

SOCIETY NOTES

HENRY CLAY NOTES

On Friday evening, May 26, the Henry Clay Society met with practically every member present at the last regular session of the school year.

The feature of the evening was the last tryout for the improvement medal, which the society gives annually to the member who makes the most progress in society work. Those participating in this contest were Edwin Brown and Paul Knight. Both gave arguments on the negative side of the query, "Resolved: That the Senate of the United States should pass the soldier bonus bill as passed by the House of Representatives." Both men gave very good speeches and both showed marked improvement over their first speeches in this hall.

Under the head of reports, a committee announced the purchasing of a photograph album, in which, the society has decided, shall be placed the photographs of all Henry Clays who have graduated, or shall graduate, from Guilford. Also a committee was appointed to determine under what conditions a past or future member, not a graduate, may have his picture placed there. It is expected that this collection of pictures will be of interest to all old Guilford students and especially to old Henry Clays.

Another item of interest to old Henry Clays brought us in this meeting was the resolution that the society, starting with this year, establish the custom of holding an annual meeting during commencement, in which present members can have the chance to meet with old members and to preserve the old Henry Clay spirit.

As this was the regular time to elect officers for the coming college year, the following men were chosen: president, J. S. Taylor; vice president, M. H. Shore; secretary, E. Holder; Assistant secretary, F. Crutchfield; censor, H. B. Shore; chaplain, J. Reynolds; sergeant-at-arms, R. Branson; treasurer, W. Blair.

As visitors, the society was delighted to have three old members, H. Reynolds, Edward L. Hollady, and F. Lamons.

WEBSTERIAN NOTES

The final meeting of the Websterian society for the year held last Friday evening was called to order by president Sam Harris. The society was glad to welcome as visitors Dr. Elwood Perisho and Mr. Chas. Robison.

The debate given was open to all new men. The query was, Resolved: That the present jury system is inefficient. The affirmative speakers were Elton Warwick and Bernie Cooper, while Edward Hobbs defended the negative.

While the society awaited the decision of the judges the following extemporaneous debate was given: Resolved, That courting in the moonlight is more fascinating than courting in the parlor. Addison Smith for the affirmative won the decision, although Thomas English for the negative also made an excellent speech.

W. L. Rudd then gave a short speech of farewell in which he mentioned that he would offer next year a prize for consistency in attendance and taking part in the most programs.

Dr. Perisho then presented the improvement medal to the winner, Elton Warwick, and made a constructive and inspiring speech to the members of the society.

The treasurer gave his report which showed that the society is in a much better financial condition, than at the close of the term last year.

PHILOMATHEAN NOTES

President Esther White called the Philomathean Literary society to order at the last regular meeting of this year, on Friday evening, May 26. Hope Motley was appointed as critic for the evening.

As this was the last meeting to be attended by the Seniors this year, they were given an opportunity to see themselves as others see them.

The following program of impersonations was given.

I. To My Betrothed.—Edna Rairford—Mary Lou Wilkins. Kathleen Riley.

II. Collection.—Ruth Outland—III. My Great Game—Alta Zachary—Clara Hadley.

IV. The Evolution of the Modern Family—Isabel Pancoast—Ruth Ragdale.

V. Impromptu—Elizabeth Yates—Elizabeth Brooks.

VI. House President—Lulu Rairford—Shelly Clodfelter.

VII. College Complainer—Esther White—Kathleen Watson.

The impersonators looked and acted their parts quite well.

Under the head of regular business the following new officers were elected: President, Ruth Reynolds; secretary, Ruth Ragdale; marshal, Mary Lou Wilkins; treasurer, Evelyn Henley.

ZATASIAN NOTES

Friday evening, May 26, the members of the Zatasian Society had a final exhibition of the ability of the senior members.

The first number of the excellent program was, "Dear Old Guilford." Blanche Lindley in "What Society has meant to me," then summed up the benefits derived from four years of society work, mentioning self-confidence in public speaking, opportunities for forming friendship, and pleasure.

Marianna White gave an interesting article on "Opportunities for College Graduates," after which an instrumental solo by Mabel Ward served as a bridge between the serious and the ludicrous.

Eurie Teague, a social service worker, and Florence Cox, the wife of a movie star, met on a train en route to San Francisco. They had a copy of the Guilfordian and together took, "A Look into the Future." Owing to the splendid alumni column they obtained a great deal of startling news about old Zatasians even though it was the year 1932.

After "A Tribute to Zatasians" by Mabel Ward the program ended with the singing "How Can We Leave You" sung by all the senior members.

As this was the time for the election of officers, Josephine Mock was chosen president, Virginia Osborne, secretary and Nellie Chilton, marshal.

COLLEGE SUNDAY SCHOOL TO BECOME PERMANENT

The superintendent and secretary of the college Sunday School for next year have been elected. At a joint meeting of the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. cabinets Marvin Shore and Inez White were decided upon. Their names were submitted to the Sunday School and unanimously accepted last Sunday morning.

The Sunday School this year has been far more successful than in previous years. Early last fall the two associations decided to discontinue the old plan of studying in the students' rooms with students as teachers and organize a Sunday school. Curtis Neewlin was selected for superintendent and the school prospered under his direction. He served in this capacity until about three months ago. Mrs. E. C. Perisho then took charge and thru her efforts the school continued to prosper. She stressed the students getting ideas for their home schools. In this way the school has been a model as well as a place for Bible study.

The classes under the direction of members of the faculty have been better satisfied and gained more knowledge than they did under the previous method. There has been more incentive for studying the lessons as well as a closer fellowship between the students and faculty.

The Y. W. C. A. has reached a high plane of efficiency this year. Every girl of the college has been a member. Interest in the programs has been nearer unanimous. More than one girl has taken part in each prayer meeting, and the percentage of leaders has greatly increased.

The boys feel that the Y. M. C. A. has been a success this year, although there were a number of boys who did not join. The attendance has been much better than last year and those who were not members have shown an interest in the programs.

Glee Club Gives Concert

Plans For Next Season

The Guilford College Glee Club gave a concert at Pleasant Garden, May 23 and at Kernersville, May 25. The programs were well received at both places.

The club will give a concert at Guilford College Monday evening of commencement week. This concert will close the first season for the Glee Club.

Plans for next year's work are under way and the management plans to present a program next season second to none in the state. The work done during the past season has been very successful considering the short time that the club has been organized.

Dr. Perisho Finishes

Round of High Schools

This week Dr. Perisho finishes visiting the high schools. On Saturday, May 27, he visited the Westfield high school in Stokes county, delivering the commencement address. On Sunday he spoke in the riends church in Greensboro. On Monday night he was at the Walkertown high school in Forsyth county; on Tuesday night at Carthage in Moore; Thursday, Thomasville, in Davidson, and Friday night at Burlington, delivering a commencement address at each place. Dr. Perisho has covered sixteen counties in his work in the high schools. He has been present at numbers of Friends meetings, and has delivered in all, three hundred addresses. Twenty-seven of these have been commencement addresses in the high schools.
