

THE GUILFORDIAN

VOLUME I.

GUILFORD COLLEGE, N. C., MARCH 3, 1915.

NUMBER 17

BASEBALL SCHEDULE

Manager J. R. Brown has submitted the following schedule for the coming baseball season. After unusual difficulty in arranging contracts with some of the colleges heretofore played, he has at last arranged a schedule that is highly satisfactory from the standpoint of games, and also one that will not bring too many games too close together. Two trips are arranged out of the State, the first in South Carolina, and the second in Virginia. On these trips we meet Emory and Henry, and Wofford Colleges for the first times, and we again meet the strong U. S. C. and Virginia college teams. The usual Easter Monday game with the University of North Carolina at Greensboro will not be played this year on account of failure to come to terms, but play instead the strong Elon team. With the opening of the season a strong team is expected to be produced, from the men now hard at work. The schedule is as follows:

March 19—Bingham (Mebane) at Guilford.
March 24—Elon at Guilford.
March 31—Belmont at Belmont.
April 1—Wofford at Spartanburg.
April 2—Univ. S. C. at Columbia.
April 3—Univ. S. C. at Columbia.
April 5—Elon (Easter Monday) at Greensboro.
April 7—N. C. A. & M. at Raleigh.
April 13—Greensboro League at Greensboro.
April 17—N. C. A. & M. at Greensboro.
April 20—Winston League at Winston.
April 21—Roanoke at Salem.
April 22—V. P. I. at Blacksburg.
April 23—V. P. I. at Blacksburg.
April 24—Emory and Henry at Emory.
April 27—Univ. S. C. at Guilford.
April 28—Wofford at Guilford.
April 30—Univ. N. C. at Chapel Hill.
May 1—Wake Forest at Wake Forest.

N. Rush Hodgin, of Greensboro, spent Sunday afternoon at the college.

Y. W. C. A.

Y. W. C. A. was conducted Thursday evening by Gladys Highfill. Her subject was "Choosing." The subject is not a new one, but the leader treated it in a very impressive manner. The lesson was taken from Luke 10:38-42, Mark 10:17-23.

She told of Mary's faithfulness to Jesus and of her eagerness to learn all she could from her Master. Then the young man who was anxious to know what to do to be saved, and when Christ told him, he turned away, choosing rather to retain his wealth and risk the consequences. We often criticize him for this, but are we not often much more guilty of choosing the lesser of two goods than this young man was? He did not mean to be placing his possessions above the Master, for he recognized his divinity and superiority and ran to him.

She applied the lesson to the students here. We have so many opportunities; some much greater than others of course and it means very much to us in after life to make the right choice.

GIRLS' ATHLETICS.

A great deal of interest continues among the girls in playing basket ball. They have been occupying the gymnasium every time it is permitted them to have it. With Evelyn Briggs as captain they have developed a very efficient team. And it has been decided to give a public game next Friday evening, March 5.

At a recent business meeting of the Association it was decided to give twenty-five dollars on the Y. W. C. A. organ.

SOCIAL.

Although a great number of the student body was away from the college Saturday night, some with the ball team, others attending the banquet in Greensboro, there remained quite a number who gathered together at Founders at 7:30 for a social evening. Rook was the leading game and we were especially favored with songs from the boys' quartet. Miss Rhoades had charge in Miss Osborne's absence and in her usual pleasant manner made it possible for all to have a good time.

Mr. Leroy Miller, of Linwood, N. C., attended the banquet in Greensboro Saturday night and visited at the college.

Y. M. C. A.

Thursday night's Y. M. C. A. meeting was given over to a general discussion of the theme, Personal Religion or What Christianity Means to Me.

After the opening song, Harrell Budd, chairman of the Religious Meetings Committee, arose and announced that on account of the unavoidable absence of the scheduled leader for the evening, that he had decided to give up the meeting to a discussion of "What Christianity Means to Me." He then proceeded to open the discussion by saying that to be a Christian, to him, meant living right with one's fellow man. He said a Christian was one who was right with God and his fellow man.

Mr. Budd was followed by several others who spoke briefly but forcefully. Much interest was manifested and each man went away feeling better. All in all it was one of the most helpful meetings of the year.

ZATASIAN NOTES.

There seems to be a prevalent idea that society spirit naturally and inevitably lags as its work goes on, and that the work itself becomes a task rather than a privilege. However, the Zatasians are glad that this is not necessarily true.

Our program for Friday evening, Feb. 26, was an exceptionally interesting one. We realize the difficulty of preventing monotony and for this reason the evening was devoted mainly to a musical romance. Twenty suggestive questions were asked, the answers to which were the names of popular songs and instrumental music. Small prizes were offered to the two members whose answers were most nearly correct. Misses Speas and Taylor were the successful ones. After this our prophetess gave us her warning.

Both these numbers of the program were well carried out and showed some degree of originality and much interest. Although we are far from satisfied with our present attainments we are encouraged and see no reason why much good work cannot be done, and this we are expecting.

Richard J. M. Hobbs ('09), of Charlotte, attended the Guilford banquet in Greensboro and spent Sunday at the College.

NEWLIN COMING

The Guilfordian has seen fit to withhold an announcement of the election of President Thos. Newlin, of Whittier College, California, to the presidency of Guilford College until the matter had been entirely settled.

We can now definitely state, rumors to the contrary notwithstanding, that President Newlin has been elected and has accepted the position as president of this institution, and that the protest made by certain members of the faculty against his election, has been waived by them in view of new developments in the case and what they considered the best interests of the College.

HENRY CLAY NOTES.

In our meeting of February 19 the debate seemed to take on a new aspect, being characterized by spirit unparalleled in several weeks. The question resolved that the pardoning power should be removed from the governor of North Carolina was the one under discussion and suffice it to say the representatives of both sides gave orderly, logical and clear-cut arguments that held the house in wonder as to who would win. The affirmative was upheld by Lambeth, Lloyd and Holton, while H. Moore, Geiser and Budd denied the proposition in support of the negative. The negative won.

In this debate four men deserve special mention for the speeches they gave. These, H. Moore, Geiser, Lloyd and Holton, by the excellent work they did, show that they are making rapid strides of improvement, and a continuation of such work will in a few weeks develop into an improvement contest worth while. A word of encouragement is due these men and every effort possible should be made by all old members to aid them in their first year's society work.

The nominating committee made a report and the following officers were elected: Brinkley, president; Thayer, secretary; Holton, marshal, Critic Carroll made a brief and favorable report and the society adjourned.

Supt. O. V. Woosley, of the Lexington city schools, attended the Guilford banquet in Greensboro Saturday night, and spent Sunday here with his brother, Prof. J. B. Woosley.
