, extension programs, and all other opportunities provided by the college to the public. The full time equivalency is determined by the number of hours taken by students enrolled.

With registration completed, the Fall Quarter classes are now in process. The college offers on its campus two years of regular college work, two years in technical subjects, and one-year vocational courses.

SGA Convention

During this past spring, several members of the Student Government Association took part in a statewide SGA convention. At the convention Elaine Broach, one of this year's Sophomore Senators, was elected secretary of the North Carolina Comprehensive Community College Student Government Association. Our congratulations to Elaine.

in demand.

Mr. Daniels has made plans for improving the appearance of the campus. He is currently working on the beds which have been neglected for so long. Included in his long range plans are a green house, a Japanese Garden, and a three-hole golf course.

