Dr. Hayes Reveals Unique Names Found In America

By MARJORIE HOFFMAN

"What's in a name?" Shakespeare shouted once, and now Dr. Francis Hayes re-echoes the question. Convention is swept aside, he discovered, in the shrilling of Uncle Sam's "little black Sambos."

An intensive study into the names chosen by our colored friends has revealed some incredible labels, ranging from King Solomon to Gasoline Alley.

The Bible has a profound influence upon many papas and mamas who immediately pounce upon the names King Solomon, and I Will Arise and Go to My Father Smith; three brothers from Georgia are known as John the Baptist Preaching in the Wilderness, Image of Christ Lord God, and Jesus Christ and Him Crucified.

Other names are exceedingly graphic, as Flat Foot Floogie, Sea Bo'd (who arrived a month late and was therefore named after the railroad of the same

SAB Directs Guilford College Chest Drive

Frances Neece Heads Committee; Campaign Will End March 1st.

Three hundred dollars is the goal set by the Student Affairs Board for the Guilford College Chest drive to be concluded on March 1. The World Student Service fund, the American Friends Service committee, and the American Red Cross, all relief agencies, will receive these contributions in the amount indicated by the faculty and students.

This drive, initiated by the present board in an effort to combine those which are held by various organizations on campus throughout the year is under the direction of Frances Neece, Woman's Athletic Association representative to the board. "The plan as set up by the '42-'43 board," said Miss Neece, "is not a permanent one. Next year's group will be free to determine its procedure according to the results of our efforts and the existing circumstances."

Those solicitors chosen are: Dorothy Peele, Christine Stanfield, Virginia Ashcraft, Virginia Pope, for Mary Hobbs; Doris Shute, Edith Swisher, Martha McLennan, Carolyn Prout, for Founders hall; Suzu Koriyama, for the Binford house; Betty Dunn, for the Pines; Robert Rohr, James Lehr, Phil Hurwitz, Dave Stanfield, Brad Snipes, Ray Tannenbaum, and John Downing, for the men's dormitories.

Course For Workers In Reconstruction, Relief Being Offered

Guilford One of Fourteen To Train Specialists For Service Here and Abroad

In cooperation with a selected group of 14 colleges, Guilford is now offering a course of training for relief and reconstruction work abroad and for similar work as it may be needed in this country.

Eighteen students, four new to the campus, have enrolled for this 18-hour program, which aims to provide appropriate linguistic facility, a background knowledge and understanding of the people of Central Europe, and special training in health, hygiene, nutrition, sanitation, first aid, and physical education. Dr. Eva Campbell is teaching the first of the sequence courses—health, hygiene, nutrition and sanitation—which grants four semester hours credit. Two Red Cross First Aid courses, giving one semester hour credit, will be directed by E. Daryl Kent. Physical education will be under the leadership of Dr. Purdom and Robert Nolan.

Dr. Newlin, Dr. Curt Victorious, and Gerhard Friedrich will cooperate in presenting the study of Central European backgrounds, and Dr. Mari Louise Huth will teach the course in German. Each of these gives six semester hours credit.

Newcomers to Guilford enrolled in this training program include Jack Easterling, Duke freshman; Howard and Harold Jarrell, High Point college freshmen; Hall Partirick, junior math major from the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill.

Other members of these classes, open to both boys and girls, are Marriner Bailey, Edward Behre, Robert Beyer, Hughes Browne, Malcolm Crooks, Hurford Crosman, Roy Leake, Buxton Mickle, Austin Scott, Bradshaw Snipes, David Stanfield, Jack Wright, and Daniel Young. ## Psychology Addict Relents To Wiles of Hypnotist

By CORKY FIELD

When your mental and physical states reach the point where you can't do so simple an act as dropping a handkerchief or pronouncing your first name, the case bears investigation, and Pat Lockwood is the woman for the job.

All in the name of science, Pat devoted a whole day toward giving herself a mind-set conducive to hypnosis; from all the reports we've been hearing she was very successful. Under the hypnotic eye of Daryl Kent, the subject, delightfully oblivious of the aniated "scholars" (normally rather passive psych-seminar "pupils"—with due respects to Mrs. Milner's differentiation) and faculty members Dorothy L. Gilbert and Philip W. Furnas, present in the persons of Mildred Ragan and John Smithfield, testified to her ability for comprehension and obedience. (Sounds impressive, doesn't it, but Mr. Kent knows it was due to the second hypnotic stage.)

Disregarding whatever house rules the President's wife may have established, the hypnotic eye of Daryl Kent, the subject, delightfully oblivious of the ani-
