'NEWGYM' COMMITTEE SEEKS BRICKS

CAMPAIGN MARKS FIRST WEEK OF NEW SEMESTER

Thousand Bricks From Each Student and Faculty Member Is Drive's Goal.

MILNER, PARSONS LEAD

Off-Campus Workers to Seek Gifts After Charter Day; Cornerstone Laying May 28.

"Three hundred thousand bricks or bust!"

So rings the war-cry of the committee recently formed to organize campus support of the new gym for Guilford project. In a campus-wide drive, scheduled for the week of January 24-31, the committee plans to seek gifts of brick for the projected center of Guilford athletic life from faculty and students alike. For the purpose of the campaign, bricks are to be priced at $15 a thousand, and the 300,000 goal will call for a gift of slightly less than a thousand bricks from each learner and teacher.

A parallel drive, soliciting the aid of alumni and friends of the college, will be launched on Charter day, January 13, and last until the thirteenth of May. Planned culmination of the program is the cornerstone laying to take place May 28—Alumni Day—of next year.

Details of the local organization have not yet been fully worked out. Submitted first to the Cooperative Council, student-administration organization, formation of a central committee was deemed the most efficient method of carrying out the intensive program to be launched at the beginning of the second semester. Solicitors to undertake the canvassing of each dormitory are to be named later.

The off-campus division of the gym campaign includes some 200 workers, who will be feted on Charter Day. These workers are recruited from past graduating classes and from local alumni associations.

Heading the drive are Guilford's President Clyde A. Milner and Business Manager David H. Parsons. Chairman D. D. Carroll, of the Guilford Board of Trustees, and Clifford Frazier, brother of the board's secretary, are also taking an active part in the organization plans and will speak in favor of the project in connection with the Charter Day celebration.

Guilford Quakers Invade Blue Devils for Humanity's Sake

Determined that Duke should not wait long before Guilford would return the call made by its head coach, Wallace Wade, a group of students, not from the Athletic association, but from the Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A., went down to the Blue Devils' territory last Sunday. The attraction, however, was not Duke (at least Mr. Anderson would not admit that the memories of the attractive Y. W. president down there had lingered on from Nawakawa) but Buck Kester, president of the Southern Tenant Farmers union, who was to speak to "Y" cabinets from all over the state. Mr. Kester, who is a very

Caroling Planned For Thursday Night

With Christmas just around the corner, manifold Yuletide activities are planned, a feature of which will be caroling by the student body, and the choir. This ancient rite will be once again performed on Thursday night, December 16, as ye merry scholars travel the highways and byways to the various faculty homes around the campus, bringing the Spirit of Christmas to our alma mater and the community. As the evening wears on, the cold and happy throng will approach the Beittels', to be warmed by their well-known hospitality and fireplace.

HANDEL'S 'MESSIAH' TO BE GIVEN SUNDAY

Soloists From Greensboro and Salem College Will Participate.

UNDER WEIS' DIRECTION

The most famous of George Frederick Handel's oratorios, "The Messiah" will be presented Sunday afternoon, December 12, by the Guilford College choir and the Guilford Community Choral society, under the able direction of Dr. Ezra H. F. Weis. The combined choirs will be accompanied by the Guilford Chamber orchestra composed of Guilford and Greensboro players.

Soloists this year will be Mrs. H. E. Armstrong, soprano; Mrs. Armistead Mercer, contralto; Mr. Clifford Blair, tenor; Mr. Sherman Smith, bass. Mrs. Armstrong, of Greensboro, sings at the First Baptist church and the Jewish Synagogue; Mrs. Armistead Mercer also of Greensboro, sings at the First Presbyterian church and has also done light opera in New York. Mr. Blair and Anna Withers, who will be at the organ, come from Salem college. Mr. Sherman Smith is chemistry professor at U. N. C. and is well known for his work with various choral groups. Mrs. Harvey Ljung will be accompanist.

Professor Hardre to Speak

The new International Relations club will inaugurate its first meeting of the year 1938 with a talk by Professor Jacques Hardre, who will present "The Foreign Policy of France" on January 6, in the hut. This topic is especially appropriate at this time, since it so deeply concerns international affairs.

LASSIES TO FETE SANTA CLAUS AT ANNUAL BAZAAR

Effort Made to Supply Fun for Everyone—Dancing and Games Order of Day.

HOBBS IS FESTIVE HALL

Christmas Gifts to Be Sold and Fortunes Told for Inquisitive Merry Makers.

This year's Yuletide festivity will find its main expression in the annual bazaar of the Y. W. C. A. In an effort to accommodate to all tastes, Christmas spirit will be administered in forms varying from a substantial supply of food to subtle decorations of mistletoe. United action on the part of the student body organized into innumerable efficient committees, is responsible for the preparation of this important event.

Practical and attractive Christmas gifts will be on sale for all those fortunates with sufficient purchasing power. Very little stress is being put upon the Japanese origin of the commodities for the Y's are known to be strongly in sympathy with the Chinese in the Sino-Japanese conflict. Other features on the program include an evening of dancing, which will take various novelty forms. Those with questionable proficiency for "the little apple" or highland fling will be entertained by numerous games. Refreshments for the campus gourmets are being served by the "baby Y's" in the tea room especially constructed for this gala affair.

The intense activity of Mary Hobbs tonight will make the atmosphere of all other celebrations seem soporific in comparison.

PLANS FOR CHARTER DAY TO INCLUDE BIG BANQUET

Two Hundred Campaign Workers Will Meet to Discuss Drive for New Gym Fund.

ENTERTAINMENT TO BE FEATURED

One hundred and fourth Charter Day at Guilford College, to be celebrated January 13, 1938, will honor that group of men and women who have accepted the responsibility and opportunity to "help in the first major construction efforts of the second century" by carrying to alumni and friends of the college the story of the institution and its plans for immediate development of facilities, it has been announced.

Contributions of Guilford College to co-education, to religion, to social progress, and to education served as themes of the Charter Day programs for the last four years in the order mentioned. Speakers at these events included Gov. J. C. B. Ehringhaus; Dr. Frank P. Graham, president of the University of North Carolina; Clarence Pickett, executive secretary of the American Friends' Service Committee; Dr. Walter Thomas Woody, professor of the history of education at the University of Pennsylvania; and Dr. J. Franklin Brown, of the Macmillan company.

This year the principal program will be held in Founders' hall with a formal banquet to which the honorees, a group of about 200 men and women, and the students will be invited. Dr. Dudley

DEAN BEITTEL GOES TO Y.M.C.A. MEETING

Discussion Centered in Comparisons of American and European Religious Trends.

ACTED AS CO-DIRECTOR

"Religious Trends in the Modern World" drew Dr. A. D. Beittel, dean of Guilford College, to the Atlanta, Ga., Y. M. C. A. conference, where he served as co-leader with Mademoiselle Suzanne de Dietrich of Paris for a three-day round table discussion.

Arranged by the National Board of Y. M. C. A.'s, this southern conference centered discussion in the similarities as well as the differences in various European and American religious trends. The purpose of the meeting was to act as an informative conference that would serve to stimulate interest in modern religious tendencies. Attendance for the December 2-4 conference was limited to a few representative leaders—between 25 and 30 in all—who came from throughout the South. No resolutions or committees were appointed during the conference, the purpose of the meeting being only informative and quite apart from a regular programed Y. M. C. A. gathering.

Acting as chairman of the round table discussions was Winnifred Wygal, of the laboratory division of the National Board of the Y. M. C. A. The Atlanta conference is one of four such meetings that are being held in the United States. Two of the other conferences meet in New York City and the other in Chicago, Ill.

CO-EDNAS TO ENTERTAIN SWAINS WITH PARTIES

Santa Claus to Figure Prominently in Founders and Mary Hobbs Social Affairs.

TAFFY, DANCING TO BE FEATURED

With both Founders and Mary Hobbs concocting figurative stirrups to speed departing Guilfordians on their homeward way, it would seem that the answer to most Guilford maidens' prayers would be a heavy fall of pre-Christmas snow to grace their Yuletide festivities. On December 17, both dormitories will fling their doors wide to the 3-for-5c social lions of the campus for an evening of assorted games and taffy-pulling, dancing and good-clean-fun. Chaperoning at Founders will be Dr. and Mrs. Beittel and Santa Claus; at Mary Hobbs, Mr. Pancoast with Miss Goins, Santa Claus, and Mr. Parsons with Miss McColl. Both programs include plans for tree-trimming and distribution of gifts by the respective Santa Clauses, though

BANQUET SPEAKER SAYS FOOTBALL MOLDS CHARACTER

Wallace Wade Pleases His Listeners With Talk About Modern Football Trends.

TILSON, BYRD GET AWARD

Coach Smith Awards Twenty Certificates and Praises Men Who Sat on Bench

Football has grown to be a character building institution, according to the coach of one of America's strongest football teams, Wallace Wade, of Duke university, who held the spotlight in the annual fall sports banquet held in Founders' hall last Saturday night.

Although attention was focused on Wade during his short and informal talk, a variety of events were acclaimed by the enthusiastic crowd during the remainder of the two-and-one-half-hour program. And, except for the "change of pace" necessary in introductions, talks, awarding of letters, and giving of praise, the program went along smoothly and with interest, largely due it was thought, to the fact that a hard-working social committee, headed by Betty Trotter, and assisted by Keitt Sawyer, was in charge.

Dr. Russell Pope was glad, he stated, to fall in line with the series of faculty toastmasters, preceded in his two years here by Doctors Purdom and Ljung, and in turn presented Professor Shepard, faculty manager of athletics, to report on the status of the cross-country team.

Alvin Meibohm, honored by re-election to the captaincy of the team for 1938, announced the winning of monograms by six members of the team: A. Meibohm, Tyree Gilliam, Malcolm Alexander, Charles Lindley, Winfred Meibohm, and Bob Smith.

Coach Smith was satisfied to praise the work of his eleven and take a few minutes in doing so. Particularly, he said, was it important to mention the work of those boys who did not receive letters in recognition of their participation. He announced the election of Paul Chambers and Wilson Byrd as captains of the 1938 team, succeeding Jim McDonald. Certificates authorizing the wearing of monograms were given to 20 players and Manager Charles Hines, Richard Binford, Joe McCommons, Thell Overman, John

Anti-Evoluter Alters Textbooks

Hattiesburg, Miss.—(A.C.P.)—A shipment of new biology textbooks at Mississippi State Teachers College produced some fireworks recently.

A chapter on evolution annoyed John M. Frazier, biology teacher, to the extent that he ripped out the offensive pages from 60 books.

His action, a decade after Tennessee's famous "monkey trial," renewed the evolution discussion. Mississippi fundamentalists in 1926 had enacted a law forbidding teaching or use of books which related the theory that man "ascended or descended from a lower order of animals."
