NUMBER 10

GUILFORD DEBATERS ATTEND FORENSIC CONTEST IN S. C.

The Query Concerns the Congressional Veto of Supreme Court Decisions.

SIX STATES IN TOURNEY

College Council Is Represented for the First Time by Girls in South Atlantic Debates.

The Guilford College Debating council sent a delegation to the South Atlantic Forensic tournament, held at Rock Hill, S. C., March 5, 6, and 7.

The team, which was coached by Mr. W. O. Suiter, head of the Economics department, consisted of Ray Hollis and W. B. Davis, who represented Guilford on the negative side of the question discussed, Henry Nau and David Stafford who took the affirmative, and Dorothy Woodward and Ruth Hopkins who were prepared to debate on either side. This is the first year that Guilford has sent girls to this tournament. The query to be debated was: Resolved, that Congress should be permitted to override by a two-thirds majority vote the decisions of the Supreme court, when the court has declared the acts of Congress unconstitutional.

This tournament was sponsored by the college in North Carolina interested in debating. Teams from West Virginia, Pennsylvania, Tennessee, Virginia, South Carolina, and North Carolina were expected to be there. In addition to the debates there were oratorical contests, extemporaneous speaking contests, and after-dinner speaking contests. There were six debates, two being held each day of the tournament. Last year Guilford tied with Appalachian for third place in the North Carolina contest. Merryville college, Tennessee, won the debate for the whole tournament and High Point college won first place for North Carolina.

On Friday, February 28, a liturgical program was presented. The a capella choir rendered several sacred numbers and Dr. Beittel read a few selections of poetry.

MICHIGAN SYMPHONY WELL RECEIVED BY PLEASED AUDIENCE

Program Was Widely Diversified and Featured by Very Beautiful Compositions.

R. HAMILTON IS SOLOIST

"Danse Moronique" by Hazleman Presented for the First Time by Symphony at Guilford.

The Little Symphony of the University of Michigan, under the direction of Thor Johnson, presented a most interesting concert in Memorial hall on Thursday evening. This program was the last of the college lyceum course and was received by a very enthusiastic audience.

The first group included the following numbers: Overture to "The Marriage of Figaro," Mozart; "Suite," transcribed for orchestra from Opus I, Dohannyi; "For My Little Friends," Pierre; and "Dance of the Comedians," from "The Bartered Bride," Smetana. The last number was unusually interesting for several reasons. "The Bartered Bride" enjoyed such popularity that it became the national anthem of Bohemia; it is typical of Smetana's infusing of the spirit of national life into his works; and as a piece of music is quite gay, lifting the spirit, toning the mind, and gladdening the heart.

The second part of the program was outstanding in that it featured Mr. Romaine Hamilton, playing "Concerto No. 4 in D Major" for violin and orchestra. This number was written by Mozart and Mr. Hamilton displayed ease and grace in his rendition. The balance of the concert included "Four Russian Folk Songs," Liadov; "The Girl With Flaxen Hair," Debussy; "Danse Moronique," incidentally, was presented for the first time by the group on the Guilford appearance.
