The Guilfordian wishes to extend to the faculty and students of the University of North Carolina its heartfelt sympathy in the great loss they have sustained in the death of their president, Edward K. Graham. The intimate and cordial relations which have always existed between the University and Guilford College make their loss ours also.

THE SUPPORT OF THE SOCIAL COMMITTEE.

Not often in the history of the college has there been such an epoch of social life as is now on. The efforts of the social committee are commendable and should be upheld by every student here. At no other time could co-operation by the entire student body, be more in order. A tendency has been noticeable among some to be unappreciative of the efforts of the social committee. This tendency should certainly be corrected right now. The quarantine is depressing to many, in that they feel keenly the irksomeness of being held on the campus. But since it is a necessity, it should be met frankly and squarely and the best way to do this is to enter heartily into all the recreations possible within the limits of our campus. This is where the social life can play its important part. The efforts of the committee for the past few weeks have certainly helped to pass away the rather uneventful weekends and gratitude should be dominant in the heart of every student here, and not merely dominant, but active in expression.

The unusualness of the forms of the social activities is striking and makes all these events all the more interesting. The majority of the student body has entered heartily into the plans and given the necessary support as was shown by the variety of costumes at the last social. But it is quite necessary that the enthusiasm be kept up in order that the committee may be encouraged to continue its efforts. A recent remark coming to our ears that the student body did not appreciate the efforts has brought the subject to our mind and we believe that from now on the students will respond even more nobly than they have so far. Go to all the socials and go with the intention of enjoying the affair all you can. Beware of the listlessness of a dormant interest. Make a firm resolve to have a good time yourself and to give every other one with whom you come in contact, a good time. Only by so doing can we pass the time pleasantly, profitably and agreeably, until we can once again find occasional past-times outside of our own campus.

Think about this a little. Are we doing our part and duty? If so, let's not slack up in our efforts. If not, let's get into the game!

HEART, HAND AND HEAD.

As the continuance of the quarantine renders the holding of Sunday morning services with the neighborhood inadvisable, services were held last Sunday night in Memorial Hall with Prof. Anscombe in charge.

Taking as his text, "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart and with soul and with all thy mind, with all thy strength," Prof. Anscombe showed how that Christianity appealed to the whole man. There was a place in religion for emotion, for intellect and for service. He indicated the danger of a partial apprehension of religion and stated that one who loved the Lord with heart only was apt to be a fanatic, that one who made religion a matter of the intellect solely would be a philosopher, and that one who only interpreted religion in terms of service would be a philanthropist.

Prof. Guevchenian gave a very acceptable rendering of a selection from Haydn's "Creation."

THE BIBLICAL SEMINAR.

The meeting of the Biblical Seminar proved to be unusually interesting. Quite a number of girls were welcomed into membership. Prof. Anscombe continued his address of the previous meeting on the "Nature and Being of God." He said that at the previous meeting he had dealt with the subject from the "natural" point of view; he then proceeded to deal with it from the Christian point of view. He defined God as "the personal spirit, perfectly good, who in holy love creates, sustains and orders all."

He showed how that from this definition might be derived the nature and character of God, his relation to other existences, also his motive in creation.

A very profitable and animated discussion ensued. The subject for next week's discussion will be "The Relation of God to the Universe."

We are very glad to say that some of the day students have thrown aside their fears of the college influenza and are boarding with us.

PUBLIC GAMES ON #### FRIDAY NIGHTS

Coach Doak has divided the basket ball candidates in three squads. These squads will contend with each other on Friday nights after society meetings. Squad 2 will play Squad 3 and each will have a crack at Squad 1, which is mainly made up of varsity men. The three squads will be distinguished by red, white and gray jerseys. The following division has been made:

Squad No. 1—Stafford, Rice, Raiford, Anderson, Cox, Taylor.

Squad No. 2—Macon, Hester, Robinson, White, D. J., Stout, Pennington.

Squad No. 3—Casey, White, J. D., Kiser, Peele, Dye, Hodgkin.

Dr. and Mrs. Binford Informally Entertain the Y. M. and Y. W.

C. A. Cabinets.

At 8 o'clock on Sunday evening, the Y. M. and Y. W. C. A. cabinet members were warmly received by Dr. and Mrs. Binford at their home. After all were coupled off Mrs. Binford brought slips of paper containing letters of the alphabet, saying she wished to know who was the best Bible student in the room. The letters stood for Bible names. Leslie Barrett proved to be the best Bible student.

Delicious refreshments were served.

Dr. and Mrs. Binford gave the cabinets an unusually pleasant evening.
