Monogram Club Sets December 12 As Date For Annual Fall Prom

Schoellkopf, Cockman, Blair and Stanfield Head Dance Committees

The annual Fall Prom of the Monogram club will be held in the gymnasium on Saturday, December 12.

In a meeting last week, the lettermen's club agreed to select an orchestra for the affair. Committees for the Prom will confer together soon to complete plans.

Herb Schoellkopf heads the decoration committee, Lacle Cockman, refreshment committee, Knobly Blair, publicity committee, and David Stanfield is engaging the orchestra.

For the first time in several years the Fall Prom will be a card dance. Each escort will receive a card for himself and date when he purchases his ticket. Each set will have two dances and there will be about 15 sets.

It has been the policy of the club to discourage the presentation of corsages and again, they hope to continue this custom.

Refreshments will be served during the evening by the Monogram club.

Tickets may be reserved through any member of the club.

Mrs. Milner Co-Ordinates C. D. V. O. Case Aid Course

Mrs. Clyde A. Milner, director of personnel of Guilford college, recently gave her services to the Civilian Defense Volunteer organization as coordinator of the case aid course. The purpose of this course was to train volunteer workers to be able to give more effective assistance to trained workers. Sixty women took the course and trained themselves to render Red Cross home service, to do volunteer work as visiting teachers, and to work with other agencies.

The group met six times for two hours at a time. The social organizations of Greensboro, the Community chest, Social Service exchange, Council of Social Agencies, and seven organizations having case work as their main interest, all contributed to the course.

Mrs. Milner lectured on "Psychological Problems of Working With the Individual." Merib Mossman, of the department of sociology of Woman's college, spoke about "Techniques of Case Work." Grace MacMurray, a student here, was among those taking the course.

Faculty Children Keep Learned Dads on the Jump

By BETTE BAILEY

"Out of the mouths of babes . . ." and some of the faculty children certainly do say a mouthful. Proud papers have been heard to expound daily on the witty remarks that "my child said," or, as in Dr. Ljung's case, "my little baby says." And baby Karen will delight anyone with her newly acquired "transient talk," for, having made a round trip to Wisconsin this fall, she is now a veteran traveler. The house is described in trainman's vocabulary, the dining room being "the diner," the kitchen "the kitcher," and the living room "the liver." After her "lay me down to sleep" at night, Karen invariably asks her daddy to turn on the light so the dark won't get in her eyes.

Soloists . . .

. . . Erlu Neece, tenor, from the First Presbyterian church in Greensboro; Mrs. Norris Smith, soprano, soloist in several churches in Greensboro; and Neil Jennings, baritone, of the Greensboro synagogue, who will take part in the presentation of Handel's "Messiah" in Memorial hall on Sunday, December 13, at 3:00 p.m. Phyllis Barker, a senior here, will be the contralto soloist.

Library Adds New Books To Shelves

French, Spanish, and Quaker Publications Top November List

Many new books have been added to the college library during the past month, according to a recent report issued by the librarian, Miss Katherine Riecks. The majority are French, Spanish, and Quaker books, while novels and histories are rated second in number.

Perhaps the most important war-time history is the new voluminous My India, My America, by Krishnalal Shridharam. This saga on India gives to us Americans for the first time a view of Hindu life and of the people of India from a twice-born Hindu. It contains intimate studies of the great leaders—Gandhi, Tagore, Nehru, and a score of others. There is a survey of India's strategic role in the present war, concluding that the fate of this nation with its 360,000,000 allies of democracy may well determine the history of the entire world.

Helen Hole reveals life at Westtown in her history, Westtown Through the Years, 1799-1942.

Not by Might, a new book by Sylvester Jones, contains on its jacket a review by Miss Dorothy Lloyd Gilbert of Guilford's English department.

Books treating the subject of our Latin neighbors include: Latin America, by Preston E. James, and Mexico. (Continued on Page Four)

Students To Visit Faculty Homes Tonight At Eight

Members of the Guilford college faculty—Dr. and Mrs. A. D. Beittel, Mr. and Mrs. William Edgerton, Dr. and Mrs. Philip Furnas, Dr. and Mrs. Francis Hayes, Dr. Mari Huth, Mr. and Mrs. Daryl Kent, Dr. and Mrs. Clyde Milner, and Dr. and Mrs. Curt Victorius—will hold open house for the students this evening at 8 o'clock.

Personal invitations have been sent to all of the students by a combined Y. M. C. A.-Y. W. C. A. committee composed of Anne Schneider, Patricia Lockwood, Brad Snipes, and David Stanfield.

History Class To Discuss Current Events Of Week

Dr. Newlin's History 21 class left its "Political and Cultural History of Modern Europe," Hayes, Vol. I, and turned to more modern trends in the "News of the Week" section of the New York Times. At the instigation of persons interested in current events, it was agreed to use the Time magazine, the American Observer, and the New York Times as bases for the discussion of current events every Thursday.

For the first experimental discussion, Dr. Newlin led the group into the consideration of the main battle fronts in a triangular shape from northern Norway to Spain to the Caucasus. The importance of the scuttling of the French fleet at Toulon, the new winter offensive controlling the Mediterranean, and the use of food as a political weapon were all discussed.

Biology Club To Initiate New Members, Dec. 16

Initiation of the new members of the Biology club will be held at the December 16 meeting of the club, as announced by Ray Tannenbaum, chairman of the program committee. The new members of the club are Evangeline Antrim, Hazel Bradshaw, Matt Bullock, Owen Calderwood, Betty Dunne, Florence Dutton, Vivian Faw, Jack Hartke, Richard Ilgen, Tama Koriyama, Dorothy Lancaster, Martha McLellan, Frances Merrill, Dorothy Peele, Cliff Weston, John White, Iris Thomas, Oscar Sapp, Richard Schafer, Sam Sheradsky, Molly Smith, Roy Smith, Helen Stabler, and Barbara Williams.

Greensboro I. C. Plans Dec. 10 Meeting Here

Beittel and Hurwitz To Represent Guilford At Monthly Session

The Greensboro Intercollegiate Interracial commission will hold its second regular monthly meeting at the home of Dr. A. D. Beittel, its faculty sponsor, Thursday, December 10, at 8 o'clock.

This group, organized some six years ago by the Commission on Interracial Cooperation, Inc., with its headquarters at Atlanta, Ga., includes most of the colleges in and about Greensboro. They are Agricultural and Technical, Bennett, Emmanuel Lutheran, Greensboro college, Guilford, and until very recently Woman's College of U. N. C.

The main purpose of this group is to encourage friendly relations between these institutions by regular meetings at which common problems are discussed or programs of general interest are presented. It is the Interracial commission which brings together choirs from these schools to participate in a program in observance of Race Relations Sunday, in February.

At the last meeting of the commission, held on the Bennett campus, Eleanor Beittel was elected vice-president and program chairman. Other officers include a president from Bennett and a secretary-treasurer from A. and T. Eleanor Beittel and Phil Hurwitz, who is head of the Interracial Commission committee of the Y. M.-Y. W. C. A., act as the official Guilford representatives. Members of the student body who are interested in attending the meeting are asked to see Mr. Hurwitz.

Seminar Students Attack Studies in Faculty Homes

By CORKY FIELD

About seven o'clock every once a week—and we don't mean on Sunday—Founders and Mary Hobbs halls begin to resound with the sharp click of heels. What is the occasion which prompts such splendiferous primping? You guessed it—seminars!

That mighty institution, begun three years ago in the home of Dr. and Mrs. Milner, brought together 20 aspiring, perspiring psychologists to ponder such specialized problems as hypnosis and mental telepathy. The incident was so unique it even necessitated the pres-

Choir To Give Annual Christmas Program In Chapel, Dec. 16

Soloists Will Include Una McBane, Marie Craven, And Barbara Anderson

The Guilford College A Cappella choir, under the direction of Dr. Ezra H. F. Weis, will present its annual Christmas program in chapel on December 16.

The program will consist of several Christmas carols from different countries. Following the processional, "Oh, Come All Ye Faithful," the group will sing "Hodie, Christus Natus Est" ("Today Christ is Born") by Healey Will, an English composer. This will be sung in the original Latin which is taken from a Christmas antiphon.

Una Seal McBane will sing the solo part in "A Little Child There Is Yborn" by William R. Davis, an American composer. This song is from a 15th century manuscript in the Bodleian Library, Oxford.

Barbara Anderson has the soprano role in "Ah, Jesu," accompanied by the choir. Marie Craven will sing the solo in "Song of Mary" from the Spanish by Vega.

The remaining selections include: "Unto Us," by F. Melius Christiansen, conductor of the famous St. Olaf choir; "Harken, Harken, Mother Dear," a Czech carol; "Hark, Bethlehem," a Polish carol, arranged by Gwynn S. Bennett.

The program concludes with an American carol, the "Hushing Carol" by Richard Kountz.

Cuneo, Cockman, Phillips To Train As Naval Cadets

Roy Cuneo, a sophomore at Guilford college, has been selected for training as a naval aviation cadet and will be ordered to active duty shortly. Cuneo, a native of New York city, graduated from Struyvesant high school. A brother, Ensign Frank N. Cuneo, is in the U. S. Navy.

Lacle Cockman, of Ocala, Florida, and John Phillips, of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, have also recently been selected for training as naval air cadets.

When ordered to active duty, these men will report to the U. S. Navy Pre-Flight school, either at the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, or the University of Georgia, Athens, Georgia, for three months of physical conditioning, instruction in naval essentials, military drill and ground school subjects. After completing this course they will be sent to one of the Navy's numerous reserve bases for primary flight training.
