ANNUAL FACULTY STUDENT BANQUET IS SURPASSING SUCCESS

Student Body Expresses Appreciation

Saturday night, December 18, was the occasion of the annual Faculty-Student Christmas banquet. Assembling at the Library, the student body and their hosts and hostesses formed a procession to Founders Hall; where the Women's Chorus and Men's Glee Club were singing carols, at the door of the lighted dining room. Candy canes and individual favors were at each place, and decorations of evergreen and twined streamers had transformed the room into a festal background for the banquet.

Professor Samuel Haworth presided as toastmaster, and prepared the company for the coming of Santa Claus—alias Dr. Binford. In the traditional manner of Christmas, he presented the members of his collegiate family with gifts.

To Julia Junior Dr. Binford gave Fellowship. Ira Newlin accepted it for his class, as a gift to be cherished, to be carried from Guilford into life after graduation as it was represented at its best by the Christmas spirit of fellowship.

Fanny Freshman received a Guilford pennant representing the Guilford College that the faculty offers them. Elizabeth Braswell responded for the Freshmen, expressing their sincere appreciation of the characteristics of the gift.

Frances Osborne accepted for Sampson Sophomore a small model airplane symbolizing a world-wide view point.

Solomon Senior represented by Sidney Winslow received from Dr. Binford an American flag, in token of the National recognition which Guilford can now confer upon its Seniors.

Santa Claus himself was introduced to a fifth member of his family who reversed the habitual order by giving instead of receiving a gift. Henry Tew, for the student body, presented Dr. Binford with a twenty-one jewel Gruen watch, as an expression of their deep

WALTER ROBERTSON IS 1927 FOOTBALL CAPTAIN

Succeeds Murray White as Leader of the Fighting Quakers For Coming
Grid Season

A POWERFUL BACKFIELD MAN

Guilford College football squad is radical, at least this was the spirit shown in a meeting held immediately after the close of the football season when Walter L. Robertson of Mt. Airy, N. C., was elected captain of the Crimson and Gray for the season of 1927-1928. The Guilford team could find no fault in their previous Captain, Murray White. It was only an expression of their anti-conservatism and their belief in office rotation that they chose Robertson to pilot them through the coming season, which will be marked with many perilous struggles.

Mr. Robertson merits such a position, since he has so well established his name in the line up of the Guilford team, and has shown only the evidence of good sportsmanship during his football career at Guilford College.

Old Meeting House

The old New Garden Meeting House of the Society of Friends stood in the graveyard near the giant oak. It was completed in the Revolutionary days and was used as a hospital for soldiers wounded at the Battle of Guilford Court House. This is another of the scenes to be used in the 1927 Quaker.

DR. PERISHO GIVES DATA ON GUILFORD

Gives County Clubs a Few Talking Points to Use in Advertising Guilford

GUILFORD IS GROWING

Dr. Perisho spoke in chapel Wednesday morning with reference to the newly organized county clubs, and some of the work possible for them to do.

In the student body here there are nine states "not including the District of Columbia," and thirty-nine counties of this state represented. Naturally, Guilford County heads the list as having the most representatives here. Alamance and Wayne follow second and third. Randolph, Forsythe, and Yadkin counties tie for fourth place.

"People used to talk about the three 'R's'" said Dr. Perisho, "but I would like to mention the three 'C's', the county clubs can do much good work for Guilford College." There are many subjects relating to this college which can be discussed with interest and conviction, when present students are talking with prospective students "back home." Guilford is working hard to attain a faculty large enough and a student body small enough so that every one can come into personal contact with their professors and teachers. Genuineness of character, genuineness of life, and a sane view-point, these are the qualities which the well meaning faculty here wishes to impart to the students going out from this institution. During this year Guilford College has made much progress. This fall a conference of the colleges and universities of North Caro-

COUNTY CLUBS ARE FORMED AND BEGIN PROMOTION EFFORT

Mr. Cranford Hoyle Is Elected President of Club Group to Advertise Guilford

TO VISIT HIGH SCHOOLS

Their Object Is to Get the Better
Class of Students To Come To Guilford College

Cranford Hoyle was elected president of the "All County Club" at a meeting of the representatives of the county clubs, which was held here last Wednesday night; Doris Tew was elected secretary.

The organization of county clubs came as a result of a chapel talk last Monday morning, given by Dr. Binford. He said, "For a number of years after the war colleges have faced the problem of a great influx of students of all kinds, many of whom were either not prepared or did not have the ability for college work. Hence a system of elimination has grown up by which colleges are re-adjusting themselves to ordinary numbers."

Following up these remarks, Dr. Binford suggested that county clubs be organized so that the different students from the same county may become better acquainted, and so that some constructive work can be done during the Christmas Holidays in getting the Seniors, of the high schools represented here, interested in the advantages which Guilford college has to offer them.

JOSEPH COX EDITOR OF THE GUILFORDIAN

Ira Newlin Elected Managing Editor, Frances Osborne, Atkinson Other Officials

TO TAKE OFFICE IN JAN.

The Guilfordian will continue to be a weekly publication, however, under a different arrangement of supervision beginning with the next semester.

New elections were held Wednesday night, December 15. Byron Haworth, who has ably served as editor-in-chief since elections last year, is now succeeded by Joseph Cox, who has been serving in the capacity of managing editor. Mr. Cox is well capable of this position, due to previous years of experience in this work.

Ira G. Newlin takes the place of Mr. Cox as managing editor. Mr. Newlin goes to this work with the qualifications which have come through his ability as associate-editor as well as a reporter.

Frances Osborne, due to her competent and efficient work as associate editor during the previous year, was re-elected to that position for the coming year.

Robert Atkins, who has shown unusual ability as a reporter was elected to succeed Mr. Newlin as associate-editor.

Basketball Practice in Full Swing as Doak Gets His Material Lined Up For Early Jan. Games

Basketball practice at Guilford is now well under way. Coach Doak has already cut the squad and is now driving the men hard. Plenty of good material seems to be prevalent and a prosperous season is promised. Of last year's letter men only three are back. They are Coble and Captain Coltrane, guards, and Moore, center. Griffin and Smith forwards of last year's squad are out. Marshall and Ayers of last year's freshman team are also back. Marshall is a guard while Ayers plays equally as well either forward or guard, but will no doubt be used as forward because of the scarcity of forwards. Beatty and Pamperin, freshmen, are showing up quite well as forwards, Rabb and Holt will furnish Moore plenty of competition at center. Coach Doak has shifted these men into various combinations in an effort to get the best working one. Up until now he has used two to the best advantage. In the first combination Griffin and Coble play as forwards, Moore center, and Marshal and Coletrane guards. In the second one Griffin and Ayers, or Smith forwards, Moore center and Coble and Coletrane guards.

A schedule has been arranged which is the best one in years from the students viewpoint. A northern trip will not be taken this year as in former years, but instead there will be more home games and more games with state teams. The first game on the schedule is with State College at Raleigh January 8.

For this reason the basket ball team will be called back for practice before the holidays are over. They will report to Coach Doak about December 31st.

SWIMMING POOL

Last spring the faculty and students contributed money in order to build a swimming pool. The total receipts were $78.39. The total expenditures were $72.31. The payments and receipts were looked over by Warren Taylor, Wilmer Steele, and Mr. Cole and everything was found to be satisfactory.

QUAKER CONTRACTS HAVE BEEN LET AND DETAIL WORK BEGINS

Queen City Printing Co. and Wrigley Engraving Co. Get Respective Jobs

TO COST ABOUT $1,900

Pictures of Historic New Garden School
Are to Be Used—If You Have Any
Please Loan Them For Use

The orphan Quaker is celebrating Christmas by securing a home for itself. Since it is to play an important part in this world, the business manager deemed it advisable to give it two homes. One of these may be found with the Wrigley Engraving company in Atlanta, Ga., the other with the Queen City Printing Company in Charlotte. These companies have been recommended by other orphan annuals as being among the most desirable homes. Their prices together for the upkeep of our annual will be approximately $1900.

On each division page will appear a picture of some historic campus building, such as New Garden Boarding School, the King Halls which were burned etc. In order to complete this set it was necessary that a cut, or picture, of the old grammar school building that stood near the old meeting house be secured. The only vivid available picture of it was presented to Uncle Joe Cannon by the college a few years ago, since it was in this school that his father taught. A letter has been sent to his family asking permission to borrow the picture long enough to have a cut made from it.

Much material has already been received by the Staff, and the dummy is completed in its first rough draft form.

All the photographs for the first section have been taken and proofs received. The photographer is now at work on them. As soon as possible after vacation all group pictures will be taken. The photographic work is being rapidly completed, at the same time, and the work is most satisfactory.

While Santa Claus is visiting this Christmas why not ask him, in a kind way, for an extra donation so that picture cuts may be completed at an early date? By explaining to him how much each person's picture means to the annual, and how much this annual is going to mean to Guilford, it is obvious that he will be kind in return. A few of

CHRISTMAS PROGRAM GIVEN BY THE Y. W.

The Christmas program of the Y. W. C. A. of Guilford College was given Thursday evening. Christmas carols were sung as the audience entered. Following this, Maie Hollady, president of the Y. W. gave a talk welcoming the Y. M. C. A. and the other guests of the evening.

A prophecy from Isaiah was given by Nell Stinson, and the Magnificat by Sara Edgerton. A tableau of the three wise men bringing gifts to the Christ-child was represented by members from the Y. M. and Y. W. The audience then sang "O Little Town of Bethlehem," followed by a prayer service.

A pageant—"The Gift for the King" symbolized the search for a gift worthy to be given to the King. Greed, pleasure, wealth, were considered, but finally Love, which means Self-Service and Sacrifice, was chosen to be the only gift worthy to be given to the King.

The program was planned and directed by Alice Hazard.
