

ALUMNI COMMITTEE HAS MEETING AT THE COLLEGE

Sunday afternoon several members of the Alumni Association met at the college to have a conference concerning the work of the association for the coming year. C. C. Smithdeal, acting president; Rhessa L. Newlin, secretary; Prof. L. L. White, chairman of the athletic committee; Laura Worth, chairman of the loan fund committee; S. Addison Hodgkin, chairman of the committee on college policy and endowment; Paul S. Nunn, of the publicity committee; and President Binford attended the meeting. Several things of interest to the Association were discussed.

The first thing to claim the attention of the group was the work of the different committees. It was realized very fully that the committees have not accomplished in the past what they should have, but this is no reason why they should not do something worthwhile in the future. Thus it was decided that each chairman should call his committee together at the earliest possible date and outline the work of the committee for the year. No doubt each member of the association will agree with this idea, for every one knows that in order to do effective work that there must be a program, and a program that will adequately meet the needs of the committee and the association could hardly be worked out except in consultation. Now it is hoped that each chairman will comply with this request and call his committee together at the College at the earliest possible date, and it should be remembered that today, is the day to act, for tomorrow you will not have time. It should also be remembered in this connection that it all the committees will get to work, that our next annual meeting will be a really interesting one, for each committee will have something to report.

The chairman of the loan fund committee reports that she has on hand more than $600.00. It is possible that there are several worthy students in the college now who do not know about this fund, and why it was created. Several years ago the association realized that several students enter college and then after a couple of years have to drop out for financial reasons alone. To meet this need the alumni association created a loan fund. If there are any students at the present time who need this kind of help they should see Laura Worth or any member of the faculty.

The representatives from Winston-Salem requested that the Guilford football team play a game in that city next year. Prof. L. L. White, graduate manager, says that he will do his best to schedule a game in Winston-Salem next year. The students will be pleased to learn of the interest that the alumni over in Winston have in them.

S. Addison Hodgkin seemed very much interested in the campus and called attention to several things that might be improved.

Some time ago it was announced in this paper that the north end of Archdale hall would be remodeled and adequately furnished for a common meeting place for the boys of the college as soon as funds could be secured. The boys will learn with interest that the alumni are interested in this improvement. Many of the alumni feel that there should be a comfortable room provided where the boys could meet their friends, students, and members of the faculty in an un-official way. For this purpose, no better place could be selected than the north end of this hall. Many members of the association feel that if this improvement were made that it would be a fine place for students and faculty to have social hour together each evening, a place where they could meet and talk about anything under the sun or above it for that matter. One alumni suggested that he thought that it would be a fine thing for some class to furnish this room. The suggestion certainly is a good one.

Rhessa L. Newlin, secretary of the association, stated that he would put on a campaign early in January to more than treble the membership of the association. It might be stated here that any old student of New Garden boarding school or Guilford College may become a member by paying the annual fee of two dollars. It is hoped that every member of the association will co-operate with the secretary, and help him put across his program.

President Binford made a very interesting talk setting forth his plans for the future development of the college. You will hear about these plans later, so be thinking and be ready for anything that may come.

The meeting was interesting from beginning to end and everyone left feeling that there is plenty of work for the association to do this year.

IPSE DIXIT and GALILEO

There was much learning but little real knowledge in Galileo's time (1564-1642). Aristotle was swallowed in bad Latin translations. Ipse dixit. No one checked him by what seemed vulgar, coarse experiment.

Galileo fought against the dead hand of tradition. He did not argue about Aristotle, but put him to the test. Aristotle led his readers to believe that of two bodies the heavier will fall the faster. Galileo simply climbed to the top of the Leaning Tower of Pisa and dropped two unequal weights. The "best people" were horrified; they even refused to believe the result—that the weights reached the ground in equal times.

"Look at the world, and experiment, experiment," cried Galileo.

The biggest man in the 16th century was not Galileo in popular estimation, but Suleiman the Magnificent, the Ottoman Emperor, who swept through Eastern Europe with fire and sword and almost captured Vienna. Where is his magnificence now?

Galileo gave us science—established the paramount right of experimental evidence. Suleiman did little to help the world.

Hardly an experiment is made in modern science which does not apply Galileo's results. When, for instance, the physicists in the Research Laboratories of the General Electric Company study the motions of electrons in rarified atmospheres, or experiment to heighten the efficiency of generators and motors, they follow Galileo's example and substitute facts for beliefs.
