

Vets Organization Has Varied Program For Second Semester

Matthews States Purposes; Total of 105 Veterans New Enrolled At Guilford

The recently formed veterans organization, under the leadership of Joseph "Goat" Matthews, (at the time THE GUILFORDIAN goes to press) planned to elect new officers for the second semester at their meeting on Thursday, February 7.

The main purpose of the veterans organization is to have unity among the veterans. The club will help any of them that would like to have it. Matthews also says, "It is also our purpose to give aid to the different school committees whenever we can, and to make this place a better place to go to school."

At the present time, there are 75 new veterans on campus and 30 who have previously attended Guilford.

The organization holds meetings twice a month. E. Daryl Kent and E. Garness Purdom have been speakers at the meetings. They plan to have Dr. Harry Johnson in the near future.

The veterans are planning to have a dance and some out-door activities for the college. They would like to conduct a chapel program. Also, they would like to have the college bookstore enlarged and opened more often.

In addition to President Matthews, other officers for the first semester were: Gray Fulk, first vice-president, Fred "Frisco" Bray, second vice-president, and Peggy Goode, secretary-treasurer.

SCA Knitting Drive To Start

The wool from the American Friends Service Committee has arrived. Shirley Williams, chairman of the social service committee of the Student Christian Association, says that the wool has been distributed to those students who put in their orders. If nough people are interested in obtaining extra wool some more may be sent for.

The articles which will be made are socks, scarfs, sweaters, and mittens. This clothing will be shipped abroad to the needy in war-stricken lands.

Each year the SCA sponsors a knitting drive for the AFSC.

Loesges Elected President of Co-op

Runkle, Ekeroth, Johns, Van Leer, Oliver, and Lewis Are Other New Officers

The campus co-op which has everything to sell from bobby pins to chocolate milk recently elected new officers for the second semester. On Tuesday, January 29, the shareholders elected the following people: Dorrie Loesges, president; Ben Runkle, vice president; Alice Ekeroth, secretary. The members of the Board include Jeanne Van Leer, Janney Johns, Lucille Oliver, and Sara Lewis.

The new president, Dorrie Loesges has been very active in the co-op ever since its establishment in September 1944. Ben Runkle, vice president attended Guilford a few years ago and now is returned to take an active part in extra-curricular activities such as the co-op. Alice Ekeroth, secretary, an economics major, was initial in forming the co-op on the campus.

The officers for the first semester were: Sara Lewis, president; Shirley Williams, vice president; and Dorrie Loesges secretary.

The co-op is open for business every afternoon from 4:00 till 5:00 except Sundays and from 9:40 till 10:00 except Saturday. It is open from 9:00 till 10:00 on Saturday evenings.

Membership in the co-op is open to all students and faculty. Shares are $1.00 each and regardless of the number of shares held, the holder gets one vote only.

Goode Wedded To Bishop

Margaret Elizabeth Goode was married to Cpl. Frederick William Bishop at the Avondale Methodist Church in Avondale, N. C., February 2 at 5:00, with the Reverend Samuel Moss officiating. Mrs. Bishop plans to continue her studies at Guilford, while her husband, soon to receive his discharge, plans to reenlist in the Army.

Young Friends Plan For Annual Conference

Anscombe To Speak; Lena Mae Adams Is Chairman Of Steering Committee

The third annual Young Friends Conference will be held at Guilford on March 9 and 10. All young Friends of college age and the juniors and seniors in high schools, who are Friends, are invited.

The steering committee of the Guilford College Young Friends Organization is under the chairmanship of Lena Mae Adams. This committee is making plans for the conference. Francis C. Anscombe of the department of history of Salem College, Winston-Salem will speak on "The Ideological Roots of Quaker Conviction." Other speakers have been invited, but their attendance is not definite.

Other committees at work are: Laura Mae Kirkman and Mary Lee Macon, publicity; Jane Pringle and Edgar Norton, hospitality; Bertie Robertson and Howard Coble, registration; Beatrice Carmien and Sara Barnes, literature; Floyd and Lucretia Moore, Laura Mae Kirkman, recreation.

Other members of these committees will be announced later. All Friends on the campus will be expected to help make the conference a success.

Mary Hobbs Hall Alive With Various Activities

The girls of Mary Hobbs Hall wish to formally welcome their new house mother, Mrs. Bertha Stevens Ginn, affectionately called "Mom," who arrived at Guilford College two weeks ago. During the absence of a house mother, Doris Coble, house president of Mary Hobbs, had assumed her duties.

Several changes and improvements have taken place in the dormitory. The girls' student parlor has been converted into a dating parlor, and a small room just off the dining hall has been painted and attractively furnished by some of the girls into a senior parlor. Also a freezer locker has been added to the kitchen of Mary Hobbs.

On Saturday night, Feb. 2, Mary Hobbs gave a welcoming party for the student body to help new students get acquainted. A dance was given in the dining room, games were played in the parlors, and there was group singing around the piano.

Perkins Appointed N. C. Young Friends Secretary

Dr. A. I. Newlin has announced that the Young Friends Board of the North Carolina Yearly Meeting has appointed Theodore E. Perkins of Goldsboro as Young Friends secretary.

North Carolina yearly meeting is the first yearly meeting to have a person filling such a position.

Perkins has been chairman of the Young Friends Board which plans and promotes youth activities in the body of Quakers and he is a recent graduate of Duke Divinity School and minister of Spring Friends meeting.

He has wide experience in young people's activities and in this full-time capacity will help to develop the educational and religious activities of young Quakers in North Carolina.

At present he is at Guilford College helping the Young Friends Board and students of Guilford make plans for the Young Friends Conference to be held on campus in March.

CLYDE A. MILNER

Milner States Plans Of Friends Post-War Meeting On Education

Conference Held By Five Years Meeting, Association Of Friends Colleges

President Clyde A. Milner has announced that the first general post-war conference on education and possibly the most significant of its type is the history of the American Society of Friends, will be held in Richmond, Ind., next October 17-20. The purpose of the conference will be for representatives of Quaker education to think through together what responsibilities and special opportunities Friends' schools and colleges have in the present world situation.

Attending the conference will be three delegates, the principal, a faculty representative, and a board representative from each elementary school, preparatory school, and college in the United States sponsored by the Society of Friends. In preparatory for the conference brief analysis of the distinctive features and functions of Quaker education will be prepared by Dorothy L. Gilbert. It is hoped that this brochure will serve to stimulate the formation of ideas and opinions for discussions at the conference.

"The tentative plans for the conference in Richmond," Dr. Milner explained, "emphasize the forming of interest groups at which the results of the studies from the various campuses will be shared, it is then hoped a more complete formulation of objectives of Quaker education will evolve which can be put into printed form."

The educational conference will be sponsored by the board of education of the Five Years Meeting of Friends as well as by the Association of Friends colleges, both of which organizations are served by Dr. Milner as chairman. The dual sponsorship will enable educators from all bodies of Friends in America to consider mutually their common interests and problems.

Among the members of the program committee for the conference, of which Dr. Milner is also chairman, are Thomas E. Jones, of Fiske University, President John Nason of Swarthmore College, Erroll T. Elliot, editor of The American Friend, Arthur McKell, dean of William Penn College, Wilbur Brafton, principal of Barnesville Friends School, and Richard McFelly, headmaster of Friends Central School.

Freshmen To Give Dance Tonight at 7:30

Janney Johns Announces Plans Including A Floor Show and Chorus Singing

The Freshmen Class will sponsor a dance and floor show for the entire student body which will be held in the college gym at 7:30 tonight. Janney Johns, social chairman of the class has announced the plans for the occasion.

The freshmen intend to use all of their available talent for the floor show. There will be an exhibition square dance by Julie White, Jim Williams, Janney Johns, Clinton Talley, Inge Longerich, Edgar Norton, Eldora Haworth, and David Hadley. Other numbers include a Russian dance, a barber shop quartet, and a chorus of girls. Kemp Foster, class president, is to act as master of ceremonies.

The committees and their respective chairmen follow: decorating, Julie White; program, Eldora Haworth, publicity, Inge Longerich, and refreshments, Bettina Huston.

The admission fee is twenty cents per person.

Nancy Miller Is Chosen Queen In Campus Polls

In the May Queen elections which were held on Jan. 19, Nancy Miller was chosen queen. Martha McLellan, runner-up will be maid-of-honor. The other members of the court are: Frances Siler, Grace Siler, Iris Beville, Peggy Taylor, Linda Pell, and Mary Britton.

Come On Up And See Me; I'll Visit You Next Week

By SNAKI KNIGHT
He waked up early, did this little freshman in Cox. "Rise and shine, Roomie!" he shouted, leaping down from the top bunk to the floor.

"Eecowruh," said Roomie.

"Come on, come on, get up," urged Freshie, gently pulling off the cover so that the arctic breeze from the open window could refresh the stale air in the room.

"Eecowruh, lee' me unalone—" groaned Roomie peevishly.

"Oh, you idiot! Today's open house at Mary Hobbs, and"—zoom

It was 2:59. Doris had been holding back the panting multitude for 13 minutes. Only one minute to go. She did it! Then Jernigan sped down the hall to conduct his tour—alone!

Freshie and Roomie crossed the old Mason-Dixon line uncertainly. From either hall, beaming smiles beckoned. Lissome forms leaned against the doorways. With a mind strictly for business, they inspected first floor thoroughly—no dust under beds, no dirt over doors, no lint in the corners. They saw the kitchen, the dining room, and the basement. They looked at the porches, the coal bin and the garbage cans. Then they went upstairs. Here the going was slower. There were more rooms, more lissome forms, and more smiles. They went from room to room, but everywhere they went, Jernigan was there before them. They met Spiegel with his notebook; they saw Dr. Ott, closely followed by Hayes and Binford, making the most of this God-given making the most of this God-given opportunity to see how Mary Hobbs lives.

Mary Hobbs girls welcomed everyone that came, smiled sweetly, and stood with their backs to the closet doors.

After some punch and Chopin by Hadley, Roomie and Freshie toiled up the back steps to third door. They saw the suites. They admired South Suite's beautiful bedspreads and rugs; they liked the calendars in North Suite; the view in Berlene's and Irene's room

Returning Vets Swell Enrollment of College

By PEGGY BISHOP

Released service men have come to Guilford this year in three different waves. The first one was at the beginning of school. These 16 veterans with the one girl veteran on campus, formed a club which has already sponsored a dance and is planning other social events.

Then before Christmas, 14 others arrived, among them Brooks Hansard, George Clodfelter, Hugh Joyce, Ben Runkle, Irie Leonard, Carlson Mitchell, Harold Atwood, Robert Bordon, and Art Faircloth.

These veterans have traveled widely and seen much in helping to win the war. For example, Brooks Hansard, in the Air Corps, was shifted from plane to plane and learned to operate all types of planes in all types of weather conditions. He was a Flight

Officer and was in service for two and a half years. He is a freshman here and is a math major.

George Clodfelter, another who never left the States, was a Pfc. and was in the service for 18 months. In the Infantry, he was a machine gunner in the weapons platoon of his battalion. He is a freshman and is majoring in economics.

Hugh Joyce, also of the Air Corps, was in the service for three and a half years, two and a half of which were spent overseas. He was in New Guinea, the Philippines, and Okinawa. He served in the ground crew of Photo Intelligence. He, also, is a freshman, and is majoring in pre-law.

At the beginning of the second semester, the third and by far the largest wave of new men came in. This group, made up of GI's from Guilford (Continued on Page Three)
