Y. M. C. A. NOTES

A good meeting was held on Thursday evening, March 9th. The leader, Mr. Murray White, read as scripture lesson for the evening Luke's story of the rich ruler who came to the Master seeking the way of eternal

The subject of the leader's talk "Tne Well-rounded Education," and the gist of what he said was somewhat as follows: When we start a job of work, whatever its nature, we should intend to do it as well as possible, and if we know something which will help to make the job a better one we should sieze upon it at once. The majority of workers, mental and physical, do have this as their aim but, still, there are many who do. not; especially are college students prone to neglect parts of their job.

There are many definitions of education but some are incomplete because they are not broad enough to take in the whole development of body, mind and spirit. Students should not neglect class work, or other phases of college life such as literary society work, general reading the library, religious meetings, study and social life.

A student may leave out one phase of college life and still achieve some success but it will not be so great as it might have been had their education been an all-round one. Some phases of college life may be more important than others but we should

The interest which is being shown in the Y. M. C. A. is very gratifying to those who have been laboring to make it worth while.

VOLUNTEER SECRETARY ADDRESSES Y. W. C. A.

Thursday evening the Y. W. C. A. was very fortunate in having as the speaker Miss Segsworth, one of the traveling secretaries of the Y. W. C. A. and a member of the Student Volunteer Band. The purpose of her talk was to put before the association the needs in the foreign field and the requisites for a student volunteer.

Miss Segsworth began by making the statement that every one wishes to be a success in life, giving several interpretations of the word, success. Some interpret success in terms of family, others of education, and still others in terms of personal accomplishment. However, none of these can bring true success unless the individual confesses, as did Paul, that he is what he is because of the grace of God. The importance of personal service in the foreign field, she illustrated with the story of Rob-ert Morrison who when asked what he could do for China replied, "Nothing, sir, but God can".

"God, then," said Miss Segsworth, is a friend who understands me and understanding, cares for me with all of the love that is kind. He believes in the potential me as well as the actual me. Bearing this in mind cannot you see the responsibile position in which you are placed? God believes that you have great possi-bilites and is depending on you to carry His message to every country."

In closing, Miss Segsworth said that many people are arguing that they have never heard the call to go to foreign lands. But this call comes in many different ways and no one can afford to wait for a special delivery letter informing him that he is the one who has been chosen.

MRS. CUNNINGHAM VISITS COLLEGE

Tuesday morning, March 7, the chapel period was given to Mrs. Cunningham of the Public Safety League, who spoke to the students on the importance of cleaning up and pre-venting fires and accidents. She suggested that the student body take upon itself the responsibility of keeping the dormitories in good condition, elect a saptain for each darmitory and let him make a report vited, spectators of the marriage were each month of the work done. She also suggested that we practice fire drills occasionally.

Mr. Rawleigh Tremaine was on the campus Saturday and Sunday.

"A Comparative Study of the Epithelial Tissues of Various Animals" is the subject of a thesis which is being written by Everette Hollady of the biology department. The tissues which are being considered are three kinds, Salamander, dog and human.

The slides that are being made will be kept in the department. At the present time surface mounts and cross sections from tissue of the salamander are being made.

Last week the biology department tested milk for Professor Davis.
