HUNDRED SINGERS ARE MEMBERS OF LARGEST CHOIR

Weis Enlarges A Cappella
Choir to Contain 84 Voices
For Concert Appearances.

COPE ELECTED MANAGER

Freshman Musical Intelligence Tests
Reveal Exceptional Choral Talent.

Bolstered by the droves of recruits from the freshman class, Guilford is turning out the largest a cappella choir in its history this year. An even hundred talented songsters, representing 12 states (from Massachusetts to Arkansas) and 15 church denominations, have offered their services to our famous choir.

Dr. Weis has re-arranged and enlarged the choir to contain 84 voices, including 16 first sopranos, 16 second sopranos, 18 first altos, 8 second altos, 5 first tenors, 4 second tenors, 8 first basses, and 9 second basses.

Newly-elected officers of the a cappella choir have assumed their duties. Steve Cope succeeds Alvin Meibohm as student manager; Michael Caffey is representative to the Student Affairs board; Annie Evelyn Powell represents the senior class, Edna Earle Edgerton the junior class, Margaret Jones the sophomore class; Wilbert Edgerton is the new stage manager, and Robert McNeely is choir librarian.

As a group, the freshman class displays unusual musical ability. Each year Dr. Weis gives the newcomers a musical intelligence test. The results of this test show 25 students making less than 20 errors (the established norm is 25 errors). Five brilliant "rookies" made less than 10 mistakes—Eleanor Beittel, Kirby More, June Frazier, Virgil Jordan, and Margaret Bryan.

Monogram Club Meeting

At the meeting of the Monogram club held last Tuesday night in the student hut Harry Nace was elected treasurer of the club. He succeeds Billy French at this post. The Monogram club made definite plans to raise money for the organization by selling cold drinks at all home games in the future.

Faculty Additions Bring Wide Variety of Experiences Here

By ROSALEEN LESLIE

With the opening of school and the arrival of 158 new freshmen, there has also arrived on the Guilford college campus a sextet of new faculty members.—Miss Lucile Logan, Dr. Lucille Edgerton, Miss Christine Foster, E. Daryl Kent, William B. Edgerton, and James H. McDonald. They have already assumed the duties of their various offices: Miss Logan as secretary to the president and instructor in shorthand and typing, Dr. Emerick as instructor in music, Miss Foster as instructor in physical education, Daryl Kent as instructor in religion, William Edgerton as assistant professor in the modern language department, and Jim McDonald as assistant athletic coach.

From Malvina, a five-family town in Mississippi, Miss Lucile Logan went to the Southwestern University at Memphis, where she majored in Latin, and was there granted a bachelor's degree. She then went to the Bowling Green Business University, where she studied office management, business

News Briefs

Edgerton's Baby

On Monday morning, September 19th at five minutes past 8:00 o'clock, the first year Spanish Class left King Hall, for Mr. Edgerton had not appeared. At that moment he was pacing the floor at the Sternberger Hospital in Greensboro.

At nine thirty, nearly an hour and a half later, Susan Conrad Edgerton was born. She weighed 7 and three-quarters pounds at birth but rapidly attained another half pound.

Moonlight Hike

Taps echoed and re-echoed over Hamilton Lake last Sunday night closing the vesper service sponsored by the "Y".

One hundred and three Guilfordians rested on the pier, sang hymns led by Annie Evelyn Powell, and chanted the 23rd psalm. Mrs. Binford led the devotional and Austin Scott played a flute solo from Orpheus.

After the service the joyful hikers tramped homeward munching apples.

This was the first venture of the "Y" this year in holding a vesper service.

"Y" Retreat Dance

Waltzing to the strains of "Blue Evening" and jitterbugging to "White Heart," a predominantly Freshman group was given a chance to show its talents at the "Y" Retreat Dance in the gym last Saturday night.

FALL ENROLLMENT IS LARGEST IN GUILFORD HISTORY

Cosmopolitan Group Formed by Record Enrollment on Guilford College Campus.

QUAKERS PREDOMINATE

Three Foreign Countries, Nineteen
States, Twenty Religions Represented Among Students.

Four hundred and one students, the largest enrollment in Guilford college's history, converged on the campus during the first two weeks of the fall term, coming from one European country, England, Cuba, and 19 states of the United States.

There are 254 students from North Carolina, New Jersey running second with 39. Guilford county is well represented with 143 students, 100 of whom are from Greensboro. There are 41 other counties represented in the Old North State.

In religious classification the Friends predominated for the second consecutive year with the hitherto ascendant Methodists trailing 105 to 79. The cosmopolitan atmosphere of the school is strengthened by 18 other denominations, sects, and religions.

Of the 150 women and 251 men, there are only 126 day students this year. As usual, the freshmen outnumber any other class, with 63 women and 96 men.

LOCAL STUDENTS HEAD THREE UPPERCLASSES

Leslie Atkinson, Bob L. Wilson, Charles
Lewis, and Pat Fowler Elected
Presidents of Respective Classes.

FROSH FINISH POLL THURSDAY

North Carolina came to the fore last Friday in class elections held during the chapel period.

At the Senior class meeting which was held in King Hall, Leslie Atkinson, Jr., of Greensboro, was elected President; Jonaleen Hodgkin, of Guilford College, was made Vice-President; and Myra Glickman, of the Bronx, New York, was named Secretary. Other officers chosen at the meeting were: Wilbert Edgerton, of Pikeville, representative to the men's student government; William Lauten, of Madison, program chairman; Kathleen Leslie, of New York City, social chairman; Mary Gray Coltrane, of Guilford College, representative to the student affairs board (elected last semester).

The Junior class met in King Hall and chose Robert L. Wilson, of Greensboro, President; Eileen Dornseif, of Greensboro, Vice-President; Rebecca Wagoner, of Monticello, secretary-treasurer; Virginia Hill, of Canton, program chairman; Polly Morton, of Demarest, N. J., and Frederick Binford, of Guilford College, chairmen of the social committee.

The following officers were elected at the meeting of the Sophomore class, held in the music building: Charles Lewis, of Guilford College, President; William Denham, of Camden, N. J., vice-president; Evelyn Pearson, of Archdale, secretary-treasurer; Colin Osborne, of Southern Pines, program chairman; and Murray Osbourne, of Marianna, Arkansas, representative to the men's student government.

Thursday, the freshmen got together, talked organization over and finally got around to electing two of its to-be-numerous officers. Pap Fowler, of Charlotte, was elected president, and Betty Locke, of Lexington, Mass., was chosen second vice-president and chairman of the social committee.

Notice!

In the belief that a concentrated national student opinion will affect the attitudes assumed by the general public and the policies adopted by the United States government, The Guilfordian is pleased to cooperate with The California Daily Bruin to the extent of presenting and recommending participation in the Bruin's National College Poll of student opinion on government policy regarding the war in Europe. On another page of today's Guilfordian is printed a ballot. You are invited to fill out the ballot and mail it to The Guilfordian as soon as possible. No address or envelope will be necessary if you drop your ballot in the campus mail slot in the postoffice.

As soon as a tabulation of results (both local and national) has been made, The Guilfordian will publish these results.

RANDOLPH-MACON GAME SPONSORS WILL BE CHOSEN

Students Will Elect Two Most Beautiful Girls to Sponsor
Richmond Fracas.

BROADCAST IS PLANNED

Sponsors, Team Captains, Players Will Be Featured in Pre-game Broadcast from Richmond.

Who are the two most beautiful girls on the Guilford college campus?

When the above question has been answered by a majority vote of the faculty and student body, Guilford will be in possession of its two official sponsors for the Guilford-Randolph-Macon game to be played October 7 in Richmond.

The Monarch club of Richmond is sponsoring the game, and is planning to use the proceeds to provide new X-ray equipment for Shelters Arms hospital, one of the club's projects.

In an effort to make the game a colorful as well as financial success, the club has planned to have six girls as sponsors, two from Guilford, two from Randolph-Macon, and one each from the two Richmond high schools.

On the night before the game a pre-game broadcast has been scheduled. It is planned in this broadcast to present the sponsors, the team captains, and several of the players. The station carrying this broadcast and the time arranged for it will be announced later. The date will be October 6.

With the approval of the Dean of Women and the athletic department, the Guilfordian has been selected to conduct the election of the two Guilford sponsors and plans to determine the winners of this honor in an election to be held in chapel Monday morning, October 2.

After the conclusion of Dr. Williams' discussion of "The Origin of Human Rights," the chapel audience will be given an opportunity to write on a slip of paper the names of the girls it considers the epitome of feminine beauty, and these ballots will be taken up at the doors as the audience leaves.

Results will be tabulated immediately and will be posted on the bulletin board as soon as they are completed.

COURSE ON CHURCH HISTORY IS STARTED

North Carolina Friends Yearly
Meeting to Be Benefitted
By Addition.

KENT TO BE SUPERVISOR

A new course in church history, fostered by Dr. Clyde A. Milner and Murray Johnson, field secretary of the North Carolina Friends Yearly meeting, has been added to the college curriculum.

Classes in the new course started last Monday and will meet for two hours each Monday afternoon during the school year.

Designed to be of special service to the Yearly meeting, from which eleven young ministers have already enrolled, the course will be under the supervision of E. Daryl Kent, Dean Elbert Russell of the school of Religion at Duke University will assist. Other faculty members will give occasional lectures.

The course will carry three hours college credit. Of the ministers participating three wish to secure seminary credit; some seek college credit; and the rest of them take the course simply for intellectual satisfaction.

Pope, Purdom, and Ljung Form Trio to Trek to New York

By L. M. GIDEON

Not to be outdone by the lay members of the Guilford congregation, three of the faculty brain-trusters trekked to the great city to view and be viewed by the sights along the Great White Way. The physicist, the chemist, the linguist—realist, theorist, and mystic joined hands and attempted to see eye to eye the flora, fauna, and phenomena of New York City. Attempted is not used in advisedly, for although they travelled together, each saw different things. Each agreed that the main purpose of going was for the excitement of the trip and a change of scenery. Each agreed that the fair was only a sidelight.

Dr. Pope, the native, found endless entertainment in the antics of his colleagues, Dr. Purdom the occasional visitor and Dr. Ljung the initiate. Laughingly he recalls the day Dr. Purdom confidentially engineered the trip to the fair without him—and they didn't get back that night; how Dr. Ljung got a room for the three of them for a total of two dollars; how Dr. Purdom tenderly cared for Dr. Ljung,

At the fair, "The Sage of Brooklyn" found the modern architectural and French exhibits most interesting. Broadway holds no fascination for him.

Dr. Ljung and Dr. Purdom had more to tell about what the other did than what he enjoyed. According to Dr. Ljung, Dr. Purdom, in addition to getting them lost in a subway, cluttered up the atmosphere with frequent yips "We've got that in Kentucky."

Dr. Purdom, sophisticated fourth time visitor, claimed his chemist friend walked around with his mouth open, so frustrated that he couldn't tell which direction the Hudson flowed.

Both the scientists enjoyed the scientific exhibits at the fair. Dr. Ljung concentrating on DuPont and Dr. Purdom on General Electric. Both were interested in some atom spitting experiments in Columbia University.

Although in serious activity each of our professors appeared to demonstrate the "postman takes a walk" psychology, each insisted that he went for a vacation, even to the leaving of the wife at home. All three were thrilled by the trip up the Hudson.
