

Guilford Quakers Versus Lenoir-Rhyne Bears at Hickory

Tilt Tonight First Since 1942 Season

Guilford makes the long trek to Hickory tonight, where Coach Doak's Quaker five meets one of the toughest foes in the conference this season, the Lenoir-Rhyne Bears.

Currently, Shore Neal's club is gliding along in second place of the loop standings, having lost only to Catawba and Appalachian, the latter defeat coming as something of an upset.

At any rate, the Bears, paced throughout the season by mighty mite Pete Armstrong, have scored impressive wins over other league members, and should offer stiff opposition for the locals tonight.

Too, Guilford will be playing tonight without the services of Hamp Howerton, stalwart at forward all season, who will probably be out for the next week. A slick floor and a handy window proved the big forward's undoing; nine stitches in two bad cuts made his appearance in tonight's game impossible.

The return to action of Norm Goodridge, veteran guard and letterman, has and will help the Doakmen no little bit; already Goodridge has been of great help to the club in games with Catawba, Atlantic Christian, and Elon.

Probable starting line-ups for tonight's game:

Guilford	Lenoir-Rhyne
F—Haworth	..... Cline
F—Hirabayashi	..... Baxter
C—Farlow	..... Entzi
G—Aikawa	..... Armstrong
G—Goodridge	..... Ritchie

« QUAKES »

By JOHN HAWORTH

Since the last issue of the GUILFORDIAN, the Quaker basketball five has started to roll, having racked up three conference wins, plus a pair of victories over Lynchburg. In so doing, the locals have maintained fourth place in the North State conference with a three-three record, not counting Wednesday's fracas with Elon, for the highest position a Guilford club has maintained in many a moon.

Credit

A lion's share of the credit for this better than usual showing of the Quaker cagers goes to Coach Doak, who in addition to his duties of refashioning the gym floor, arranging schedules of practice that would not conflict with the dancers, and wrangling enough heat from powers-that-be to warm the gym for games, has been called upon to coach basketball.

And to top that, Coach Doak had another bouquet tossed in his lap, namely the arrangement for transportation, a task of small consequence what with a friendly gas rationing board in Greensboro. He got enough gas for his trips for one car. But then there was the small matter of the garage. The garage, it seems, would be empty without the college station wagon to fill it up, day in and day out. So the college station wagon stayed at home; the basketball team was forced to take two cars on every trip.

Now the gasoline is all gone. But there are only three more trips coming up. To Boone, Hickory, and Lynchburg. Short trips, only about, say 650 miles in all. But that's neither here nor there; the college authorities said to go ahead and have basketball, and the college authorities meant just that. Haven't they kept the gym nice and cool to keep the players from getting too hot? Haven't they kept the lights in the gym small so that the bright lights wouldn't blind the boys? Sure they have.

So to Coach Doak and the powers-that-be we extend our humble thanks for making possible this successful basketball season.

Goodridge Tallies High With 14 Markers as Quakers Trounce Elon

Racking up a lead in the early stages of the game, Guilford coasted to an impressive 50-35 win over arch-rival Elon in a tilt played here Wednesday night.

Led by Norm Goodridge, who tallied 14 markers in his third game of the season, the Quakers hit their highest game total of the season as the final stages of the conference race roll around.

Close behind Goodridge in the scoring column were John Haworth with 11, and Binford Farlow, who counted 10 for the Quakers. High man for the Christians was center Chandler with 12.

ATHLETES

By IRIS BEVILLE

Flash! Bash! Crash! Such scrambles! The basketball tournament is on among the girls. Mary Hobbites have proved once more to be the lovers of athletics by producing two teams to Founders one. The one and only out-house has pooled its resources to form a team, and what a team!—and is playing in the tournament.

By the way, Gerry Whitely and Marie Elliot are really good pitchers and hit the basket every time. The Archdale six took a win over Founders by 16 to 4, and Tuesday night Mary Hobbs topped Founders by 35 to 2. Captains of the teams are Loesges, West and Whitely. We've had some good attendance, so let's keep it up. We need your yells.

Barring rain, hail, sleet or snow, the girls will begin their spring riding classes soon (I hope). Anyway, if it's just a rumor, let's put in some nice sunny days for the gals and horses.

Come on, kids, to basketball practice so you can play on your class teams and support your dorms.

Incidentally, don't you think the boys have been sticking in their games extra well. Good work, boys—keep it up! We are all in back of you and rooting hard.

What happened in the Mary Hobbs-Archdale game? How about getting a referee who knows the rules and isn't influenced by Archdale!

Bowen, Hirabayashi Lead Aspirants for Loop Honors

As the basketball season nears its close, and North State teams begin to point for the annual tournament, probably to be resumed this season, the cards are on the table as time to pick the all-North State five rolls around.

Topping the slate of stars is Carol Bowen, already all-state football timber at Catawba this fall. Leading the scoring for all loop players by a handy margin, Bowen seems a cinch to repeat in his second bid for the mythical club.

Along with Bowen, little Eddie Hirabayashi, while not matching Bowen's spectacular play, has proven again that he is perhaps the most agile ball-handler in the Little Six. As captain of the Guilford entry, Hirabayashi has led his team in scoring, with well over a hundred points to his credit.

Bowen and Hirabayashi are the only two performers who stand a chance to repeat as all-conference, however, since all other members of the club a year ago have been lost to the armed services and through graduation.

Bowen's team-mate, center Paul Marklin, also looks good, his 30 point total against Elon being the highest number of points for a single player in any loop contest this winter.

At Lenoir-Rhyne, Pete Armstrong, tiny guard, has played exceptionally well, while High Point's strongest candidate appears to be Sheek, high scorer for the Panthers, or Sullivan, who, like Hirabayashi, is a steady ball handler and guard.

Bill Miller and John Thomas Jones of Appalachian, Binford Farlow of Guilford, Owen of Elon, and Askew of Atlantic Christian round out the list of likely candidates.

Eight Contests on Deck for Quakers as Season Nears Close

Guilford plays eight more basketball games this season, including tonight's clash with Lenoir-Rhyne at Hickory, in what will be the first meeting of the season between Shore Neal's Bears and the Quakers.

In addition to the Lenoir clash, the locals appear in four other conference games. The remaining schedule:

- Feb. 10—at Lenoir-Rhyne*.
  - Feb. 12—at Lynchburg.
  - Feb. 13—at Lynchburg.
  - Feb. 17—Atlantic Christian here*.
  - Feb. 19—at Appalachian*.
  - Feb. 22—ORD here.
  - Feb. 24—Lenoir-Rhyne here*.
  - Feb. 27—High Point here*.
- * Denotes conference games.
