

CANCELLATION OF WAR DEBT DISCUSSED BY PHILOMATHEANS

The Philomathean Literary Society held its regular meeting on Friday evening, March 3. The first number on the program was a debate: Resolved that the United States should cancel the Allies' war debts. Misses Kathryn Watson and Kathleen Riley argued for the affirmative that the United States, herself, would profit more by cancellation than by any payment, and that she owed cancellation as her part in the world war. They showed that cancellation would benefit the Allies, bringing out the fact that the Allies are bankrupt and cannot pay.

Misses Bettie Hall and Marie Beaman, for the negative, argued that cancellation would be unjust to the United States, that she cannot afford it, and that it would stain European national honor. They argued that the act would be a bad precedent and would retard disarmament of the European nations and lastly that it is unnecessary.

The judges, Misses Clara Henley Ruth Outland, Ruth Ragsdale decided in favor of the affirmative.

The rest of the program consisted of a paper on the present conditions in Ireland by Elizabeth Brooks, campus news by Grace Smithdeal, current events by Gladys Futrell and an instrumental solo.—Paderewski's Minuet by Lloyd Merriman.

ZATASIAN DISCUSS CAROLINA POETS

As the regular president and secretary were both absent at the meeting of the Zatian society on March 3, Eurie Teague and Alice Chilton were asked to serve. The subject of the literary exercises was "North Carolina Poets." the program as given follows:

- I. History of Literature in North Carolina—Mary C. Henley.
- II. Stockards "The Last Charge of Appomattox.—Blanche Lindley.
- III. McNeil's "Sunburnt Boys"—Sylvia White.
- IV. Whiting's "Alamance"—Nellie Allen.
- V. North Carolina's Wit and Humor—Ghita Tuttle.
- VI. Song "The Old North State"—By society.

The first number by Miss Henley was especially good. "By giving their characteristics and the period in which they wrote she was able to show the place held in the state literature by each of the more important poets. Those who gave readings also told something of the poet represented.

The society was very glad to receive into membership at this meeting two new members, Pherlie Mae Siske and Pansy Donnell. Alto Rush, the critic for the evening, gave a favorable report after which society adjourned.

CLAYS DEBATE MUSCLE SHOALS PROBLEM

President Hugh White called the Henry Clay Literature Society to order Friday evening, March 3.

The critic for the evening was then appointed. After the Chaplain had conducted the devotional exercises the minutes of the last meeting were read and adopted.

There were two numbers on the program for the evening. First, Debate: Resolved, that the United States Government should own and operate Muscle Shoals. Second, a Review of Current Literature.

The affirmative side of the debate was presented by Johnson, and D. Hodgin, while the negative was defended by Blair and Wolff who won the question.

The review of current literature by Benbow Merrimon was very good. Together with bare outlines of some of the latest works of literature, the speaker also gave some splendid jokes.

Reports of several committees were then heard by the Society. After the disposition of some business matters the meeting adjourned.

OFFICE NOTES

During the past week Dr. Perisho has been visiting the schools of Randolph County and finds much interest manifested in Guilford College. After visiting all of the schools of Randolph County, Dr. Perisho will visit schools in Alamance and Chatham Counties.

The North Carolina Hand Book, which is put out by N. C. State Department of Agriculture, will include an article concerning each college in the state.

The Guilford Club of Randolph County was organized last Sunday, Feb. 5, at the Friends Meeting House at Ashboro. Dr. Binford and Dr. Perisho attended this meeting, which was held at three o'clock in the afternoon.

Oscar Redding was elected president, Clarence Macon, vice president and Fletcher Bulla, Secretary. These officers are to select two committees, a membership and a program committee.

The afternoon was very disagreeable and not very many alumni and former students of Guilford College were present. Every former student and graduate of Randolph county is therefore urged to send his or her name and address to Fletcher Bulla, Ashboro, N. C.

Mr. Grady Nichols, who has had charge of the up keep and repair of buildings and campus, withdrew from this position March 1. Mr. Been and his son, who will arrive here March 10, from Kansas, have been made superintendent of buildings and ground.

WALKERTOWN WINS GAME FROM SECOND TEAM

Guilford's second team met Walkertown's basket ball club on the local floor Saturday 3:30 p. m. The game was hard fought throughout.

The visitors scored the first few points of the game but early in the first half the Quakers took the lead and held a fair margin until the last few minutes of play.

The score at the end of the first half was 22 to 17, the locals leading.

The opponents came back strong in the second half and tied the score four minutes before the final whistle. At this point Guilford's defense crumbled and allowed the opposing team to pile up a lead of eight points, making the final score 35 to 27 for Walkertown's Club.

Garrell Payne led in the scoring for Guilford with five field goals. Lindley's guarding and floor work showed up well.

Holt and Morris were the outstanding stars for visitors.

The line up and summary:

dividing it into four sub-topics (1) the day itself, (2) the demands of the day, (3) the duties, (4) the dangers. The day itself was pictured as the greatest day of all history. All the world knows that the present generation is living in a wonderful period. Therefore the demands of the day are to reconstruct the world by spreading the Gospel and by teaching better living. With demands come the duties, which are (1) to help God fulfil his promises (2) to help furnish allies for Jesus Christ instead of for theology, (3) to meet the needs of the day, as we are now nearer neighbors than ever before. And yet there are many dangers even with the greatness of the day. To these we cannot be indifferent; we cannot take things for granted, but we must be alert. The big dangers are (1) to the individual (2) to the church (3) to Christianity, (4) to our own nation, (5) to civilization. Shall there be Christ or chaos for the world? Shall we continue to allow foreign religion and newspapers to gain headway in our own America? Is civilization going forward or backward. America must not allow a possibility of such a calamity. Oriental nations must not become obsessed with the desire to spread their own civilization. We of the younger generation must carry Christ lest this great tragedy happen.

Another outstanding feature of the conference was the pageant "Two Masters" given by the Volunteer Band of Meredith College. The story was concerned with a woman, who in trying to serve two masters, almost caused the wreck of the life of her young niece. Just in time the mistake was discovered and Janet, the niece, a graduate from college returned to her missionary parents in China—there to serve where she knew her work lay and where she could get the most joy out of life.

The success was due very much to the genial hospitality of the N. C. C. W. and G. C. W. girls and to the leadership of the president Sam Maxwell and the co-operation of Mr. Bland Roberts and Miss Beatrice Segsworth, traveling secretaries of the movement.

Miss Sadie Newlin was the guest of her brother Mr. Curtis Newlin, Sunday.
