NUMBER 1

RECEPTION GIVEN TO THE NEW STUDENTS

Annual Event a Feature of Much Success.

On Saturday evening, September 13, the annual reception given by the Y. M. and Y. W. C. A.'s was held. Faculty, students and several alumni and old students were present for the event, which proved to be one of enjoyment for all.

Even before the bell rang throngs of people, in gala attire, could be seen congregating around the various dormitories, ready at a minutes notice to make their way to the brilliantly lighted library. Anticipation ran high in the heart of every one. The old students had pleasant memories of former receptions, and the new ones felt from the very atmosphere of things that something great was going to happen.

Each old student had charge of a new one. At the doorway each new student was presented to President and Mrs. Binford and then piloted down the receiving line to be made acquainted with the other members of the faculty. When each couple reached the end of the receiving line they were, in turn, to form a part of it. So when every one had passed down the line they had spoken to every one else. This feature of the evening was very much enjoyed, although it was hard for some of the company to stand still while listening to the splendid orchestral music that was being rendered.

Pretty soon, however, a rumor was started that punch was being served on the porch. So the gay party began to pass that way. For a time the throng was content to march in a mass across the library, but presently there was a change. Some one decided it would be more pleasant to go by twos than for all to go together. Others followed the example, and it was not very long before the room was dotted with couples. A glance at the new students seemed to signify that they were well launched out into social life at Guilford.

Eleven o'clock—as is always the case on such occasions—came before anyone was expecting it or ready for it. Yet, time delays for no event. The library was soon empty and the mass of people that had recently occupied it wended their way homeward with happy remembrances of the event.

It is with deep regret that we announce that Miss Jennie Papworth has been obliged to resign. Owing to ill health our friend finds it necessary to take a year's rest. We extend our sincere wishes that good health will soon come again to Miss Papworth.

FACULTY HOLDS THEIR FIRST OFFICIAL MEETING

Opening Social Event—Dinner at Guilford.

On Saturday evening September sixteenth, the faculty of Guilford gathered in Founders Hall for their first meeting of the year. This meeting took the favor of a faculty dinner at which the returning instructors were made happy by meeting for the first time their new colleagues. There was Professor Beach, of the French department. The new scientist of the evening was introduced as Mr. Rudisell, of the chemical fame. Mr. Warne, professor of mathematics, was present. Professor Mills, who will take charge of the classes in economy, made his first appearance.

Under the leadership of President Binford the party quickly progressed to the banquet table. At the artistically decorated board there was a merry flow of wit and humor. Finally there was a lull. Dr. Hobbs then called upon various members of the faculty for three minute speeches. Bits of anecdote, personal reminiscences, and fascinating descriptions of summer adventures followed in rapid succession.

These short speeches culminated in a helpful address by President Binford concerning the principles essential for a successful year.

Inspired by the remarks of the president and encouraged by the comradeship of the social hour, the members of the teaching staff adjourned for their first official meeting of 1919-1920.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES.

Waldo Woody Leads—His Subject "Playing the Game."

The Y. M. C. A. was favored by having Waldo Woody to lead the first meeting of the year. He chose as his subject "Playing the Game." Just as in football the first thing to do is to come out for the team, so in our Christian life, the first thing we must do is to come out for Christ.

The next thing to do after the team has come out is to elect a captain and coach. The one we choose for a captain must be efficient and know how to play the game. Christ is both captain and coach for Christians. He knows the game and how to play it. We have in him a friend, who was tempted as we are and who knows us.

The third step in playing the game is training. In order to be a good athlete one must lay aside all bad habits such as smoking and dissipating. So it is in our Christian life, we must lay aside sin that hinders us from living the highest kind of Christian life.

In the words of the Apostle Paul "Let us lay aside every weight, and the sin, which doth so easily beset us, and let us run with pa-

THE Y. W. C. A. HOLDS FIRST MEETING

The Missionary Committee Leads First Prayer Meeting.

The president opened the meeting by reading for the Scripture Lesson the thirteenth chapter of First Corinthians, followed by a few words of welcome to the new girls.

Miss Lindley, chairman of the missionary committee, gave a brief explanation of the work of the Y. W. C. A. in other countries. She spoke of the extent of the work in South America, China, India and Japan, following which girls dressed to represent these countries gave short addresses concerning the same.

Miss Chilton costumed as a South American woman spoke of the work in that country. She remarked that woman's outlook there is very dark, that as the Roman Catholic church forbade Christian schools, educational advantages are very meager, and that the only thing that the other countries of the world have used South America for is trade. The only Y. W. C. A. in this country is at Buenos Aires; hence there is much scope for work of this kind.

Next, Miss Neece, representing China, came forward saying, "China is still carrying on." In the last century, the Christians have increased from ten to three thousand. Since the coming of the Y. W. C. A. and Christians new ideas have been established and an interest in the sciences manifested. The women are patterning after the women of America.

Miss Martin, dressed to represent a Christian of India, recited a short poem setting forth the deplorable conditions in that country. She said that above all India needs the light, that more workers are needed especially doctors and teachers, but that the Y. W. C. A. is doing a great work here.

Last, Miss Hayworth as a Japanese, gave us some idea of the size of Japan, the land of flowers. It seems that the condition of the working girl there is one of the worst things to be said concerning the country. The Japanese are as sheep without a shepherd. There is a great field of work here and now is the time to begin.

Special music was furnished by Miss Henley.

THE PRESBYTERIANS DOWN QUAKERS

Coach Doak's Huskies Lose First Gridiron Tussle of Season.

On a dusty field that would have almost made gas masks welcome, and in an Indian summer heat that called more for tennis flannels and iced lemonade than football togs Coach Doak's bunch of aspirants for gridiron honors went down to defeat before the heavier and more experienced Davidson team.

The Guilford team started the game handicapped by the shifts which had been made on account of the loss of "Jim" Newlin, the best full back Guilford ever had, who was out of the game with a sprained ankle incurred in a scrimmage the day before. The Quakers however showed their usual fighting pep from start to finish.

The game started off as if it might be anybody's. Davidson received the kick off. Made 40 yards on a center plunge, was held for downs, tried to kick goal but lost the ball to Guilford in the attempt. The Quakers gained first ten yards but had to kick on their second down to keep Davidson from getting the ball on their 30 yard line.

In the second quarter Pullian, of Guilford, was knocked out. Barnard shifted to his position as quarter-back and Raiford was put in Barnard's place at end. By a series of left end runs the Presbyterians finally forced the pigskin across the coveted goal line. McAllister successfully kicked goal. Davidson drew in some fresh men at the beginning of the second half and kept hammering at Guilford's lineup which had been further weakened by injuries. The Presbyterians finally added two more touchdowns to their credit by the overhead route before the time keeper's whistle blew. McAllister failed to make the kick on the second score.

In the last quarter Black, Davidson's fleet half-back, intercepted a forward pass and raced 40 yards for a touch down. Davidson failed on the kick. The final score was made by a series of heavy line plunges.

In reviewing the game it might be said that each player did good work as a unit and in the team. The heavy line, good team work, and playing of McAllister, Black and Shepherd however won the game for Davidson. Captain Barnard, Robinson, Pullian and Cox were probably the most consistent players on the Quaker side. The whole team had good pep though and with a little polishing upon their weak spots by Coak Doak this week they ought to make a good showing against A. & E. at Raleigh next Saturday. Line up follows: R. E.,
