

YELLOW FEVER EDITION OF THE GUILFORDIAN

Vote
for Al
Smith

Four Pages
Today

VOLUME XIII

GUILFORD COLLEGE, N. C., MAY 18, 1927

NUMBER 28

TURMOIL AND UPROAR SPLIT CAMPUS

STUDENTS RESENT A FACULTY ATTEMPT FORCE MORE SOCIALS

Power of Dining Room Committee May Be Used Against Faculty by Powerful Council

VIOLENCE IS EXPECTED

Women's Student Government is Successfully Maintaining Order Among Most Radical Groups in Cox Hall

(Editor's Note: See picture of campus disrupted by turmoil and uproar on page 3).

Amid scenes of wildest disorder, with the warring factions of both faculty and students flying at each other's throats; the Guilford College campus found itself ablaze with one of the bitterest party strifes that has ever before baffled the attempts of the sheriffs of three counties to quell. In spite of the fact that some of the students did not fully get the gist of the rising flood of the great tumult, the astute leadership on the part of a few caused them to scrutinize the facts, and the campus of that institution was turned into a turbulent state of hysterical uproar. (See picture of campus in uproar on page three).

The whole affair came to a head when the social committee met the next day to receive the report of the faculty committee that was appointed by the faculty to notify the student body of the increase in social privileges. The social committee felt that it needed the support of the student body, so the presidents of the Men's and Women's Student Councils were asked to call coun-

(Continued on Page Two)

Big Dance Features Evening At Junior-Senior Banquet

PAUL REYNOLDS WITH HIS JAZZ BAND PLAYS AT SEMI-ANNUAL HOP

Miss Gladys Tapley and Charles Friddle Are Prize Couple of Strenuous Evening

WALDO WILLIAMS CHOKED

Sid Winslow With Presidents of Y. W. and Y. M. and Student Government Have Desirable Accident

To the astonishment of the two classes the annual Junior-Senior Banquet held in the King Cotton Wednesday evening, was a large success.

The long table in the center of the Ball Room was decorated with sweet peas and holly without berries. The menu was as follows: fruit cocktail, raw peanuts, soured cucumbers, unbroiled chicken without liver, succotash, Guilford boiled potatoes and new unstrung beans, turnip salad en Mayonnaise, petite strawberry mousse et cake, almonds Demi Tin (Tasse).

In the annual hop which followed the banquet, Miss Gladys Tapley and her partner Mr. Charlie Friddle were recognized as the most graceful couple on the floor, Professor Samuel Haworth, who refused at first on the pretense that dancing is immoral, showed unusual skill for an amateur in the last round. The dance music furnished by

(Continued on Page Three)

PAUL REYNOLDS' ORCHESTRA

CRANFORD HOYLE IS SUCCESSOR TO MISS TAPLEY, NOW DEAN

Is Choice of Girls and Present Dean Over Tom Hadley, the Other Candidate

IS A FAVORITE OF DEAN

Announcement has been made that Cranford Hoyle will succeed Miss Gladys Tapley as Dean of Women for the Summer School session beginning June 9th at Guilford College.

The student body and prospective students feel quite sure of the capabilities of Mr. Hoyle to fill this capacity and the incumbent, Miss Tapley, speaks very highly of his qualifications.

For some time quite an association has been known to have existed be-

(Continued on Page Two)

Byron Hayworth Wins Football Captainship in a Poker Game

WINNER

BYRON HAYWORTH

LOSER

WALT ROBERTSON

WALTER ROBERTSON IS LOSER OF TITLE

Mr. Hayworth Proves His Supremacy at Great International Pastime

ROBERTSON RESENTFUL

Playing one of the most brilliant hands of his whole career as a participant of the great international pastime, Byron A. Hayworth won the football captaincy from Walter Robertson here last night on the local table located in Dr. Binford's office.

It seems that there has been considerable discussion on the campus as who was the better player, so they met before a large gallery to settle once and for all this burning question. On further investigation, Sheriff Steel also found that the participants, having been low in pecuniary resources, had found it necessary to resort to strip poker. It seems that Byron made a bad start, for it was not long until the future looked very bare for Mr. Hayworth. However, living up to his reputation of always accomplishing what he sets out to do, Mr. Hayworth made a brilliant rally at the crisis and the result was the rapid loss of Mr. Robertson. In fact it was so rapid that before the spectators could fully grasp the significance of it, Mr. Robertson found himself in a position that would greatly inconvenience his journey from Memorial Hall to Cox Hall. Things became intensified when in a fit of desperation, Mr. Robertson put his last earthly possession on the stake, namely his Football captaincy. All eyes were trained on the players as they drew for this history making affair. The air was still further intensified with the fragrance of rose perfume that floated from the open door of the chemistry laboratory. The wind in the trees made a low moaning sound, and across the hall could be heard the dull clink, clink of the coins rattling in the treasurer's office. All of these diversi-

(Continued on Page Three)

Doak's Quaker Moralists Whip Senators to a Nub

DOAK WINS GAME

Moore Rabb Gets Home Run and Little Napoleon Hire Makes Unassisted Triple Play

XXXII AND 1-2 TO XXXI

Whisenhunt Pitches Air Tight Ball For Six Innings—Doak Had Expected to Face Tom Zachary

In an air tight slugging contest featured by stellar pitching on the part of Whisenhunt, sensational fielding of Napoleon Hire and the unmatched strategy of Coach Bob Doak, the Fighting Quaker Moralists won over the Washington Senators in an exhibition game 32 1-2 to 31. The Senators never threatened except in the seventh inning when they batted around three and one half times before they were retired by an unassisted triple play on the part of Napoleon Hire.

Coveleskie held the Quaker sluggers hitless for the first two innings due to their disappointment in not meeting Tom Zachary, late of the Quaker nine and later of the Senators. It seems from all reports that Coach Doak was depending upon a pull with Tom and was going to have a victory handed out as an advertising feature for Guilford, the fact having slipped his mind said hurler was now the property of St. Louis.

COACH DOAK

Whisenhunt had a slight stroke of stage fright as the first batter faced him and proceeded to walk him; after which Coach Bob walked out to the box and whispered fatherly encouragement in his ear. A rousing cheer from

(Continued on Page Two)

Miss Laura Worth Ambushes Cherry Thieves by Timely Discharge of Artillery, Alleged

Two persons were injured and the state track record broken Friday night in the vicinity of a neighboring cherry orchard.

A group of boys were peacefully roosting in a large cherry tree when a shell, alleged to have been owned by Laura Worth, exploded. Immediately after the trigger of the fire-arm was pulled all the strength suddenly vanquished from Paul Chandler's limbs and as a consequence he fell to earth below. Being entirely in accordance with the law of conservation of mass it seems that "Hook's" lost energy immediately entered the muscles of Cranford Hoyle's lower limbs. Just as this transforming reaction took place Hoyle felt it quite expedient that he proceed to immediate action. In the few moments that followed he cut one and two fifths seconds off the state 220 low hurdle record and five seconds off the 440.

Mr. Hoyle is in a serious condition due to over exertion but it is believed that he will recover in time to be installed into his new office. Mr. Chandler is rapidly regaining his lost strength. The doctors say he will soon be able to resume his irregular class attendance.

IRELAND AND HOLT WILL NOT VISIT IN ALAMANCE

Contrary to current reports that were for some time regarded as official, it has been verified in an interview with Tommy Hadley that Dan Ireland and French Holt will not visit their respective homes in Alamance County this week-end.

Mr. Ireland refused to give an interview and the reason for the postponement could not be discerned although Mr. Holt stated emphatically that no breach had occurred between the two.

The Quaker
Is Here