HIGH POINT GUILFORD CLUB WHOOPS UP ENDOWMENT

100 Sons and Daughters of Guilford Hear Appeals for College Funds

GUESTS AT BANQUET

Former Guilford Students
Pledge Loyal Support
To Alma Mater

GOOD SPEECHES HEARD

Dr. Raymond Binford And Dr.
E. C. Perisho Chief Speakers
at Event In Sheraton Hotel
Last Thursday; Charles F.
Tomlinson, Toastmaster.

Pledging loyal support to their alma mater, more than 100 sons and daughters of old Guilford assembled at the Sheraton Hotel in High Point Thursday, Feb. 1, for the purpose of effecting a local organization and to hear plans for the launching of an endowment campaign on behalf of the college. Out of the meeting came a determination to "Save old Guilford" and to carry on to even greater achievements. Chief among the speakers were Dr. Raymond Binford, president of the college, Dr. E. C. Perisho, head of the extension department; J. Elwood Cox, chairman of the board of trustees; Col. W. A. Blair and C. C. Smithdeal, all of whom expressed a vision of greater things for their beloved institution.

Dr. Perisho made an eloquent address in behalf of a larger endowment fund for the college, in which he outlined its present status from a business standpoint. The time has come, he said, when the friends of Guilford must rally to its support by increasing the endowment to half a million dollars.

Stressing the achievements of Haverford college as an educational institution of the highest character, Col. W. A. Blair declared that Guilford could, with adequate financing, attain the same high standards which were second to none in the land.

Dr. Raymond Binford explained in detail the methods of financing. He asserted that of the $300,000 necessary to raise the endowment to $500,000, approximately $175,000 must be raised by Friends in North Carolina, the bulk of the amount to come from Guilford County. The General Education Board, the president declared, has, in declaring Guilford worthy of a larger endowment, come to a deeper appreciation of the smaller college as the ideal institution for general learning and particular stress has been placed on the church supported school as typifying the highest ideals of Christian education.

J. Elwood Cox as chairman of the board of trustees spoke briefly as to the needs of Guilford and reviewed its achievements since the time he knew it as a small lad. Mr. Cox had highest hopes for the future of the college and was optimistic over the prospects for increasing the endowment to adequate needs.

Speaking in behalf of the present era of Guilford, C. C. Smithdeal, president of the Alumni Association, and chairman of the endowment campaign committee, made a plea for closer relationship among the alumni and alumnae of the college. He spoke

DR. HOBBS DISCUSSES NATIONAL ATTAINMENT

To the question, "Are we satisfied with the present attainment?" Dr. Hobbs in giving his views to the student body, vividly pictured two classes of people. He classed them as follows: Those who are content with present conditions and those who have a vision of the future. After pausing to illustrate the significance of these these groups, the speaker then turned to the question, "How is the true value of a nation measured?" In answering this question, Dr. Hobbs said that the worth of a nation certainly could not be measured by the amount of her commerce but by the amount of time contributed to the thoughts and betterments of mankind. Greece will be remembered for her thought, England for her morals and Judea for her religious views, says the speaker.

In closing, Dr. Hobbs, appealing to the students said the destiny of each of us is largely in our own hands and the outcome of the individual depends on his choice.

DRAMATIC COUNCIL WILL STAGE "THREE LIVE GHOSTS" FOR SPRING PRODUCTION

At a meeting of the Dramatic Council, Tuesday, January 30, Frederick Isham and Max Marcin, was selected for presentation this spring. "Three Live Ghosts" deals with the complications which arise when three soldiers of the English army return home after having been reported killed in action. The admirable character studies in it give promise for an attractive presentation. The play has the further advantage of requiring but one set, which eliminates the necessity for long waits between acts.

The other plays under consideration are "Nothing But the Truth" and "Officer 666."

On Thursday night, the chosen play was read for the benefit of those who wished to try out for parts, and application was made by a goodly number of those present.

The try-outs were held Monday night, February 5, and the results will be announced in the next issue of the Guilfordian. It is necessary that practice begin very soon, as the council expects to present the play on the night of March 24th.

The following were awarded letters: Paul Knight, Alonzo Pringle, Fred Thomas, Jack Harrell, Jack Ragsdale, Bartimus Nickolson, Glen Lassiter, and Mgr. M. H. Shore.

SNAPPY QUAKER QUINTETTE SALTS DOWN TWO GAMES

Lenoir and Greensboro "Y" Bow To Guilford Onslaught

GUILFORD TRIPLES LENOIR SCORE

The first game of the basketball season played on the home floor took place Saturday evening, January 27, with Lenoir College. The home team overpowered their opponents with a score of 43-14. Guilford stayed in the lead from the first toot of the whistle, and by the end of the first half had scored 25 points against 5 of the opposing team.

J. G. Frazier scored 27 points of the 43. J. W. Frazier came next to him in honor, scoring 10 points.

Mitchell, a substitute for Lenoir, proved to be the most skillful in the art of goal shooting, making six points.

COLLEGE MOVIE PRESENTS "THE BACHELOR DADDY"

The two motion pictures, the May Day fete at Guilford in 1919 and "The Bachelor Daddy," shown Saturday night, January 27, afforded great amusement after the basketball game. The first was presented amid shouts of "There's me, with the tall cap on," etc. It undoubtedly made a popular appeal. However, the feature picture, with Thomas Meighan, made an appeal, too. What five lively, unrestrained kids can think of to amuse themselves and horrify grown-ups gives one a profound respect for the resourcefulness of the human mind. Of course, everybody is satisfied when the haughty society girl jilts the star, so that he can marry his lovely secretary, who adores children, and also, incidentally, her employer.

VACHEL LINDSAY, POET CANCELS ENGAGEMENT

Vachel Lindsay, the famous American poet, who was scheduled to appear here February 24 cancels his engagement on account of sickness. Mr. Lindsay's reading of poems has attracted much attention on the Lyceum platform. Guilford regrets greatly, that this number of her course must be omitted.

Sam Harris spent the week end at his home at Thomasville.

FRAZIER BOYS STAR

J. G. Frazier Scores Twenty Seven
Points In Each of Two Games

Grabbing the lead in the first minute of play, Guilford held the fighting five, from Greensboro Y, fray. Although the outcome was never in doubt, brilliant passing and spectacular shooting, kept a continuous stream of cheers pouring from both galleries. Seldom does a game so early iced, hold such interest. This unusual interest was largely due to the fierceness with which the two teams battled. All basket ball tactics were brought into play, from which the locals emerged the masters in every phase.

Individual honors were, as usual, grabbed by John Gurney Frazier, of Guilford. Not satisfied with worming his way thru Greensboro's defense for nine field goals, he stopped at the free station long enough to cage nine out of twelve for a grand total of more than the Y's entire team could count.

"Shorty" Frazier, Guilford's left forward, was next in points scored, with six field goals to his credit. He showed marked improvement over his first appearance against Lenoir.

Thad Mackie played a steady game at center. His passing, recoveries and follow-ups were a feature of the game. The guard positions were held by Thomas and Ferrell, until the latter was removed on fouls. Both guards were efficient at all times. Cummings, who relieved Ferrell, displayed his ability to do guard duty under heavy fire.

Greensboro's best player was Couch. He ran his team smoothly and was at all times a dangerous opponent.

In passing, and intercepting of Guilford's passes, the "Y" team showed up favorably. However, Guilford's five-man defense, necessitated long, shooting in which the visitors fell down miserably.

OLD GIRLS VICTORIOUS IN BASKET BALL GAME

In the annual Old and New Girls' basket ball game Saturday evening, February 3, the Old girls defeated the New girls by a score of 37 to 9. Both teams did good playing, but it was evident from the first that the New girls would not equal their opponents in skill. During the first half of the contest, the New girls showed undue excitement which resulted in some reckless plays. But
