Sophomores Beat Freshmen In Forensic Battle

Immigration Question Thoroughly Threshed Out. Class of Twenty-Three Win By a Two to One Vote. Much Class Spirit Shown

The Annual Freshman-Sophomore Debate was held on Tuesday evening, April 26, at Memorial Hall. The question discussed was: Resolved, "That congress should enact a law providing for further material restriction of immigration."

The Sophomore speakers, Ruth Reynolds, Hazel Richardson and William Wolf upheld the affirmative while the negative was upheld by Robert Marshall, William Blair and Alison White of the Freshman class. All the speakers proved to the audience that much study had been spent in preparation for the discussion.

Ruth Reynolds, first speaker of the affirmative, ably discussed the great need of future material restriction of immigration; first, because of the great numbers who are coming to America, the present laws are not adequate, and second, that economic conditions demand further restriction in this country; and third, that the conditions in Europe demand further restriction.

Mr. Robert Marshall, first speaker for the negative, discussed the situation as not demanding further restrictions because many immigrants were needed for the work on the farms. Miss Hazel Richardson put forth the argument that the immigrants are not the desirable type to encourage to come to this country. When immigrants come they usually live in colonies in the large cities and our system of assimilation is not conducive to the needs of the immigrants.

William Blair in his usual witty manner produced the argument that the present laws are adequate. Wolf presented a plan that would meet the needs and explained what the law covered.

Alison White gave a very forceful speech on the opposition that further restriction was against American ideas, also the idea of distribution of immigrants.

The rebuttal speeches on both sides were very good and full of wit. The Sophomores, however, succeeded in convincing two of the judges that further laws are needed restricting immigration.

Much class spirit was shown during the debate, and afterwards a "garbage can" parade was staged by the boys of the class of '23."

GUILFORD WINS FROM ELON

In one of the most interesting games seen here, Guilford won from Elon on Monday, April 25, by the score of 3-2. This was Guilford's second victory in the three game series that was played with Elon.

Herman Shore, on the mound for the Quakers, held the Elon batters at his mercy except for the fourth inning, when Elon made her only two hits. He allowed only two hits, one base on balls, and caused 14 Elon batters to fan the air in vain. Perry for Elon allowed nine hits and struck out five men. The batting star of the game was Curtis Newlin who, in five trips to the plate got two singles and one three bagger.

Guilford's first run came in the second frame, when Clark muffed Hayworth's long fly allowing him to reach first. He then stole second and came home when Stout drove a good one out into the out-garden for two bases. Guilford's second score came as a result of Hayworth getting safely on second when Clark again muffed his long fly and then coming home on Andrew's two bagger. Her last run came in the seventh. With two men down, H. Shore was safe on Johnson's error. Singles by B. Shore and Hayworth allowed H. Shore to tally.

Elon's scores came in the fourth and sixth. Singles by Cheek and Brown were largely responsible for the first. The second was made when Cummings, dropped Cheek's fly, allowing him to make first. He took second on a sacrifice and third on a fielders choice, coming home when the umpire ruled that Shore had balked.

Wake Forest Wins From Quakers In Best Game of Season

Shore Holds the Hard Hitting Baptists In Pinches. Barnes Allows Only Two Hits.

Guilford lost to Wake Forest here on April 28 in the prettiest game seen here this season, score 1-0. In spite of the wet ground the game abounded in pretty plays and lasted only one hour and 20 minutes. One triple play was executed by the Guilford team, when Wake Forest had a man on second and third and no one out. Herman Shore on the mound for Guilford allowed six hits and struck out seven, while Barnes, for Wake Forest caused eight to whiff the air and allowed but two hits.

Wake Forest scored in the first inning. Jeanette, first up, singled, took second on Duncan's sacrifice and came home on Slingfield's two bagger. They did not threaten to score again till the fourth. Ellis, first up, connected with a good one for three bases, but was left stranded on third when Shore tightened up and sent the next three batters back to the bench after giving them three whiffs each. Their next chance to score was passed in the seventh. Stringfield beat out a hit to third and took third on Johnson's single over second. Johnson then got on second and Ragsdale popped a bunt up to Hayworth. Hayworth threw to A. Newlin and A. Newlin to Stout completing a pretty triple and retiring the side. They did not come near scoring again although they were robbed of some pretty hits by the fielding of C. Newlin and Cummings.

Guilford got but one man on first base before the sixth inning. In this inning she came near scoring when Cummings singled and took second on C. Newlin's hit. G. Frazier then knocked a fielder's choice, Cummings being out at home. The side was retired and did not threaten to score again.

Three base hits Ellis, Jeanette. Two base hit, Stringfield. Triple play Hayworth, A. Newlin and Stout. Hits off Shore 6, off Barnes 2. Struck out by Shore 7, by Barnes 8. Time 1:20. Umpire, McBane.

A social was held Saturday night at New Garden Hall under the auspices of the social committee from the Young Men's Christian Association and Young Women's Christian Association. A program of old-fashioned games was given in the large dining room. Every one had a good time and the men's social committee proved that it was a competent one. Nell Carroll is chairman of the Y. W. C. A. committee and Hugh White is chairman of the Y. M. C. A. social committee. Both students have recently been elected to these positions and will serve for the coming year.

With The Home Economic Department

On Monday Morning Miss Julia White, the college librarian, gave an interesting talk to the class in Art Appreciation. She illustrated her comments with pictures secured during her last visit abroad.

On Tuesday afternoon the Senior class in Dietetics entertained on the lawn the Fourth Grade at the public school, with their teacher, Miss Bertine Sheppard. The Health Campaign, conducted by the seniors with the Fourth Grade came to a close with this meeting. Mutual wishes were expressed that the campaign may be renewed next year. Members of the senior class are Madge Coble, Florence Cox, Clara Farlow and Mary Ellen Griffin.

On Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock under our first class in sanitation two moving pictures were shown in Memorial Hall. The entire student body was invited. One picture treating of contagious diseases, showed how antitoxine is secured; the other treated of waste disposal in cities. Miss Minnie Casstevens, a member of the class, introduced the pictures with a short talk.

On Friday afternoon Miss Hart was at home to Miss Noles and all the students in the textiles classes. For a number of years Miss Hart was a teacher of textiles at the Hampton Institute, in Virginia. Her exhibit of hand woven articles in which she has been working this winter, was of much interest. Refreshments of cake and fruit cocktail were served.
