

THE GUILFORDIAN

VOLUME XXVII

GUILFORD COLLEGE, N. C., MAY 17, 1941

NUMBER 13

May Queen To Be Crowned Today In Historic Pageant

Milner Toastmaster At Banquet; Alumni Dinner To Feature 3 Awards

Captains of Baseball, Basketball, Tennis, Track Will Be Named

The annual spring achievement banquet, to be held in Founders hall this evening at 6:45, will honor participants in basketball, baseball, track, and tennis. Dr. Clyde A. Milner, president of the college, has been named toastmaster.

Captains for next year's teams, chosen by the present teams, will be announced at this time.

Awards will be made in women's athletics, letters being awarded to those girls having 750 activity points, and numerals to those having only 500 points. The points are cumulative from year to year and are earned by participation in organized sports and by hiking.

Girls who will receive letters are: Julia Fussler, Audrie Gardham, Frances Johnson, June Frazer, Frances Neece, and Jane Faulkner. Virginia Conrad, Frances Johnson, June Frazer, Mildred Pegram, Dorothy Edgerton, and Ophelia Davis will receive numerals.

(Continued on Page Four)

Margaret Jones Elected For Overman Scholarship

Margaret Jones, junior with a 2.72 quality average, was elected from a list of 13 candidates by students and faculty to receive the William F. Overman scholarship, in class and faculty meetings held Thursday, May 6, according to Miss Era Lasley, registrar. The award is given annually to the junior who has an average of 2.00 or above, and who has, in the opinion of the voters, done the most in improving student-faculty relations.

Other candidates for the scholarship were: Martha Ann Abelein, Miriam Cummin, Philip Dewees, Elizabeth Flinn, Joyce Fry, Marie Grumbrecht, Bernice Merritt, Elfrid Pennekamp, Stokes Rawlins, DeArmas Smith, Doris Wanstall, and Paul Pearson.

May Day Mechanics: Prop, Costume, Crown and Lyre

Bows, lyres, biology, crown, MAY DAY, French, paint, Greek temple, honeysuckle—these are the thoughts of a weary property manager as she collapses in bed early in the morning two days before the blessed event. And what of the costumer? She nightmares of scissors snipping through her precious piles of materials, and balky sewing machines that refuse to peddle.

Scarcely an hour goes by that one or the other doesn't grab an idle student (a potential worker) and set him to some odd job such a stringing bows, or cutting out costumes, or whittling lyres.

Many are the comments of the fashionably-minded coeds who contemptuously name their dignified and graceful Grecian robes "potato sacks." Great

(Continued on Page Four)

Senior Week Schedule

Monday, May 19—Dr. Harvey A. Ljung to preside; speakers, Dr. Clyde A. Milner, faculty; Bob Wilson, senior; Dan Young, freshman.

Tuesday, May 20—T. Ross Fink to preside. Speakers, Dr. E. Garness Purdom, faculty; Hazel Monsees, senior; Betty Locke, sophomore.

Wednesday, May 21—Dr. Raymond Binford to preside. Speakers, William O. Suiter, faculty; Robert Register, senior; Herbert Pearson, junior.

Thursday, May 22—Day of study (no classes).

Friday, May 23—Final examinations begin.

Winners of Library Contest Announced

Merritt, Jeffre, Pollock First in Their Divisions; Prizes to Be Awarded Soon

Bernice Merritt, junior who prepared a list of books in a specialized library on art, won the first prize in the library contest which closed May 5, according to Miss Katherine C. Ricks, librarian.

Mis Merritt, who chose sculpturing and painting as her subject, will receive six dollars' worth of books.

Philip Dewees, whose list consisted of book on sociology, will receive four dollars' worth of books as second prize. These two were the only juniors entering.

In the sophomore contest, Ria Jeffre, with her list of forty books for a general library, won first place, and will receive six dollars' worth of books. Roy Lenke, with second place, will receive four dollars, also in books.

Although a third prize was not planned, Grace McMurray, because of her selections, will receive a copy of "Guilford: A Quaker College," written by Miss Dorothy Lloyd Gilbert. Thelma Edwards and Annie Spencer, other entrants in the sophomore contest, will each receive a copy of Dr. Russell

(Continued on Page Three)

Freshman Dance Tonight

The freshman class is sponsoring a semi-formal dance to be held in the gym tonight after the banquet. All classes are invited; there will be no admittance charge.

According to Jane Marshall, chairman of the freshman social committee, music will consist of "all the latest jam and jive, furnished by the well-known 'juke box,'" and requests will be in order.

Other freshmen on the social committee are Mildred McCrary, Jean Calderwood, Joan Ripperger, Ben Runkle, and Ray Tannenbaum. Henry Ausband, president of the class, is helping with arrangements for the dance.

14 Reunions Will Be Held Here in Annual Festivities, May 31

Recently innovated feature of the annual Alumni day, May 31, is the three awards which will be presented by Dr. Clyde A. Milner, president of Guilford college, at the Alumni dinner.

A key man will be named from the senior class, chosen previously by vote of faculty and senior class; an award will be made to the outstanding athlete, chosen by secret ballot cast by all lettermen; and a scholarship will be awarded to that member of the freshman or sophomore class who has made the most improvement during the year, as chosen by the President of the College, Dean of Men, Dean of Women, and Student Governments.

B. Clyde Shore, president of the Alumni association, will give a yearly report. The dinner will conclude with a forum, which will discuss problems facing the association.

The day will feature the reunion of 12 classes: 1896 (fiftieth anniversary), 1901, 1906, 1911, 1916, 1921, 1931, 1936, 1940. Former students of New Garden Boarding school and those of Guilford Preparatory department who enrolled between 1902-1908, will also reunite.

An assembly program, arranged by Miss Katharine C. Ricks, secretary of the association, and Russell Branson, minister of New Garden meeting, will be presented at 11 a. m. in Memorial hall.

Afternoon events include a tennis match of alumni vs. a college team, a

(Continued on Page Four)

Campus Organizations Will Edit Handbook

'Y' Groups to Sponsor Informal Book Written For Incoming Students

A freshman handbook, to be edited and written by a committee of members from all the campus organizations, is being sponsored by the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A.

This handbook is intended to supplement the college catalogue and to give the new freshmen more intimate information of how to prepare for Guilford and of what they will find when they reach Guilford.

In an informal manner, it will try to answer the questions freshmen are prone to ask about details. It will explain such things as this: how to get here from Greensboro once they arrive there; how to get into Greensboro once they arrive here; how to arrange wardrobes to suit the climates; and what to expect in the way of social life. Even the question of what kind of rooms we have is to be taken up.

The idea for this handbook was suggested in the meeting of the Y cabinets on April 28. It has been brought up in the student governments, and approved by them.

The committee in charge of organizing and writing the materials includes Pat Lockwood, Mary Winter, Corky Field, Nancy Graves, Bette Bailey, Winifred Ellis, Frances Neece, Bob Rohr, Phil Dewees, and Henry Ausband.

MISS CHRISTINE FOSTER, director of physical education for women, has trained the groups of dancers and athletes in today's festivities.

Trustee-Faculty Room Under Construction

Gift of Eunice Parker And Children in Memory Of D. Ralph Parker

A trustee-faculty room on the second floor of the gymnasium, to be known as the D. Ralph Parker Memorial room, made possible by a gift of $3,000 received from Eunice Parker and her children, is now being constructed.

The set of rooms, located in the southwest corner, will consist of a formal trustee-faculty room, an informal lounge, a kitchenette, a serving room, ladies' room, men's room, and cloakroom.

Plans for furnishing these rooms have been made and show long tables for board discussions, comfortable chairs and sofas, and built-in bookcases. The furniture is being made by W. T. Powell of High Point, a former associate of Mr. Parker in the furniture business.

In the northwest corner of the building there will be a lecture room.

The contractor for the project is John H. Bonitz of Greensboro.

Competitive Events To Include Athletic Races, Class Dances

Virginia Conrad, Guilford senior, will be crowned Queen of the May this afternoon in the traditional Guilford college May day ceremony, to begin on center campus at 4 o'clock.

The coronation will be preceded by music presented by Dr. Curt Victorius, of the Guilford faculty, leading the Collegium Musicum.

The Queen will be attended by a court of nine seniors: Eileen Dornseif, maid of honor; Madeleine Howlett, Charlotte Lewis, Polly Morton, Dolly White, Edna Earle Edgerton, Hazel Monsees, Grace Beittel, and Rebecca Wagoner.

Theme of the celebration, which is under the direction of Miss Christine Foster of the girls' physical education department, is the Greek festival. Alto Phyllis Barker, as High Priestess, will sing an invocation to prayer.

Athletic events—hurdling, torch race, discus throwing, and hoop rolling—will be the first of the competitive activities.

Each of the undergraduate classes will present a dance dedicated to a specific god or goddess. The junior dance will be in honor of Helios, Greek god of the sun, and will portray the myth of Phaeton, who tried disastrously to drive the sun chariot. Phaeton's part will be danced by Phyllis Meadows.

The sophomore dance, with Eleanor Clinchy and Jane Faulkner leading, will depict the dawn of light coming in over the dark earth with the sea.

The freshmen will dedicate their dance to Winifred Ellis as Diana, goddess of the moon and the chase.

Athletic events will be judged by Dr. E. Garness Purdom and Dr. Harvey A. Ljung, of Guilford's natural science department; Miss Dorothy Lloyd Gilbert, professor of English here, and Mrs. J. Roddy Miller, of the Guilford community, will judge the dances. High priestess Phyllis Barker

(Continued on Page Three)

Poll Books Reveal History Of Guilford As Township

By CORKY FIELD

Perhaps you heard the rustle of legal documents on May 6 as the eighteen qualified voters of Guilford college (the town) prepared to cast their ballots for a mayor and three councilmen.

Forty-six years ago that very day, May 6, 1895, faculty members of the newly-founded Guilford college elected Dr. L. Lyndon Hobbs, first president of the institution, to the office of mayor. Serving with him on the governing board were three commissioners and a road observer. Why?

It was the privilege of the county at that time to enlist any able-bodied man eighteen years of age or over to help repair county roads. Guilford college furnished a goodly supply, and frequently faculty and students would lose several days of school work repairing roads in the vicinity.

For this reason trustees of Guilford decided to seek a charter incorporating the town of Guilford college, which would thereby be given the powers of a town. The charter was granted; Guilford college became an incorporated town with Founders hall the center of a circle one thousand feet in radius. Today this boundary line includes all of the new gym, part of the road behind Mary Hobbs, and territory a few feet beyond the music building.

On April 10, 1900, the board of commissioners carried on its first piece of (recorded) business aside from the mere form of election. In the words of George W. White, secretary, "It was moved and carried that after April 12, 1900, there be an annual tax

(Continued on Page Four)