

PHILOMATHEANS ENTERTAIN

NEW MEMBERS

Friday evening, October 4th, on entering their Society hall the Philomathean girls almost imagined themselves in an autumn forest so beautifully was it decorated with red, brown and yellow leaves intermingled with golden rods. However they soon recognized that it was their own Society hall and found seats. The Society was called to order and Addie Morris, '18, was appointed critic for the evening. On entering the door each girl had received a brightly colored maple leaf on which the following program was written:

- I. Discussion of the race confusion in Austria-Hungary—Miss Dixon.
- II. Discussion of the Czecho-Slav's nation and of the characteristics of these people—Miss Dovie Hayworth.
- III. Here and There—Miss Jessie Cox.

IV. The Old Woman and the Parson—Miss Lula Raiford.

After a splendid critic's report and a few remarks by Miss Lasley, '13, the Society adjourned to spend a social hour during which the following menu was served:

Jack Frost Sandwiches Acorn Bread
Brown Nut Tea

On October 11th Society was called to order and Madge Coble was appointed critic for the evening. As this was the time for installation of officers the following old officers, President Coltrane, Secretary Hayworth, Marshal Blair gave their places to the new officers: President, Miss V. Hayworth; secretary, Miss D. Hayworth; marshal, Miss Bulla.

On account of the quarantine Miss Hobbs, president, and Miss Coble, secretary, had to be replaced by the above named. The following program was then given:

- I. Expansion of Russia—Miss Stewart.
- II. Recitation—Miss Whitney.
- III. Economic Conquest of Russia—Miss Shamburger.
- IV. Instrumental solo—Miss Edgerton.

V. The World War and the Conflict Between Throne and Duma—Miss E. Raiford.

The II. and V. numbers deserve especial mention.

Miss Katherine Harmon was gladly received as a member of Society.

The new girls should be highly commended for their splendid rendition of the subjects. The third number was also well gotten up. After a report from the critic, Society adjourned.

GUILFORD HASH!

Mr. Guevchenian has been trying very hard this week to find any kind of an excuse to take him into town. Every afternoon he gets into his car and rides down to the gateway. It is feared that if the quarantine isn't lifted he will soon be looking greatly emaciated.

Sunday evening a very successful vesper service was held on the library steps.

The various faculty advisors have been using various means to get acquainted with their respective advisees—some by entertaining, and others by walking.

Miss Julia is still improving we are glad to note.

Rev. and Mrs. McFarland have been on the campus this week on ac-

Who's the angel who has been hovering around this week with a white halo around her head?

Ask Mr. Guevchenian who leads the serenades which so greatly charm the girls, or if he doesn't know ask "Uncle Mun" or Frank Mims. We must know.

Have you seen the new canes? Professors Anscombe, Carroll and Guevchenian went to the bush the other day and cut cedar canes. It is rumored that the portly gentleman with the sweet voice spent most of Sunday polishing his cane. Look out for it girls.

WEBSTERIANS DEBATE SOCIAL QUESTIONS

The Webs had a very interesting debate on Friday evening, October 11th, when the question, Resolved, that there should be a social on Saturday evening, October 12th, was extemporaneously debated by Taylor and Stafford. Taylor, who upheld the affirmative, introduced much humor into his argument. Stafford, who upheld the negative, produced his argument strongly.

The judges rendered a negative decision.

This being the regular meeting for the election of new officers, the following men were elected: President, D. J. White; vice-president, Barnard; secretary, J. D. Taylor; assistant secretary, F. N. Woody; marshal, O. Stafford.

The Webs were glad to have present several visiting new men. They all showed great interest and the prospects are good for a successful year in society work.

ZATASIAN NOTES.

 - II. Vocal Solo—Miss Hockett.
 - III. Reading—Miss Rayle.
 - IV. Current Events—Miss Smith.
- The selections by Miss Seal and Miss Smith were especially interesting and instructive.

Under miscellaneous business an executive committee consisting of Miss Martin, Miss Chilton and Miss Rayle was appointed.

After a good critic's report by Miss Lindley Society adjourned.
