

ALUMNI NOTES.

Miss Emma G. King, '01, who has for several years been a member of the faculty of the Normal College in Greensboro, has this year been given the oversight of the girls, which capacity she is filling, we understand, very satisfactorily.

Mr. W. Ernest Younts, '08, is again principal of Bessemer High School, a position which he has very creditably held for three years. His address is Greensboro, N. C., Route No. 2.

Mr. J. Gurney Briggs, '11, is not only engaged in conducting a real estate business in High Point but also finds time for some work along musical lines. We understand that Mr. Briggs has recently been elected organist for the Wesley Memorial church, which is one of the leading High Point houses of worship.

Miss Flora White, '11, who did some special work in chemistry here last fall, is now an assistant in the chemistry department of the Normal College. It is of interest to note that Miss White is working under a Guilfordian, Miss Mary Petty, who has charge of the chemistry at the Normal. Miss Petty is also, as most Guilfordians know, a member of the advisory board of Guilford College.

It is with sorrow that we note the death of Mr. W. R. Moore, who succumbed at his home at Guilford last Tuesday, March 9th, after a second stroke of paralysis. Mr. Moore is survived by his wife, one daughter, Mrs. F. E. Morton, of Durham, and two sons, Messrs L. W. Moore, of the Moore Real Estate Co., of Wilmington, N. C., and Mr. A. K. Moore, '11, who is associated with the Guilford Insurance and Realty Co. of Greensboro. The Guilfordian extends its sincere sympathy to the bereaved.

Miss Mamie Lamb, '12, is in the midst of her second year as a member of the teaching force of Ashboro Graded Schools. Her work is reported to be very satisfactory.

OLD STUDENTS' NOTES.

Mr. John Fox, of Randleman, who was a student here in 1900 and who while here was a valuable asset to Guilford's baseball team, has been engaged to aid Mr. Hobbs in developing the Guilford prospectives this spring. Mr. Fox has had quite a bit of experience in college and league ball and is a valuable man in his present position. The effects of his work on the local youngsters is becoming apparent.

Mr. James Davis, a student here in 1908-10, is now a member of the Davis construction firm with headquarters in High Point. "Jim" is proving a valuable assistant to his father in the contracting business.

WEBSTERIAN NOTES.

The contest for the improvement medal in the Websterian Society is now on. Last Friday night there was only one old man on the debate while the remaining five men on the program were all new. All of them deserve mention for the good work they are doing. They were Ira Hinshaw, D. S. Coltrane, Ralph Yow, Jos. Reddick and W. A. Julian.

The question under discussion was: Should the present ship purchase bill be passed? That it was well debated will be shown by the fact that the affirmative succeeded in gaining the decision, even though it did not pass both houses of the legislature at the recent session because of the filibuster in the Senate.

Society has been somewhat interrupted a few Friday nights past because of basket ball games, etc., but last Friday night almost every member was in his accustomed place enjoying the speeches which the presence of so many had encouraged the speakers to make.

Mr. Short, as critic, commented on the progress being made by the society and commended the individual speakers for the improvement they were showing.

PHILOMATHEAN NOTES.

The interest in Society work is not waning among Philomatheans as was shown on the evening of the 26th when each member responded to roll call with an original poem. These poems for the most part showed a great deal of thought and originality.

At the meeting last Friday evening the following interesting program was rendered:

Instrumental Solo. Bertha Fox
Reading. Phoebe Worth
Conundrums. Vera Clodfelter
Solo. Carolyn Yates
Sketch: O. Henry. Blanche Dixon

The Society is to be congratulated on having secured the following girls to take part in the annual oratorical contest to be given the latter part of May: Ruth Coltrane, Callie Lewis, Maleta Macon, Floy Lassiter, Totten Moton and Ellen Raiford.

Five girls have entered the improvement contest and we expect soon to have some very interesting debates as all of the girls have shown already that they are interested and can debate well.

BIBLICAL SEMINAR.

At the last meeting of the Biblical Seminar, Fowel Mendenhall made an interesting report on the social problems in the rural community. The Seminar has devoted the whole year to a study of the social problems confronting the people today and this was found to be one of the most interesting.

Because of the new method of study we are now pursuing there was no discussion at this meeting but all took notes and numerous references are to be read before the next meeting at which time the Seminar will thoroughly discuss this problem.

The attendance at the meeting was good and at the very interesting meetings planned for the future a still larger number should be present.

PROF. PARKER VISITS GUILFORD.

Prof. R. N. Parker, head of the Biblical Department of Trinity College, spent Sunday at the College and preached two unusually forceful sermons. In the morning he talked about the inevitableness of becoming a Christian. Christ alone has the words of life, "To whom then will you go?"

In the evening he took his text from Luke's account of Jesus' advice to those who would follow him—"No man having put his hand to the plow and looking backward is fit for the kingdom of God." Prof. Parker made an earnest plea for his hearers to give their lives unreservedly to the service of the Master, and then to go on with never-failing confidence that He will direct them aright. His sermons were a real religious treat, and were greatly enjoyed by every one.

Mr. George W. Bradshaw ('08), who is now doing graduate work in the University of North Carolina, spent Saturday and Sunday at the college with friends.
