

THE GUILFORDIAN

VOLUME IV.

GUILFORD COLLEGE, N. C., APRIL 10, 1918

NUMBER 24

Y. W. C. A. SUMMARY

The regular devotional service of the Y. W. C. A. gave place Thursday evening, April 4, to the installation of new officers. A beautiful and impressive initiation service marked the retiring of the six Senior members of the cabinet, and the induction into office and positions on the cabinet of the girls in whose hands the work of the next year is left.

The retiring cabinet was seated in a semi-circle near the front of the room and the service began with the repetition by the whole Association of the purpose of the Y. W. C. A. as given in the constitution. It was especially fitting that this purpose be reasserted at the beginning of the new year—that the new administration see the need of adopting as their own the aim "to unite the women of the institution in loyalty to Jesus Christ, to lead them to accept Him as their personal Savior, to build them up in the knowledge of Christ, especially thru Bible study and Christian service, that their character and conduct may be consonant with their belief."

Then each retiring officer gave a brief report of her year's work, and outlined the duties of her department, after which she announced her successor who took her place at the table. Miss Lewallen, chairman of the Bible study committee, was succeeded by Miss Vera McBane; Miss Moton, social chairman, by Miss Bird; Miss Raiford, of the devotional committee, by Miss Neece; Miss Coltrane, president-elect, resigned her position on the cabinet to Miss Frances Moore; Miss Brown, secretary and publicity chairman, to Miss Clodfelter and Miss Madge Coble; Miss Morris, treasurer, to Miss Hockett, and President Pike to Miss Coltrane.

Tho the cabinet is with the exception of its president, inexperienced, there is cause to believe that it will do earnest and effective work.

In a brief but comprehensive report, Miss Pike reviewed the work of the year just closed, while admitting that much of it was incomplete, and in some respects successful, she stated very concisely some things the departments had done. She mentioned the inspirational president's council held at Guilford in the spring of last year, and the help visiting secretaries and speakers had given her cabinet, which the preceding president had organized on a departmental basis.

Among the outstanding events of the year, Miss Pike mentioned the contribution to the Students' friendship war fund, the social service work for invalid soldiers in France, and the contributions from the annual play and bazaar to the Red Cross. She expressed her gratitude to the advisory committee for much sympathy and help, and to the members of her cabinet for their earnest co-operation. She closed with an expression of the sincere pleasure she had received from her work and to the new administration she extended her hearty good wishes for a happy and a successful year of Association work.

THREE VICTORIES, ONE TIE, ONE DEFEAT

CAPTAIN ZACHARY'S BALL TOSSERS SHOWING GOOD FORM AS THE SEASON PROGRESSES.

Guilford 14, Lenoir 0.

The second game of the season was played March 29th when the Quaker lads overwhelmingly defeated Lenoir here by the score 14 to 0. The game was merely a hit and run variety on Guilford's part, while their clean and fast fielding kept their opponents from scoring.

Kendall, who pitched his first college game, kept the 9 hits well scattered and showed no signs of weakening thruout. Fritz, who opposed him, was hit almost at will, and his teammates failed to support him.

There were no spectacular plays. Johnson for Guilford got three safeties out of five times at bat, while Reddick hit safely twice, one being for three bases.

Summary: Two-base hit, Fox; 3-base hit, Reddick; stolen bases, Newlin (2), Fritz H., Cline; strike outs, Kendall 6, Fritz 3; base on ball, off Kendall 0, off Fritz 3. Umpire, Stuart. Time, 2 hours.

U. N. C. 7, Guilford 6.

The University of North Carolina baseball team on March 20 defeated the team from Guilford College by a score of 7 to 6. Except for one bad inning for each team it was a close and interesting game. The bad frame was the fifth, when Carolina pushed across all the seven runs which they made during the game.

During this fatal inning ten men came to bat for Carolina, seven safeties being registered, three of them being for an extra base. Aside from this Zachary pitched a beautiful game of ball, allowing only three hits, all of them being singles, striking out seven, and issuing no passes. No two of the three hits came in the same inning.

Jack Powell pitched a good game

for Carolina. He, too, had one bad inning, in which Guilford shoved four men over, two errors mixed with three hits doing the work. At other times he was steady and kept Guilford's hits well scattered.

How the Runs Were Made.

In the last half of the third Ballinger opened for Guilford with a single to left and Fox was safe at first on an error by Cordon, Newlin was out, third to first and both runners advanced a base. Marlette drew a pass, crowding the bases and Zachary knocked one through second, scoring Ballinger. Johnson followed with a single to left and Fox and Marlette came home. Johnson going to second on the throw in, scoring when Gordon fumbled Reddick's grounder.

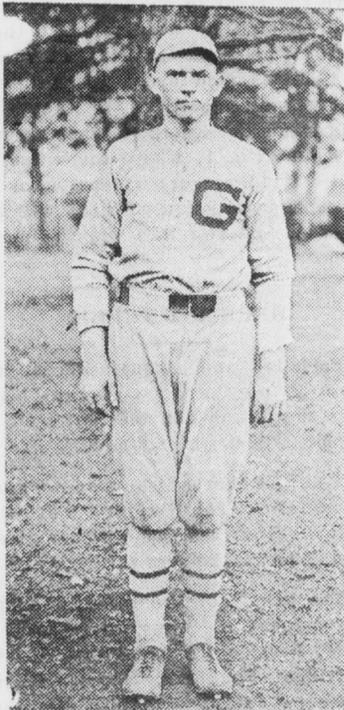

In the fourth Guilford pushed across another when Fitzgerald singled and came home on Ballinger's double to deep center. Again in the eighth Guilford made one. Johnson reached second on Pippin's error, went to third when Reddick was out, third to first, and tallied on "Dick" Boren's drive.

The fifth was Carolina's inning, a mixture of hits and errors giving seven runs and the victory.

The tabulated score:

LEADERSHIP THROUGH SERVICE

Forceful Message Delivered to Y. M. C. A. by Mrs. Hobbs.

The Thursday evening prayer meeting was in charge of Mrs. Hobbs. She is always gladly heard, and her words are not soon forgotten. She talked on the subject of "Leadership Thru Fellowship." Whatever Mrs. Hobbs may have to say is always said with absolute sincerity. Her messages are practical.

Whatever we are, leaders or followers, we must have the idea of fellowship. We must not feel as if there is a line of demarcation among people. The more we can do for people just as they are, and just where they are, the better it will be. Jesus, a man among men, considered no line of demarcation. He overstepped social customs as he found them, and helped not his disciples alone, but all. We should bear in mind that we do things that reach everybody. We cannot live apart from the rest of the world.

One requisite for leadership thru fellowship is a knowledge of the things about us. Jesus was well acquainted with the things about him. He was a fisher, a carpenter, a farmer. In fact he knew enough about all vocations to be able to converse intelligently with men wherever he found them. He used illustrations from every-day life to impress great truths upon his hearers. In other words he was so acquainted with the affairs of every day life that his life was interlinked with those about him. He realized and taught that there is something of infinite value in every one. He recognized men as human beings. The reason he was so gladly heard was that he was able to speak to people's conditions. There was an element of love in his denunciations and scathing words, whenever occasions called them forth. He knew the people and the conditions and was able to meet them. This is essential to leadership.

Jesus did not pose as a leader, but as a teacher. We ought always to be teachable. We must, at all times, be willing to learn from those about us. We never get to the point where we cannot be taught more. Let us not seem to be sufficient within ourselves. We must just get right down among the people with whom we are thrown; we must be willing to serve them; we must be willing to learn from them, and all this because they are just people and because we love them. Without this element of love for our fellowman, and unless we are willing to recognize human beings as such and see within them something of infinite value, we will not be able to help usher in the kingdom of God which is a kingdom of self-sacrifice and self-denial.
