

ALUMNI NOTES.

The class of 1919 held its first reunion on the campus on the date of the opening reception when twelve of its thirteen members returned to attest their love and loyalty to their Alma Mater. True to Guilford's principle that her sons and daughters shall pass out to enter whatever they have gained here, practically all the class are engaged in one service or another.

Roger Kiser is principal of the school at Germantown.

John White is bookkeeper for Vaughn Grocery Company, Winston-Salem.

Kate Smith, the Bryn Mawr scholar, leaves for Bryn Mawr September 29th.

Joe White will study at Haverford College as the scholar of his class. He leaves September 23rd accompanied by Maud Lassiter, '18, Hobart Patterson and Ruth Coble, '17. Guilford is to be congratulated that she has so large a delegation at Haverford this year.

Clara Blair is doing sixth grade work in the Jamestown school.

Georgiana Bird is teacher of first grade in one of the High Point schools.

Clarence Macon is pursuing his studies as a graduate student at Hartford Theological Seminary.

Mr. and Mrs. Hervie Williard are living at Jamestown. Mr. Williard holds a position with the High Point Bank of Commerce.

Eula Hockett is teaching at Chadbourne.

Gertrude Hobbs is spending the winter at her home here.

Ruth Coltrane is teacher of history in a state high school near Wilson.

A great many alumni and other old students were in attendance at the reception to new students. Some who were present were: Harry Carroll, John B. Woosley, Ira Hinshaw, Ethel Speas, Ed. B. Carroll, A. W. Hobbs, Grace Taylor, Era Lasley, Brown Finch, Fred Morris, Henry Beeson, Beatrice Lewallen, Addie Morris, Deborah Brown, Jos. G. Reddick, Clara Worth, Mary E. White, Alma Crutchfield, Chester Sutton.

played a superabundance of pep and enthusiasm and the prospects for good society work this year are indeed encouraging.

The society was glad to have so many of the new girls as visitors. The members with great pleasure welcomed into their midst again three old members, Miss Ethel Lindley and Misses Marshall and Edgerton.

After a helpful critics report by Miss Speas, a former member, society adjourned.

At the meeting on September 19, the question "Resolved that Co-Education in High Schools Offer More All Round Development than Separate Schools," was hotly debated. Misses Neece and Ward upheld the affirmative while Misses Farlow and Teague defended the negative. The judges decided in favor of the affirmative.

A piano solo by Miss Marshall and a reading by Miss Mock completed the program.

Misses Hazel Richardson, Nellie Allen, Edith Harrison, Alra Taylor and Margaret Levering were gladly received as members of the society.
