QUAKES

The victory of the Quakers over the Lynchburg Hornets marks the close of a glorious football season. It also ends the football career of four members of the second championship team, for the last time will Ragan, Murphy, Patrick, and Barclay Newlin wear the crimson and gray.

The loss of these Seniors will be somewhat compensated by the large number of freshmen who have won letters this year. If six freshmen can win letters on a championship team Coach Anderson need not worry about the 1930 edition of the Quakers.

Ragan, affectionately known as "Hop," has completed his last season as a wearer of the Quakers moleskin, although hampered by the fact of his ineligibility against Little Six opponents he has come through magnificently. Ragan is quite an all-round football player, playing equally well as an end and teacher. Well good-bye Hop, the Mullins family will miss you.

Speaking of live-wire business men, we have one in the person of Carlyle Shepard. "Pop" has pulled the Athletic Association up to the point, financially speaking, where in a season or two the A. A. will climb out of the embarrassing situation that it now holds.

As it usually happens in giving credit where credit is due there is some one who is left out, this happened in the last edition of the GUILFORDIAN. The editor is very sorry that the name of Harris Moore was omitted from the list of Quaker reserves. His value to the team can be attested by the fact that he has been nominated by his team mates to receive his letter this year.

The strength of the Quaker basketball team is as yet an unknown quantity, but with one of the largest squads ever to report and the hard workouts that Coach Anderson is giving them they will no doubt make a creditable showing in "Little Six" circles this year, so come on and lets give three cheers for the Quaker basketball team.

The close voting in the election of the football captain attests to the fact of the popularity of the two candidates. It was necessary to vote twice in order to determine who the Quaker leader would be; Lippencott finally winning out over Tom Cheek. The playing of both has been exceptionally good in the past and of course it was a difficult task for many of the squad to decide between these two outstanding athletes.

PROSPECTS OF GOOD CAGE TEAM POOR AS PRACTICE BEGINS

With but Three Letter Men Returned, Coach Anderson Tough Proposition.

START WISCONSIN SYSTEM

Much Depends Upon Showing of New Material Who Must Fill the Vacancies on the Team.

With only three letter men back from last years squad the prospect for the Guilfordian basketball team are looking rather gloomy. To add to this, Coach Anderson is introducing a new style of play, the Wisconsin system, and it will undoubtedly take some time for the boys to perfect it, every one seems to like this system exceptionally well, however, and with the large supply of new material which has come in, it is hoped that Coach Anderson will be able to mold a winning team. The Wisconsin system of play is based on short passes and quick close shots, full cooperation from every member of the squad is needed in order to master this method, but once it is mastered they should be able to make a much better showing than they would otherwise. Great success, has been attained from the use of this method by other schools of the state, and the Quakers should also be able to use this to good advantage.

Alley, Chisholm and Yelverton (C) are the letter men from last year's squad; also Cheek, one of last year's ablest reserves, is back. Alley and Chisholm are running at forwards with Captain Yelverton and Cheek at the guards, while Stout is taking care of the pivot position. All of these men have shown good form in the short scrimmages that have been held this week—especially Cheek, who is showing up well at guard. However, no position is cinched as yet. Jamieson and Medows are offering plenty of opposition for permanent berths with the regulars; while F. Allen, W. Alley, Carson, Cobb, Davis, Edwards, and Matlock are looking good also.

Coach Anderson has had great success with his basketball teams of the past and it is hoped that he can produce a superior team. All the fellows are ready for hard work and everyone is trying to give the coach their full cooperation.

Manager Stafford stated today that the schedule is not quite complete for publication yet, but he expects to have it ready for publication in full by the next issue of the GUILFORDIAN. However, we are certain of games with three members of the Big Five: Carolina, Davidson and Wake Forest. The team will also make a northern tour on which they will play four games.

Yelverton

Coming to Guilford four years ago, from Fremont High, Yelverton immediately established himself as a basketball player of unusual ability making the varsity his first year. Since that time he has displayed exceptionally good basketball judgment, combined with excellent floor work and great speed. These assets make him well qualified to be the Captain of the Quaker basketball team this season.

BAD WEATHER FORCES GIRLS INDOORS FOR WORK

Hockey, Tennis, Archery, Hiking, and Other Outdoor Amusements Give Way Before Climate.

TAKE UP AESTHETIC DANCING

Physical education for the women, up to this time has consisted mainly of hockey, volley ball and archery; classes being held in other forms of physical exercise for those who were unable to take part in these strenuous games. The intermural volley ball games which will end the season in this sport are to be held in the near future. Outside of the regular classes in physical education many of the girls have been playing tennis and hiking when the weather was permissible.

During the winter months, Mrs. Andrews will hold the regular classes in physical education in the gym. These classes will consist of gymnastics, aesthetic dancing, folk dances and stunts. The freshmen will take up stunts and folk dances along with their regular gymnastics. The sophomores and upperclassmen will take up aesthetics and gymnastics in preparation for the regular gymnastic meet which will be held in the spring. At this meet all the accomplishments that have been made in the women's athletics will be exhibited. The meet is public and a large crowd usually attends.

Mrs. Andrews, as director, is assisted by Miss Dorothy Gilbert, Mary Ellen Lassiter and Lottie Stafford. The last two named being students who are majoring in physical education.

Turner Moon, a member of the class of '29, was the guest of Dr. and Mrs. Perisho Thanksgiving.

HOME EC. GIRLS DO IT

The last football practice of the season was held Tuesday evening, December 3, in the Home Economics laboratory. Of course this was a very unusual place to call signals but the Quaker football team has developed the habit of performing unusual things so this place seemed suited for the last practice. The early part of the practice consisted of sipping pink tea served by Miss Bruce and the home economics students, Tom Cheek and Coach Anderson making the loudest noises. This practice was unusual from another point of view, each member of the squad had the privilege of inviting some favorite lady friend over for the final practice in order to show off his prowess before these feminine admirers. Following the drill in the fundamental of sipping tea, Miss Bruce called signals for the varsity while Merlie Sizemore and Gertrude Hinshaw alternated in barking the numerals to the second stringers. The whole squad entered into the practice with an enthusiasm becoming early season rather than the final one and many yards of mints, nuts, vegetable salad, sandwiches and candy were gained. The only injury of the afternoon took place when Spike Robinson was thrown by Cobb for the loss of a bag of peanuts. The longest run of the afternoon was made by Jimmy Bunn due to excellent interference of Miss Miles. The tackling of John Lippencott and Miss Gilbert was also ferocious. Coach Anderson was highly pleased with the showing of the squad in their final practice and bade the cheer leaders, Shore and Allen, to lead one more cheer for the Crimson and

DR. PERISHO SPEAKS ON 71ST CONGRESS

Vare Question and Income Tax Cut Will be Discussed With Other Bills.

BUDGET BILL COMES UP

In chapel on Monday morning, December 2, 1929, Dr. Perisho lectured on the 71st Congress, which began on December 2.

He explained why this Congress was the 71st, and when it was elected. On April 13, 1929, the extra session of Congress began and adjourned on December 2. This was a special session and was called for two main discussions—farm relief and tariff bill.

The first question to come up in the Congress which met for the first time December 2, will be the Vare question. The second thing, the income tax cut of $160,000,000.

"There will be a good deal of discussion in the 71st Congress about the Appropriation Bills for the Department of United States Interior," said Dr. Perisho.

The fourth to be discussed will be the National Budget, which will incorporate an expenditure of more than two billion dollars.

As soon as the Vare question is settled the tariff bill will be worked on. Another important question is that of an appropriation of $75,000,000,000 for the construction of Public Utilities.

Other bills will come forward and if this Congress is at all like preceding ones several thousand bills will be discussed, such as prohibition, bills, change of inauguration, regulation of the radio, etc.

Dr. Perisho closed by saying that every one should know something about politics, for the sake of citizenship and not partisanship.

Gray, he also announced, following the college the uniforms and prepare them practice, that Manager Carson would for spring practice.
