

ALUMNI NOTES.

In reply to the ballots and statements sent out by the treasurer of the Alumni Association, the several classes have responded as follows:

Class of 1889	0
Class of 1890	1
Class of 1891	2
Class of 1892	0
Class of 1893	1
Class of 1894	2
Class of 1895	4
Class of 1896	0
Class of 1897	2
Class of 1898	4
Class of 1899	0
Class of 1900	1
Class of 1901	1
Class of 1902	1
Class of 1903	5
Class of 1904	3
Class of 1905	4
Class of 1906	2
Class of 1907	6
Class of 1908	3
Class of 1909	7
Class of 1910	4
Class of 1911	1
Class of 1912	2
Class of 1913	6
Class of 1914	11

As can be seen the response so far has hardly been as hearty as usual. The total number of fees paid this year is seventy-three of which eleven are from last year's class. Last year one hundred and six members of the Association responded, so that it is obvious that we are falling behind our former record. It is therefore hoped that those who have not paid their fees will do so at an early date.

The programs for Alumni Day, which is scheduled for May 31st, have recently been sent to the Alumni and it is hoped that quite a large number will be present to take part in the exercises. All the Alumni should be interested in the play "portraying the elements and influences operative in the growth of Guilford College," which is to be presented at 3 o'clock in the afternoon of Alumni day by the Senior class.

PHILOMATHEAN CONTEST.

On Saturday evening, May 15th, at 8 o'clock the Philomathean Literary Society held its seventh annual oratorical contest in Memorial Hall. The following program was rendered to an appreciative audience:

Piano Solo—Bertha Fox.

Neighbors—Maleta Macon.

The Essentials of Progress—Callie Lewis.

Mt. Mitchell, and the Man for Whom it Was Named—Ruth Coltrane.

Solo—Beloved it is Morn—Aylworth, by Mrs. Gurney Briggs.

The Decline of Self Ownership—Totten Moton.

Backward or Forward?—Ellen Raiford.

Duet—Oh, Lovely Night—from Tales of Hoffman, by Mr. and Mrs. Gurney Briggs.

The judges for the evening were Miss Gertrude Mendenhall, of Greensboro, Mr. William A. Blair and Mrs. Howard E. Rondthaler, of Winston-Salem. Mr. Blair, after a delightful speech, presented the prize, which consisted of the complete poetical works of eight of the standard American and English poets, to Miss Ruth Coltrane, who delivered a very interesting oration on Mt. Mitchell, and the man for whom it was named.

All of the young ladies deserve a great deal of praise for the creditable manner in which they delivered their oration and we can truthfully say that these are girls of whom the Philomathean Society is and should be proud.

It is very difficult to try to tell how much the music added to the program. The piano solo by Miss Fox was very well rendered indeed and all Guilfordians know how Mr. and Mrs. Briggs always delight their hearers by their singing and on this occasion they sustained their former reputation.

MUSIC NOTES.

gance, the warmth and delicacy, the dignity and reverence of this exquisite composition.

The Hymn to Ceres is a very lively and picturesque poem, smooth and flowing in its language but it is not equal in beauty to the three Hymns already mentioned. The picturesqueness of the Hymn to Bacchus is remarkable and the language is beautiful.

Prof. Lawton, of Bryn Mawr, says an acquaintance with the Homeric Hymns is not only to be recommended to all students for the sake of the fine poetry they contain, but also because they present many of the mythological fables of the Greeks, and from them also one learns the character of Hymns have not received adequate attention. Surely they deserve something better than the neglect with which they are ordinarily treated in schools and at colleges.

Translations by Prof. Lawton are to be found in our library.

ZATASIAN NOTES.

We are glad that even so near the last the Zatasians are still clinging to their old spirit of work.

The improvement debating contest will close next meeting and we wish to offer a word of encouragement and approbation to those who have entered this contest.

dates have not only shown that the contestants are in earnest and have put time and thought on the work but the debates themselves have been of interest and worth to the Society.

Friday evening was the regular time for the installation of the officers who will serve the remainder of this year and the first part of the term next fall. They were as follows:

Vice-President—Eugenia Payne.
