

GET READY FOR THAT STEP-SINGING.

Reference was made in a recent issue of the Guilfordian to a revival of interest in step-singing. In order that every student may have an opportunity to learn songs suitable for such an occasion we are going to print, from week to week, copies of our state and national anthems as well as our college and old Southern songs. This week we are printing our North Carolina state song, and we strongly urge every student who is not already familiar with it to memorize faithfully all three stanzas, as well as all succeeding songs which shall appear.

Carolina! Carolina! Heaven's blessings attend her!
While we live we will cherish, protect and defend her;
Though the scorners may sneer at and wiflings defame her,
Our hearts swell with gladness whenever we name her.

Chorus—
Hurrah! hurrah! The Old North State forever!
Hurrah! hurrah! The good Old North State!

Though she envies not others their merited glory,
Say, whose name stands foremost in Liberty's story!
Though too true to herself e'er to crouch to oppression,
Who can yield to just rule more loyal submission?

Chorus—
Then let all who love us; love the land that we live in
As happy a region as on this side of Heaven,
Where Plenty and Freedom, Love and Peace smile before us,
Raise aloud, raise together the heart-thrilling chorus!
Chorus—

WITH THE PHILS.

The Philomathean Literary Society was called to order by vice-president, Miss Thelma Cloud, who appointed Miss Dovie Hayworth to fill vacancy of secretary.

The first number on the program was a reading, "The Little Gray Lamb," by Miss Loyd Merriman. This number was especially interesting as Miss Merriman read the story with much spirit and feeling. Miss Janice Atkins gave the second number, a piano solo. A debate constituted the third number: "Resolved, That Denominational Colleges Are Preferable to State Colleges." The affirmative was upheld by Misses Clementine Raiford and Wanda Clodfelter, while the negative was very forcefully defended by Misses Octavia Clegg and Lois Rabey. Both sides gave good arguments and much "pep" was manifested throughout the debate. The judges decided in favor of the negative.

The last number, a discussion of "The Significance of the Labor Conference at Washington," was given by Miss Marion Meadenhall. This number was very interesting as well as instructive.

The society was glad to welcome as members Misses Helen Robertson, Mabel Roberts and Zola McCracken.

After an instructive critic's report by Miss Donna McBane society adjourned.

NEW WEBSTERIANS DEBATE IMMIGRATION.

What was probably one of the most hotly contested debates of the year was that held in Websterian Hall Friday on the proposed congressional bill limiting immigrants to the United States for the five years succeeding the signature of peace to the peoples of the French and English nations.

The debate was doubly interesting and deserving of praise owing to the fact that with the exception of one speaker they were all new members of the society. Fleetwood, Fishel and Harris opposed the proposed bill and made some mighty good points against it. Their argument was not quite strong enough, however, to down that of Lineberry, Fitch and Wade Thompson, who won the decision of the judges, Price, Summers and Dabney White, for the affirmative.

CHARACTER SKETCHING AND EXTEMPORANEOUS DEBATING

Although the attendance of Henry Clay's was not up to its usual standard of excellence, due to the fact that a number of the members were away on a football trip, a program of unusual merit was enjoyed by the society.

An able discussion was given on the question of the restriction of immigration to the United States. Messrs. Purnis, H. White and Petrea brought forth strong arguments in favor of placing certain restrictions on immigration. However, Messrs. Ray Farlow, Everett Hollady and Edward Hollady convinced the judges that a non-restrictive policy was best. The remaining numbers consisted of a character sketch of "The Modern Napoleon Bonaparte," by R. L. White, and an extemporaneous declamation by H. Edwards.

The society is gratified to note the earnestness and genuine enthusiasm with which the new men are entering into society work. The interest being shown insures the Henry Clays of a most successful year.

YOUNG MAN!

Get the saving habit. The way to begin is to fix things so that you MUST save.

We can show you how to do that, and at the same time, how to perpetuate your income—or part of it—in case you die while you are saving.

We can show you how to insure against the uncertainties of life as well as the certainty of death.

The cost is low. You are young.
