Do Sophomores Have Divine Rights

If an argument is desired just mention HAZING or EVOLUTION and it's already started. So when you have read this, just select the side of the question that you prefer and reply through next week's Guilfordian.

Every year there are some new students who need to have some direction while they are adjusting themselves to college life and customs. Out of this has grown the idea that the sophomores should have full right over the freshmen throughout the first year.

During the last few days, when apparently the new students are getting down to hard work, there has been an undue amount of interference on the part of the old students. But what is even harder to understand, it seems that those students who are trying the hardest to behave themselves are being bothered the most. No one can do his best work when he is afraid to go to bed at night lest he be turned over, or when he is afraid to leave his room lest he will return and find everything piled in the middle of the floor.

Such treatment is unjust and unfair, still it is being practiced almost every day here on the campus. Just what is college training and college life supposed to do for a fellow.

PROF. L. L. WHITE GOES ON 'POSSUM HUNT'; GETS FIVE

Prof. L. L. White member of Guilford faculty succumbed to the desire to go 'possum hunting a few nights ago and it is his own confession that he did not return to his family until three o'clock the next morning.

But it was not with a note of shame that the head of the Education department made this confession for he added in a triumphant voice "WE got five."

As to whether Mr. White is going to entertain his faculty advisees again, and serve them the viands of this night's work is a matter of speculation which the reporter of this paper has been unable to confirm so far. Mr. White failed to state also as to what stand the game preserve commission of North Carolina was going to take on this wholesale slaughter of this favorite animal.

OPEN FORUM A Black Eye

STUDENTS ATTENTION! It is not intended that this column should be a critic's report every week. However, we can't refrain from making it of that nature, so long as a group of human individuals living in Cox Hall, and passing under the name of gentlemen, continue to practice the rude and unbecoming conduct which was demonstrated so publicly last week at a tennis tournament between Guilford and Wake Forest.

During the game, which was played on the courts just back of Cox Hall, a group of these pretended college students kept up a continuous disturbance by throwing water from the windows of the dormitory. Not only were the freshmen driven away from the game, but even the girls were compelled to stay away from one of the courts.

Not being satisfied with this, some one student, or more than one, cast a reflection on his college by throwing bags of water on the edge of the court and interfering with the game. One of our visitors from Wake Forest, who was actually struck by a bag of water, appealed to his opponent, who tried unsuccessfully to stop the attack.

It's no use to discuss the attitude that the men from Wake Forest and their friends have toward Guilford since their visit here. Our teams have been receiving many treatment and consideration from all the colleges they have visited, but the question that confronts us now is whether or not our visitors can say the same.

We can safely say that such conduct is not characteristic of the student body as a whole, for only a small group of boys who are either lacking in self respect or mentality will do work of that nature. The majority of the students would not consider such things, but in the minds of those away from the college, the black mark is applied to the student body as a whole.

If the men of Guilford do not get busy and change their standards of conduct, we must stop patting ourselves on the back and boasting of our fine campus spirit and excellent student body.

GULIFORD LOSES TENNIS MATCH TO WAKE FOREST

Winn and Brown Capture First Doubles From Baptists

On Thursday afternoon, October 26, the Quaker tennis team was defeated in a hotly contested match with the Wake Forest team by a score 13-3. Due to the lack of many chances which might have won them glory.

Jones of Wake Forest won from Winn by a score of 7-5; 6-3.

Harriss of Guilford was defeated by Slate 6-1; 6-3.

Burke, Guilford's, new addition this year, lost in a hard fought battle to Annette 0-6; 6-2; 6-3.

Joyce of Guilford lost to Townsend 6-3; 6-4.

Brown lost to Allister 7-5; 2-6; 7-5.

Winn and Brown of Guilford deserve much credit for their consistent playing which netted them a victory over Wake Forest's first doubles 6-3; 6-3.

Joyce and Harriss of the home squad failed to return many of the hard Lawfords of Townsend and Slate and lost 6-4; 6-3.

COLLEGE NEWS

Connecticut Aggie:

This Connecticut college has absolutely abolished the cut system. Hereafter no absences will be excused for any reason whatsoever. Moreover no make-up exams will be given. In return for depriving the students of these privileges, a bonus system has been instituted which allows additional credit for perfect attendance.

Syracuse:

Syracuse has followed the example of many other colleges in abolishing "horse play" or rough hazing. A regulation to that effect was recently put across by the Senior Council.

Washington and Jefferson:

"A sensation was caused in football circles when the Washington and Lee football team refused to play a scheduled gridiron contest with W. and J. because of the presence of West, a negro, in the line-up of the presidents, Wash-Jeff. refused to agree that the contest be played without West and as a result the game was forfeited to W. and J. by the regulation score of 1-0 that applies to forfeited games. Washington and Lee was merely following out a tradition of the South and none can object to the Generals' action viewed from this angle."

St. Lawrence University:

The Girls' Council of St. Lawrence University recently issued an edict for Freshman girls, which prohibits all "spooning" in the buildings and on the campus. The fair sex of this institution are also governed by the following rules:

"Never are ye to annoy men with thy chatter or with thy presence while in the college halls or on the campus.

"Despoil not thy youthful sweetness with the powder puff except in the secrecy of thy boudoir.

"Head bands or earrings are not for you, little ones."

Scrubs Defeat Pomona

Reynolds, Rush, Kimery Star

Coach Doak's scrubs are becoming quite prominent in that they handed the Pomona high school a licking to the tune of 24-0 playing five minute quarters. The game was an affair of scrub offensive practically the whole time.

Pomona held the seconds for downs only one time.

The oval was carried in the main by quarterback Reynolds and half-back Hardin Kimery. Though when Clyde Rush had a chance to stick his weight and running powers behind the pigskin, it usually touched the ground for a big gain.

Philomatheans at Home

of the faculty meeting was unusually well done. Mary Lou Wilkins in the role of Miss Louise, Ethel Watkins playing the part of Madame Hoffman, and Clara Coble as Miss Byrd were the most successful interpreters.

After the program ended the jolly Phils and Webs went to the regular society hall in Founders where a most enjoyable social hour was spent. During the time delicious refreshments were served.

Menu: Fruit cocktail, Chicken Salad, Sandwiches, Stuffed Dates, Neopolitan Cream, Mints, Cake, Nuts.
