ZAY NOTES

President Ailene Beeson
 Secretary Doris Joyner
 Treasurer Sudie Cox
 Marshal Marie Barnes

"Impromptu" expresses the program given in the Zatasian Literary Society Friday evening. The first number was a debate, "Resolved: That the reading of True Story Magazine is more harmful than beneficial." Berta Hollady upholding the affirmative, presented good argument, but Lillie O'Quinn in her appeal against the reading of such stories as are printed in the afore mentioned magazine, won the decision of the judges. The next was a clever impersonation stunt, with Elizabeth

Levering as Miss Tapley, Claudia Neal as Professor Pancoast, Della Shore as Miss Ricks, and Esther Reece as Dear Haworth. The last number was a piano solo by Alice Hazard, which was indeed quite low.

To use a common expression it was a hot debate that was carried on in the Websterian Society Friday night, December 2. Both teams showed lots of preparation and therefore propounded good argument from start to finish. Leslie Murphy, Kenneth Beatty and Cranford Hoyle creditably put forth the affirmative argument on the question, "Resolved: That football should be abolished at Guilford College." But the undaunted argument put forth by the negative speakers, Ray Parrish, Walter Robertson, and Sherman Layton, won the decision of the judges.

A short history of football was then given by Warren Taylor.

CLAY NOTES

President Theodore Doub
 Vice-President Byron Haworth
 Secretary Worth Mackie
 Assistant Sec. Justice Strickland
 Chaplain Charles K. White
 Sergeant-at-Arms Curry Spivey

Due to the fact that the Henry Clay society was to be entertained the night of the regular meeting, a meeting was called Wednesday afternoon for the purpose of installation of new officers.

The officers installed were: President, Theodore Doub; Vice-President, Byron Haworth; Secretary, Worth Mackie; Assistant Secretary, Justice Strickland; Chaplain, Charles K. White; Sergeant at Arms, Curry Spivey.

The society was glad to re-instate as full fledged Henry Clays the following: Robert Griffin, Howard Trivette, Moore Rabb, Pat Stewart, and Hardin Kimrey.

DR. ARCH RIDDICK SAYS GUILFORD RANKS HIGH

Says Training Under Dr. Binford Gave Good Foundation for Medical School Work Later.

GUILFORD IS KNOWN, RESPECTED

In chapel service recently Dr. A. L. Riddick told the students something about how Guilford ranks in comparison with other colleges.

"I find that Guilford College is known and respected throughout the South and throughout the East," he said, "but I also find that many who have attended larger colleges or universities and who have had the benefit of fraternities and other like organizations are more thorough and more advanced in many respects than the graduate of a small college." However, when he was taking a post-graduate course in a large university, following the methods of Guilford College in teaching helped him to go ahead in the right way, "And I found that the principles taught one here in my science courses were the same principles I needed and used in my work there."

A person must have a foundation for his life work and it must be builded broad enough so that it will hold.

Even though this is a day of specialization some people say not to specialize. "I would say, don't specialize too early, but at least know your trend." This can be better ascertained at a small college like Guilford, where one can come in contact with and know the professors individually. This contact gives one "the privilege of coming to Guilford for knowledge in one's courses, and for taking away the ideals of highest type of men that one can meet in the world today."

THE ATHLETIC GIRLS HAVE AFTERNOON TEA

Awards Are Given by Miss Gilbert for Last Season's Good Work and Teams Picked

On Tuesday afternoon, November 23, a tea was given in the Zatasian society hall, from four till five-thirty o'clock for the hockey teams. Sarah Jinnette, manager, and mistress of ceremonies for the afternoon, introduced the following speakers: Maie Hollady, senior team captain; Laura Ballinger, Junior team captain; Nellie Thomas, Sophomore team captain; and Mary Ellen Lassiter, Freshman team captain. They spoke respectively on the following technical plays: Sticks, Roll-in, Goals, and Bully-off.

Miss Dorothy Gilbert, coach of girls athletics, awarded a star to Ailene Beeson, a letter to Maie Hollady and numerals to Myrtle Richardson, Ethel Richardson, Sarah Jinnette, Evelyn Braxton, and Alma Hassell. These awards would have been given last spring if there had been an active interest in girls athletics at that time. Miss Gilbert also announced the varsity team. The members are C. F., Ballinger; R. L., Wolfe; L. I., M. Hollady; L. W., N. Thomas; R. W., S. Jinnette; L. H., Hammond; R. H., McPherson; C. H., L. Marshburn; L. F., L. Beeson; R. F., Kendall; G., Newlin.

Probably the most important event of the afternoon was the election of Nellie Thomas as hockey manager for next year.

The refreshments, consisting of tea, cake, and sandwiches, were then served and immensely enjoyed.

The following corrections have been asked to be made: When the write up of the girls hockey tournament was printed in this paper two weeks ago the scores of the Sophomore-Senior game and the Junior-Senior game were misprinted. They should read as follows: Sophomores, 1, Seniors 2; and Juniors 0, Seniors 2.
