

Administrative Council Now to Govern Guilford

MILNER AT HEAD

Sponsors Already Selected for Classed and Other Organizations of College.

FORM NEW COMMITTEES

Innovations in Guilford's School Government Now in Effect.

A new plan of school government is being used this year at Guilford College. Instead of a single executive as has been the case heretofore, there is an administrative council with Dr. Clyde A. Milner as its spokesman and head. The other members of this council are E. G. Purdom, P. W. Furnas, F. C. Shepard, E. T. Hole, C. E. Tobias, E. C. Milner, K. C. Ricks.

Those who will sponsor various organizations are: E. G. Purdom, freshman class; A. I. Newlin, sophomore class; E. G. Campbell, junior class; E. C. Milner, senior class; W. O. Sultor, Guilfordian (advisors, P. W. Furnas and E. C. Milner); W. O. Sultor, Quaker (advisor, C. E. Tobias); J. P. Anderson, Men's Athletic Association; E. H. Anderson, Women's Athletic Association; C. E. Bruce, I. B. Perisho, E. M. Newlin, E. C. Milner, Y. W. C. A.; S. L. Haworth, Y. M. C. A.; A. I. Newlin, debating council; N. E. Lasley, W. O. Sultor, E. G. Purdom, A. I. Newlin, and M. L. Gainey, student affairs board; P. W. Furnas, dramatic council; M. S. Noah, and D. W. Noah, fine arts club; E. G. Campbell, college marshals; J. L. Fleming, French Club; A. I. Newlin, History Club; E. C. Milner, women's student government; E. G. Purdom, men's student government, and M. S. Noah, college choir.

N.R.A. REORGANIZES AND TEXTILE STRIKE OCCURS

New Developments in Lindbergh Kidnapping Case Are of Interest in Latest Current Events.

WORLD SERIES BEING PLAYED

The most important current events of the past few weeks has been the general textile strike, the reorganization of the N. R. A., and the Hauptmann-Lindbergh trial.

The general strike in the textile industry, led by Gorman, ended peacefully when the strikers felt that they had gained their ends.

The reorganization of the N. R. A., the most startling development of which is the resignation of General Johnson, is later news, and the question has not been fully settled.

The Lindbergh case is another question which is still unsettled, the only important development being the arrest and trial of Bruno R. Hauptmann when part of the ransom money was found in a garage belonging to him.

The world series is another question of general importance which is as yet unsettled.

Quaker Appoints Manager

Tom Wimbish was recently appointed to the position of business manager of the Quaker. Mr. Wimbish is a senior from Greensboro and will take the place of Horace Stinson, who is now attending the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. The appointment was approved by the student affairs board.

Mrs. E. C. Milner Shows Progress

Mrs. Ernestine Milner is getting along very well since her operation in the Wesley Long Hospital over three weeks ago. She returned to the campus Monday morning, October 1. Everyone is interested in how she is progressing and is glad to have her back again.

PRESIDENT MILNER LEAVES FOR NORTH

Two College Representatives Will Attend Various Foundations and Meetings.

MR. TOBIAS GOES ALSO

President Clyde A. Milner and Clarence E. Tobias, secretary of the college, are leaving Monday morning, October 8, for points north, expecting to visit several foundations which have expressed interest in Guilford. They will also attend numerous alumni meetings.

They plan to go as far as Boston, Mass., stopping first at Richmond as the guest of Hogue Ricks. On October 9 they will be in Washington speaking at the Sidwell Friends school, the Indian Education Bureau, and that night attending an alumni meeting. Baltimore will be their next stop, on October 11, attending the Friends meeting and alumni gathering. October 12, 13 and 14 they expect to visit Westown, George school, Germantown Academy, Haverford, Episcopal Academy, Friends' Central and Friends' Select schools, and Penn Charter. Dr. Milner will speak at the Quaker Headmaster Association on the 13th.

Sunday, the 14th, Dr. Milner will be at the Germantown meeting, while Mr. Tobias will attend the Haverford meeting.

From there they go to New York, where they plan to have numerous conferences with various foundations. They will also attend the Central New England alumni meeting at the Rose room in the Broad hotel. In Hartford they will spend the day at the Theology Seminary centennial.

On the 18th they will be in Boston attending alumni meetings. From Boston they start back south, stopping in Providence, R. I., and in Philadelphia for the Penn-Rutgers football game, hoping to reach Guilford by the 21st.

PANCOAST ANNOUNCES HOMECOMING PROGRAM

Football Main Feature of Day; Lenoir-Rhyne Meets Quakers; Women Finish Hockey Game.

The fall Home-Coming Day at Guilford College is to be held on November 3rd with an interesting program which includes a football game, women's hockey game, a play presented by the Dramatic Council and several other events.

The Home-Coming football game will be held on Hobbs field between Lenoir-Rhyne and the Quakers, a traditional clash. This game will play an important part in the Little Six conference and is to be held at 2 p. m. The women's hockey game will be held at 11:45 a. m. with the play concluding the program that night.

Mr. Pancost is in charge of the Home-Coming day program.

CHARLIE M'KENZIE ELECTED TO HEAD STUDENT AFFAIRS

Much Discussion of the Purchase of Machine in First Board Meeting.

GILLIAM IS SECRETARY

New Rule Voted Into Constitution and Final Plans Made Concerning Dance Music Here.

The first Student Affairs Board meeting Professor Newlin presided and Elizabeth Gilliam acted as secretary until the installation of officers. The constitution of the Board was read and discussed at length. Another rule was also added to the constitution. It was voted that any member who missed more than two meetings a year would be automatically dropped from the board and another representative chosen from his organization, unless the absent member sent a substitute in his place.

Shortly after the election of officers they were installed. They are as follows: Charles MacKenzie, president, and Edgar Meibohm, vice-president, receiving second highest number of votes. By unanimous election Elizabeth Gilliam was chosen secretary and Louise Lee, assistant secretary. After the installation of these officers, Charles MacKenzie took the presiding chair.

The main topic of discussion for the rest of the meeting was concerning the purchase of Mr. Pleasant's machine for the college dances. The plan of collecting money from the students was considered, but was shortly abandoned except as a lost resort. After much discussion (between Miss Gainey and Dr. Purdom) the Board finally came to the conclusion that each organization would be sent a note by the Board having the following content: If each organization would be willing to give a small per cent of its allotment, probably two and a half per cent, that would cover the price of the machine. Immediate action has been taken on this score.

Choir Reception Tonight

Tonight at 8 o'clock the Guilford College choir will hold its annual reception for the new members of the choir.

This reception is held every year as a gesture of welcome to the new members. Its purpose is that the new choir members may become acquainted with the personnel and personality of the choir and that they may better understand and enter into the spirit of the choir.

A short entertainment program of an unusual nature is planned. This is to begin between 8:30 and 9 o'clock and is to be a surprise.

New Sport for Faculty Originated When Dr. Clyde A. Milner Thumbed a Ride to Talk

The president of a Quaker college (thumbing a ride)! Impossible, but true! Dr. Clyde A. Milner has stooped to that nefarious occupation. Dr. Milner, A. B. M. A., B. D., and Ph. D., has stood along the roadside and, using the finger commonly called the thumb, has obtained a ride.

The story goes that the president must make a speech in the town of Hertford. All looked well as the able chauffeur sped along the highways bearing Mr. Milner. But, alas, the car broke down, and Mr. Milner, not wishing to break his date, stopped a hurrying car and got in.

CLUB FOR FINE ARTS HAS FIRST MEETING

Music, Recitations and Speeches Among Interesting Parts of Evening's Program.

NEW MEMBERS PERFORM

The Fine Arts Club held its first meeting of the year on Monday evening, September 24.

Annie Lee Fitzgerald played on the piano. A talk was given by Hazel Wright, in which she showed a very pessimistic view of the present world of art and the lack of interest which modern civilization has in it. Elizabeth Adams played a selection from Schubert with characteristic ease and rhythm. Martha Taylor presented her Junior speech on Handel's "Messiah." "The Shave Store" was read by Betty Trotter, whose charming facial interpretation made her performance an outstanding feature on the program. In contrast to the lightness of this was a poem, "I Am Music," read by Dorothy Pearson. Jewell Conrad sang "The Last Rose of Summer." Louise Lee talked on the New World Symphony, which includes the tune, "Going Home." The program was concluded by a song, "My Sweet Repose," by Frances McIver.

PRACTICES BEGUN

Tentative Choice of Characters in Uproarious Comedy Already Made.

LEVERING TAKES LEAD

Play to Be Given by Dramatic Council on Homecoming Day.

When the curtain rises on the play, "Tons of Money," by Evans and Valentine, which the college dramatic council is presenting on November 3, the characters will have been selected from a wide array of students. The choices so far are only tentative.

Former stars have been chosen to take the leading roles. Robert Poole, as Aubrey Henry Maitland Allington, and Emily Virginia Levering, as Louise Allington, his wife.

The play begins at the Allingtons' home in Marlow, England. The young couple receive a visit from the solicitor, James Chesterman (Jules Sharpe), of the firm Chesterman, Chesterman, and Chesterman, who tells Allington that he has inherited a vast amount of money from a long-lost brother.

The will states that if Allington is dead, the money goes to a cousin whom they have never seen. To get rid of the many creditors he owes and to keep the money, the young inventor hits upon the plan of dying, then coming back to life as the cousin. Complications enter in, however, when Betty Trotter, as Jean Everard, the cousin's wife, appears.

While he has been away, Sprules (Simpson Garner), the butler, has been busy getting his brother Henery (James Parsons) to masquerade as the cousin. The plot thickens and reaches the climax when William Grigg, as George Maitland, the real cousin, enters.

Other characters that add spice and pep to the play are Miss Benita Mullet (Louise Ward), the old maid aunt, who is slightly deaf; Simpson (Ruth Anderson), the parlour maid, and Giles (J. L. Jones), the gardener, who is always doing the wrong thing.

SENIOR CLASS SELECTS OFFICERS FOR SEMESTER

Ernest White President and Frances Wiley Secretary; Programs Held in Other Class Meetings.

Class meetings were evenly divided between program and business meetings on October 4. The seniors had a business meeting, electing officers as follows: President, Ernest White; vice president, George Parker; secretary, Frances Wiley; treasurer, Cleo Stack; representative to debating council, Mamie Rose McGinnis; representatives to student council, Walter Copeland and Clyde Redding. Members of the social committee appointed were Gladys Bryan, chairman, Felsie Riddle, Orpha Newlin, and Charles MacKenzie.

At the junior class meeting, Mildred Marlette talked on "Doctors."

The sophomore class was entertained by Betty Trotter, who gave a piano number, and by Lois Black, who rendered a solo, accompanied by Miss Trotter at the piano.

Mrs. Noah Gives Recital.

Mrs. Dorothy Noah recently gave a recital in Kernersville. The program was given in the Woman's Club and consisted of two groups of songs and two of recitations. Miss Wilbur accompanied the singing.
