

ZATASIAN-WEBSTERIAN
RECEPTION.

On Friday evening, Oct. 23rd, all was excitement among the Websterians. It was the Zatasian reception, so every Web. was on hand early and when the bell tapped we were on our way to the Zatasian Hall. At the door we were met by the marshal and two assistants who gave to each boy a program on which was his name and that of his partner. The programs were neatly arranged in the shape of the Websterian pin with their colors and symbols emblazoned on it. The hall was beautifully decorated. Festoons of silver and blue swung from each corner of the hall to the center, ferns were tastefully arranged around the room, Websterian and Zatasian pennants hung on the walls, while autumn leaves were scattered about in profusion.

The first number on the program was an instrumental duet, "Military March—Shubert," which was excellently rendered by Misses Dix and Payne.

Miss Copeland then entertained us with a paper on the life of John Charles McNeil, in which she gave us a vivid picture of this poetic youth in his early surroundings; there, with the beautiful around him, he developed his love for Nature, which later gave him the power to describe it so beautifully.

The next number was a solo, "O That We Two Were Maying"—Nevin, by Miss Tuthill.

Miss Taylor's newspaper, in which all the affairs of the college received especial attention was greeted by shouts of laughter.

Miss Elizabeth Holten then convinced us by her charming recitation that things went right "t'ause she was 'dood."

The next number on the program which had been especially arranged for our entertainment was a debate, "Resolved, That the Faculty of this College should encourage love matches." Miss Geslain upheld the affirmative, while the negative was defended by Miss Edwards. Much good argument was advanced on both sides, but the sympathy of the audience was clearly with the affirmative, so the decision naturally fell that way.

Miss Outland then continued the program by her splendid recitation "In the Usual Way."

Misses Dix, Speas and Pike sang "Lore's Ritornela," ending the program for the evening.

Miss Culler, as president, made a short speech welcoming us to

LETTERS TO GUILFORDIAN.

Courtesy in The Library.

A friend of mine and I happened to visit Guilford College last week and we were very much interested to find out something of the life and customs of the students there. They are very proud of their college and they seemed especially anxious to make good impressions on us.

One morning one of the students invited us up to their well appointed library so, having nothing better to do we decided to go over and look at the papers. Well! we went in but we saw at once that all the papers were taken by a crowd of home boys. Thinking that instead of remaining perched up on those forbidding knees they would be put back on the rack in a few minutes, we waited. However, the papers stayed where they were as long as we stayed where we were. They may be there yet we don't know. There is a lesson in that for us fellows! It makes no difference how nice our Library is, or how well we play tennis, nobody is going to carry away a good impression of our college unless we act courteously towards them.

This is just a little article that it seems to me Conrod or Hale would be justified in writing to the Lenoir monthly, that's all!!

ALUMNI NOTES.

Mr. Henry A. White, '94, who is secretary and treasurer of the High Point Buggy Co., reports a splendid trip to Boston, New York, Philadelphia and Gettysburg. At the famous battle-ground Mr. White visited the Lutheran Seminary whose buildings during the war were used for military purposes, General Lee converting one building into a hospital.

Mr. E. E. Farlow, '96, is entering upon his seventh year as principal of Springfield Graded School in Randolph county, a fact which speaks for the thoroughness and acceptability of the teacher.

Mr. J. Wilson Carroll, '00, who has been for several years principal of Summerfield High School, is now located at Walkertown, N. C., where he holds a similar position.

Rev. Wiley R. Pritchett, '07, who is engaged in ministerial work in Ridgeway, S. C., made a pleasant visit to Guilford this fall.

Miss Pearl Gordon, '10, was married during the summer to Mr. Charles Shamburger. Mr. and Mrs. Shamburger are now located at Mechanic, N. C.

Miss Lillie Bulla, '11, who has since graduation been a member of the faculty of Burlington High School, is this year teaching in Andrews High School.

Mr. Herbert S. Sawyer, '12, who has been studying law at the University of Florida, was called home a few weeks ago by the ill health of his father.

Miss Anna Davis, '13, who was at Bryn Mawr last year, is now teaching in Gatesville High School.

SCIENCE CLUB.

The Science Club has elected the following officers for the year 1914-1915:

President—Prof. A. W. Hobbs.
Vice-President—C. W. Stewart.
Secretary—Mary Doan.
Treasurer—A. L. Riddick.
Ausseher—Prof. J. S. Downing.

Last year the club studied some of the fundamental principles of heredity under the capable direction of Dr. Binford. This year it has been decided to take as a general topic the study of electrolytic dissociation, or ionization, both in liquids and in gases.

Last Wednesday night Prof. Downing spoke on some of the fundamental conceptions that would be necessary to keep on one's mind in order to understand the work of the year.

Mr. and Mrs. Bird, of Thomasville, visited their daughter, Georgianna, last Wednesday.

The Domestic Science girls sold all kinds of good "eats" at the tennis game Thursday.

Messrs. N. C. English, J. Elwood Cox, W. T. Parker and Henry White attended a meeting of the Board of Trustees here Thursday.
