

ANNUAL GUILFORD HIKE ENTERTAINS NEW SCHOLASTICS

Periodical Trudge Is Enacted With New Material Much in the Majority

PERISHO AGAIN SPEAKS

Students Return Safely Before Dark and Enjoy a 7:00 Supper—Very Few Remain on the Campus

By CLAIRE TRUEBLOOD

The hike to the Guilford Battleground Saturday was a noteworthy success. The group of hikers assembled in front of Founders Hall at twelve-thirty, and after a few preliminaries, such as taking snapshots and finding agreeable partners, the party started off, taking the route through the timber, as it was the shorter one. At first the group appeared to be playing "Last Couple Out," but after the first mile or so one had no trouble at all in keeping up. Had it not even been for the battleground itself the day would have been well spent merely by giving the students such an excellent opportunity to walk along the rustic little timber road, which added especially to the romantic spirit because of the time of year and general surroundings.

The trip over took approximately an hour and a half. Upon arriving, everyone proceeded to quench his thirst, which may or may not have been done, but at least the well was pumped dry in the attempt. The entire group then looked over the grounds, which were very nearly perfect, both as to plan and appearance. The older students found a great deal of pleasure in the visit, but of course it was of especial enjoyment to those who were there for the first time.

By three-thirty everyone had his curiosity satisfied, so the crowd gathered near the auditorium to partake of some much-needed nourishment. According to Dr. Perisho, the coffee was none too good, but most everyone doubted his correctness, and according to the way

Team is Strongest in Backfield But Many New Men in Line Weaken That Part of Eleven

Guilford lost its initial football contest to Roanoke by the score of 26 to 0. The game was played at Roanoke under sweltering heat that was more like baseball weather.

Although it was the first game of the season, against a strong team, Coach Crawford's charges made a very creditable showing, and a good team may be expected by the time the season gets under way.

The Quakers elected to receive to start the game. The ball was kicked to Moore, who returned it ten yards. Then Guilford opened up an offensive

WILLIAMS TO HEAD GOSPEL TEAM WORK

Rev. McFarland Urges Team to Plan Extensive Visits to Rural Churches

WORK WILL BEGIN SOON

Lewis McFarland, Evangelistic Superintendent of the North Carolina Yearly Meeting spoke in chapel September 29 concerning the reorganization of the Gospel teams. He said in brief: "Last year the gospel teams did a tremendous amount of valuable work in the Friends' centers. Many of the meetings have asked to have the gospel teams return this year. I am very anxious that the gospel teams should be reorganized again this year. They help to draw the college and the members of the Yearly Meeting closer together. I am especially anxious that we should visit all the rural churches within a radius of 60 miles of the college this year. The rural churches send Guilford the majority of her students and we should do all we can for the rural communities in return."

Under the supervision of Mr. McFarland and Rev. Joseph Peele the students of the college met at noon on

Campaign to Raise $620,000 Is Proposed By the Trustees

New System of Receiving Freshmen Girls Is Marked by Sophomore-Freshman Hay-Ride

The Sophomore-Freshmen hay ride marks the beginning of a new system of receiving the freshmen girls at Guilford college. This was used to demonstrate to the new girls that college is a place where every one should feel at home, instead of a place where all the students must submit to every wish and whim of the sophomores and upperclassmen.

After a formal ceremony, which took place before the big bonfire, Mr. Hazing was brought forth in a black casket and cremated. His ashes lay scattered over the nearby fields as a standing vow and promise that every young woman who has had the privilege of entering Guilford college as a freshmen will not be hazed. She will not be asked to submit to a position of inferiority; she will not have to go through with the many embarrassments that hazing demands. On the other hand these ashes signify that these same young women will enter Guilford with equal privileges. So with waves of approval from the members of both classes, hazing was finally and officially abolished at Guilford college.

With a huge bonfire and plenty of marshmallows to toast, and amid cheers and singing, the evening ended.

OLD BARN FINALLY RECEIVES A POLISH

Efforts of Coach Crawford and Mrs. Andrews Result in the Painting of Gymnasium

FALL PROGRAM STARTED

The gymnasium has been rehabilitated during the past two weeks expectant of the coming basketball season. Since it is not very probable that a new gym will be constructed any time in the near future, it was found advisable to improve the condition of the building. Due to the influence of Mrs. Andrews, the physical education director for the women, and Coach Crawford, several essential improvements have taken place. The floor has been reworked, and all rough or irregular places removed. New goals and back stops have been erected. The walls have been painted a cream color, up to the bottom of the windows, making the floor much lighter. A suspended platform has been constructed upon the wall, near the center of the floor, for the time and score keepers. The lighting system has been improved, and new guards have been placed over the lights. The gym is now probably in the best condition it has been in for several years.

The classes in basketball and calisthenics have already been formed and the regular fall program started.

WED. CHAPEL PERIOD FOR SILENT WORSHIP

Each Wednesday Morning This Meeting is Conducted Strictly According to Friends' Custom

According to the Friends' custom, Dr. Binford has asked that the Wednesday morning chapel periods be set aside for "quiet worship." Every one enters quietly and remains silent. If anyone feels prompted he may speak. This meeting closes with the usual handshake of fellowship.

On Wednesday morning Professor Samuel Haworth made a few remarks on "Knowing God." Everybody prays, say psychologists, however, many are unconscious of the fact. They do not have any definite consciousness of God; yet every person's prayers are their conception of what God is. Even if many have put Him out of their lives, they often come to the place when they think of Him in some manner. Everyone can find in experience that God is a reality.

Pauline Chaffin Elected Secretary and Myray Gamble Is Chosen Treasurer

A SUFFRAGIST ELECTION?

The Sophomore Class expressed a little originality in its regular class meeting, Tuesday evening, when the following officers were elected: President, Esther Reece; vice-president, Alden Hunt; secretary, Pauline Chaffin; treasurer, Myray Gamble; marshal, Mary Pearson.

There was no other business in particular, other than that the subject of representatives to the Annual staff was discussed. The class decided to leave the selection of two members to the staff.

REV. MILO S. HINKLE IS HEARD IN CHAPEL

The Simplicity and Meekness in the Life of Christ the Basis of The Talk Thursday

SUFFERING OF CHRIST PICTURED

The Rev. Milo Hinkle, pastor of the Asheboro Street Friends Church, of Greensboro, in an address before the student body in chapel Tuesday based his trend of thought on Bushnell's widely read book, The Character of Christ.

The climax to the various thoughts brought out in the address was the simplicity and meekness in the life of Christ, his godly ability to suffer calmly, without murmuring, without cursing those who inflicted the punishment. "They thought that in killing Him they had destroyed all; but ever since the world has had to reckon with Him as with no other man that ever lived." Christ introduced, Rev. Mr. Hinkle explained, a new and beautiful conception of an idealized life. "His whole life was one of tolerance and sympathy, of peace and love. He introduced the new truth that there is no honor in inflicting pain and agony but only in yielding meekly to those who seek to harm and taking with a godly calm the cruelties of life." The heroic suffering of Christ was depicted as follows: "He suffered as no man before nor since; and all this He endured with a calmness that was more than

RICHARD HOLLOWELL REPORTS IN DETAIL ALL IMPROVEMENTS

President Raymond Binford Gives Statistics Regarding Opening of College

TOTAL ENROLLMENT 291

The Meeting of the Official College Board Was Featured By the Social With the Faculty Members

The board of trustees, in joint session with the advisory committee and representatives from the college faculty, met here Saturday afternoon and evening to further discuss and carry on the improvement program which was begun last spring. They also heard a report from the endowment committee recommending that a campaign to raise $620,000 endowment fund be undertaken.

The most important report of the evening was that of Richard L. Hollowell, chairman of the buildings and grounds committee. Mr. Hollowell gave a detailed account of the many improvements that have already been made and those that are now near completion. A boiler house of sufficient capacity to hold an additional boiler when necessary, so as to heat all the buildings now on the campus and those likely to be erected in the future from one central heating plant is practically completed. In addition to this, a new laundry is being built. As an addendum to the new boiler house, a brick smokestack with a concrete foundation stands nearly a hundred feet in the air.

After making many repairs in Founders Hall, the committee directed its attention to the remodeling of Archdale hall, one of the boys' dormitories. The rooms in Archdale hall have all been worked over, new floors have been laid, new tile showers baths with toilets and lavatories have been installed complete; the Archdale hot water sys-

PERPLEXED BUT NOT IN DESPAIR, SUNDAY TOPIC

"Perplexed, but not in Despair," was the text of Rev. Peele's Sunday morning sermon. These are the words of Paul, found in the fourth chapter, eighth verse of 11 Corinthians. Mr. Peele's sermon in part follows:

"Paul was a man who overcame many obstacles to bring the word of God to the people. In many instances, God helped Paul in time of need. God has always been teaching that we must depend on Him in time of need. Jesus was a Saviour in perplexing circumstances. Paul did not despair when thrown in prison; he had faith in God. "A struggle of some kind is necessary for the building of a great character. As examples of men who made good under perplexing circumstances, let us consider Horace Greeley and Benjamin Franklin. A boy or girl who does not succeed because of poverty, would hardly be a success if he or she were rich. No predicament is so great that we cannot overcome it by God's help."

He closed his sermon by reading from W. D. Barton on "Opportunity and Occasions for Prayer."
