

Crawford and Football Men Honored at Dinner

ALUMNI ATTEND

Cranford Hoyle, of S. C., Is Elected Captain of Squad for 1928

A. K. MOORE PRESIDES

Stars Are Awarded Six Men and Letters to Ten Men—Crawford Talks on "Athletic Integrity"

Jan. 7.—A banquet was given in Founders dining hall Saturday evening by the alumni and old students of Guilford College in honor of the football squad of 30 men and their coach, Pat Crawford. The occasion was planned, not on account of the record made by the football team, but to show the real appreciation of the alumni for the faithful and diligent work of the entire squad. Mention was made of the fact that it was necessary for the coach to use men who had never before had on a uniform, yet the efficient training and the splendid physical condition of every man made it possible for the Quakers to outplay the majority of the teams they met in the last quarter of the contest.

A. K. Moore, president of the Alumni Association, acted as toastmaster of the occasion. He introduced the speakers of the evening who paid tribute to the football men and to Coach Pat Crawford's athletic policy of clean sportsmanship by keeping out the ringers.

Prominent Guilfordians were present from High Point, Greensboro, Win-

(Continued on Page Four)

PROF. M'CRACKEN GIVES REPORT OF CONFERENCE

Reviews Conference Discussion of Development of Hydro-Electric Power in N. C.

MAKES VISIT TO MT. VERNON

Jan. 10.—Prof. Duane McCracken gave a report of the economics convention at Washington that he attended during the Christmas holidays, Tuesday morning. Before he began his report, however, he mentioned several other people from the college who had taken extended tours during the holidays, Clare Trueblood required the least finances, but Mr. Noah and Miss Hanna received more experience driving a third-hand Ford. Upon arriving at his destination, Professor McCracken secured a room with Professor Hoover, of Duke University, who he said turned out to be a very congenial room-mate. Professor McCracken stated that the topic for much discussion was the recent development of the hydro-electric power in the Carolinas. Nevertheless, it was stated that North Carolina was not thought of as an economical state and was not recognized economically. In the course of his study at the convention he said that he discovered that there are three kinds of liars, namely: white liars, black liars, and statisticians. During some of his leisure hours, Professor McCracken said that he had visited Mount Vernon, the home of the Father of Our Country. This structure is in a good state of preservation due to the care of the organization that has it in charge. Professor McCracken advised those who had never been to Mount Vernon to go at the first chance they got in order to see the beauty of the whole place and especially the Potomac river winding through the hills.

Max Noah to Be Choir Director

Mr. Max Noah, head of the Music department of the college, recently accepted a position in the Asheboro Street Friends' Church of Greensboro, as choir director and soloist. The Asheboro Street Friends feel themselves very fortunate in acquiring a man as capable as Mr. Noah to accept this position, for he has done extensive work as a soloist and as a chorus director.

BERKHART TALKS ON PROBLEMS OF TODAY

Is Representative of International Association of Religious Education

IDEALS ARE IMPORTANT

Jan. 9.—Guilford's first outside chapel speaker for 1928 was Mr. A. J. Berkhardt, who spoke Monday morning. Mr. Berkhardt is one of the secretaries for the International Association of Religious Education. There are two kinds of people—those who can, do, and those who can't teach. Likewise there are two kinds of speeches. His, Mr. Berkhardt said, was like a rabbit's tail—only a suggestion. In visiting other colleges Mr. Berkhardt discovered that there are several outstanding problems of college men and women. One is that of discovering personality release. Most people show their real personality only in crises. Three men were climbing a mountain in the Alps, tied to each other with a rope. One slipped and two of them were dangling over a precipice. The other pulled out his knife and cut himself loose, watching the others hurled to death beneath. All the world hates a selfish man, but honors an unselfish one. The Cincinnati man whose car stalled on the railroad tracks as a train was approaching, and who saved his sweetheart and a child by giving his own life, showed his personality in full.

A second problem is that of finding a balanced program, of finding your best in college and hence in life. Indian Chief Evergreen said the white people have no poise. Every avenue of life demands poise and it is expressed in character. The Indian acquires his poise through the worship of the Great Spirit and worship causes the beauty of his poise.

Another problem of college men and women is that of finding the technique of friendship-making. It is not the easily made friendship that lasts. The world depends upon the ideals of young manhood and young womanhood. It is the duty of the young college men and women to go out into the world and teach home life and beauty.

Making Amends

A man went to a newspaper office and complained that his death had been announced erroneously.

"Well," said the editor, "we never contradict anything we have published, but I'll tell you what I'll do. I'll put you in the births column tomorrow and give you a fresh start."

GUILFORD FIVE WINS FROM A. C. C. BUT LOSES TO ELONITES

Quakers Lose to Tar Heels With Score of 42-24

ARE SHOWING GOOD FORM

Score in A. C. C. Game Is 34-28, While Quakers Yield to Christians by 24-23

Jan. 14.—In a very close and exciting game at Wilson Saturday night, Guilford defeated A. C. C. 34-28, thereby winning their first college game of the season. While the game was rather rough, brilliant basketball was played at times. The Quakers hopped off to a lead of four points in the first few minutes. They stayed ahead until the end of the first quarter, when the score was knotted, 12 all. A. C. C. was ahead once between then and the end of the half when Guilford was leading, 20 to 16. After this the score was tied several times, but the Christians never were ahead. In the last five minutes of play Guilford gathered a six-point lead, Coltrane shooting two field goals and Coble one. Guilford then froze the ball until the end of the game. The Quakers resorted to a fast passing attack, shooting only under the basket, while the A. C. C. team resorted to long shots frequently. The whole Guilford team played well, Haworth being high scorer. The bright lights for the Christians were Fulghum and Munn.

Guilford vs. Elon

Jan. 10.—Tuesday evening, in a furiously contested game, the Elon quintet defeated the Quaker five by the narrow margin of one point. The Guilford team presented an impregnable defense, which often forced the Elon boys to shoot from the center of the court. Guilford pierced the Elon defense easily and, but for their inconsistent

(Continued on Page Four)

COMMUNITY CHORAL CLUB SINGS SUNDAY

Large Audience Appreciative. Club Appears Best in "Pilgrim's Chorus"

PROGRAM AT HIGH POINT

The Guilford College community chorus was quite successful in its concert at High Point Friends church Sunday evening, January 15. The church was crowded and many were turned away for lack of room. The audience seemed very well pleased with the work of the chorus and other numbers.

The chorus itself sang three big numbers. Probably it sang best the "Pilgrims' Chorus" from Wagner's "Tannhauser." The coloring was very good for an amateur chorus. In "The Heavens Are Telling," by Haydn, Josephine Paul, Glenn Robertson and Paul Reynolds sang the special trio. This number is a very difficult one, yet was done very well. The closing chorus was the "Hallelujah Chorus" from "The Messiah."

The two glee clubs, the Euphonians and the Minnesingers, each sang a group of songs. Each of the clubs appeared quite artistically, especially the Minnesingers in their first number, "Far Away in the South," by Adams. A double quartet from the men's glee club sang two selections which were much appreciated by the congregation.

Mr. Noah appeared with an interesting solo from "The Messiah," in which he showed good musicianship, and excellent tone quality. He also played three organ numbers as prelude, offertory and postlude.

The program in its entirety follows: Organ prelude, "Offertoire in A Flat," Read—Prof. Max Noah.

"Would God I Were a Tender Apple Blossom," Weidig; "Just for Today," Abbot; "Thanks Be to God," Dickson; "Pilgrims' Chorus," Tannhauser—Community Chorus.

(Continued on Page Three)

H. S. TOURNAMENT HELD AT GUILFORD DURING PAST WEEK

14 Guilford County Schools Participate in Exciting Contest

SUMNER IS CHAMPION

Meet Sponsored by Coach Crawford; Trophies Offered by Phipps and Odell's, Inc.

Jan. 11.—During the past week the Guilford County High School Basketball tournament has been held in the Guilford College gymnasium, the finals occurring on Wednesday evening when Sumner High School in a fast game overcame its last opponent, Gibsonville, claiming the championship. The tournament was planned by Coach Pat Crawford and the trophies were donated by Phipps Hardware Company. Fourteen high schools participated in the contest. They were: Guilford, Bessemer, Summerfield, Nathaniel Greene, Alamance, Jamestown, Sumner, MeLeansville, Stokesdale, Rankin, Gibsonville, Monticella, Colfax, and Pleasant Garden.

On Friday, January 6, the first day of the tournament, the majority of the teams exhibited a good brand of high school basketball. The gymnasium was filled most of the time and much enthusiasm was shown. At two in the afternoon, Guilford High played Bessemer, the latter winning with a score of 21-16. Summerfield won over Nathaniel Greene 37-20 in the 3 o'clock game. At four the Jamestown and

(Continued on Page Two)

QUESTIONNAIRE SHOWS FAVORABLE OPINIONS

168 Students Express Opinion of Guilfordian Make-Up and Offer Suggestions

SUBSCRIBERS' IDEAS SOLICITED

Just before Christmas vacation the "Guilfordian Questionnaire" was presented to the students in an effort to find out their opinions of the paper, as well as to solicit their criticisms. In response to this effort, 55 freshmen, 47 sophomores, 49 juniors, 17 seniors, and two faculty members filled out the blanks.

One hundred and sixty-two of these people usually read the daily paper, while 17 do not; 157 belong to literary societies and 36 do not, while 154 receive the Guilfordian and 32 do not. In the question of reading the paper partially or fully, an almost even division was found, in that 88 people read it fully and 87 partially. Sixty-three persons believed that the paper had improved in recent years, and four thought that it had degenerated; six believe that it had degenerated during the past year, although 100 think it has improved. Opinion seemed to be varied in regard to more write-ups of past events, the "Yes" taking 68 and the "No" 41. With the exception of one, 162 wished more write-ups of future events. In regard to the various types of articles read, the results were as follows: Chapel talks, 73; society notes, 118; play write-ups, 120; elections, 89; feature articles, 106; Y. M. and Y. W., 83; jokes, 132; lectures, 73; pre-write-ups of athletics, 123; athletic contests, 150; interviews, 62; Sunday

(Continued on Page Two)

TO OUR SUBSCRIBERS

NOTE: The following is the questionnaire presented to the Guilford students recently. It is requested that all GUILFORDIAN subscribers fill out the blanks below and return to the GUILFORDIAN office. The suggestions and opinions of our readers are urgently solicited. We thank you.

GUILFORDIAN QUESTIONNAIRE

1. Do you usually read the daily papers?
 2. Do you receive the Guilfordian?
 3. Do you read it fully or partially?
 4. Do you think it has improved or degenerated in recent years?
 5. Do you think it has improved or degenerated this year?
 6. Would you like to have more write-ups of past events?
 7. Do you like special and feature articles on future events and current campus topics?
 8. Do you usually read the following types of articles and would you like to have more of them? (Indicate by checking)

Chapel talks	Athletic contests
Society notes	Interviews
Play write-ups	Sunday sermons
Election of officers	Clippings
Feature articles	Debating
Y. M. and Y. W. notes	Alumni notes
Jokes	Poetry
Music write-ups	Editorials
Lectures	Paragraphs
Pre-write-ups of athletics	Open Forums
 9. Do you support our advertisers?
 10. Do you have any suggestions or remarks concerning the editorial policy of the paper?
 11. Did you enjoy the Yellow Fever Edition last year?
 12. Would you like another?
 13. Do you have any general suggestions to improve the paper?
 14. Are you interested in contributing to the GUILFORDIAN?
- Name..... Address.....