New Classrooms and Seminar Rooms Are To Be Constructed

Two New Buildings To Be Built on College Campus; Students Aiding in Work

Construction has begun on Guilford's campus of two pre-fabricated frame buildings which will serve as temporary educational facilities, according to David H. Parsons, business manager.

The pre-fabs were brought here from Camp Forest, Tenn., and are being built under the authority of the Temporary Educational Work Facility Association by the Federal Works Agency. The J. A. Jones Construction Company, Charlotte is directing the project.

The building situated in the area behind Mem hall, adjacent to the library, is expected to house eight seminar offices, four small offices and one classroom. The seminar offices will take need for small classrooms which are desirable for informal discussion groups.

To Be Converted

On the peninsula separating Founders from the gym, will be erected a building containing two large rooms, two offices and one seminar. When the emergency need for classrooms is over, this building is expected to be converted into a campus soda shop, book store, and post office.

The buildings will be frame with weather boarding on the outside and lined with sheet rock. Completion is anticipated by FWA by May 1.

Quality Averages Higher This Year Than Last, Says Miss Lasley; 12 Pass One Course

Guilford Organizes Student Federalists

Allen Hamilton, Bath, Me., was elected president of the Guilford College Chapter of Student Federalists at the initial meeting of that organization last week on the Quaker campus.

Other officers elected to Guilford's newest club are: vice president, Bill Danenburg, Greensboro; secretary, David Hadley, High Point; and treasurer, Marianne Victorius, Guilford College.

Organized to inaugurate a new world sovereignty based on the principles of federalism, the organization made plans to send Danenburg and Hamilton to the North Carolina Student Federalists Convention held at Asheville February 21 and 22.

A subsidiary of the world federal government created in Luxemburg last October by 37 organizations in 14 countries, the Student Federalists will seek to revise certain articles of the United Nations Charter on the basis that the United Nations is not a federal government and thus has no authority over individuals. The Student Federalists believe that the United Nations "will not be adequate until it is capable of making, interpreting, and enforcing world law."

Twenty-seven students passed the necessary qualifications to form the Honor Roll for the fall semester, according to Era Lasley, registrar. A quality average of 2.50 or better is needed to achieve Honor Roll standing.

Those on the Honor Roll are the following: seniors, John Haworth, Frank Mason Buie, Grimsley Hobbs, Jean Lindley, Shelley York, Jr., John Wolfe, Jr.; juniors, Jerome Allen, Henry Perrine Bilyeu, Jennie Norman Cannon, Samuel Carter, Charles Jennings, Joseph Lasley, Bradshaw Snipes; sophomore, Sanford Gerald Ducker, Sara Eldora Haworth, Bettina Ann Huston, Ingeborg Theresa Longerich, Elizabeth Nunn, Marjon OrNSTEIN, Samuel Wilson and Albert Hardy; freshman, Charlotte Anne Flanders, Mary Virginia Murrow, Marie Leora Orvis, Joseph Poglioli, Mary Jane Rhodes, and Marianne Victorius.

Grades Above Par

Names other than those of the Honor Roll, which is posted are to be withheld from publication to make counseling more effective. One person received all A's, eight made all A's but one, and 35 people made all A's and B's. Three students made all B's.

On the darker side of the picture, 90 passed fewer than nine hours with a grade of C, with 32 of these passing less than nine hours. Twelve Guilfordians passed only one course.

Based on an enrollment of 517 for the fall term 1946-47 and 260 for the fall term 1945-46, the grades compare of this year favorably with those of last year.

Archdale Students and Dates To Have Picnic and Dance March 8

When? March 8. Where? The pasture and Archdale Hall.

What? The men of Archdale are sponsoring a picnic and dance for themselves and their dates.

Why? Chairman Joe Trollinger and the rest of the Archdale students announce that it is the first move on their part to liven the school spirit on the campus. Trollinger said there are many forms of entertainment to be had in and about the college area if students are willing to get together and promote some type of recreation.

However, the picnic, which will include a softball game, "Weener" roast, and girls' softball match, will be restricted, along with the dance in the evening in the dayroom at Archdale, to those students in Archdale who signed up with Trollinger.

It is hoped by the men of Archdale that this move on their part will stir the presently quiet minds of others into sponsoring more social activities at Guilford.

AFSC Representative Confers with Students

Miss Anne Silver, a field worker and secretary in the American Friends Service Committee, was on campus from February 12 until February 15.

Miss Silver held personal conference with those interested in either summer jobs or permanent positions with the American Friends Service Committee. The summer jobs were in the summer work camps of the United States, in Europe and in Mexico. In these work camps the students, both boys and girls, participate in manual labor. They will rebuild war torn areas; work on sanitary improvements; and help on farms.

Another type of work is to be done by the students this summer. They will also work as psychiatric aides in selected mental institutions in America. The A.S.F.C. recently started this project, and it is the only one of the summer jobs that pay the students.

In the summer work camps the cost is that of maintenance of the individual. The cost is approximately $150.00 in the United States, and $600.00 in Europe. The work period lasts from July through August.

Former Staff Head Sends Letter From School in Palestine

Pete Moore and Wife Leave States November 6 After New York Holiday

Friends Boys School Ramallah, Palestine January, 1947

To Our Friends Everywhere Greetings of the New Year!

So many of you have contributed letters or cards for the happiness of our first Christmas in Palestine that we must call upon our good friend, Betty Thompson, of Guilford College, to assist us in sending out this general reply. We hope your letters will keep coming. Airmail rate of 25c from the U.S.A. should encourage you; it is still 125 mills (50c) from here.

We got away from Greensboro in the wee hours on October 1 with happy farewells from Charles and Betty Ott, the Dad Arnolds, Pete's sister and brother-in-law, the Joe Allreds and faithful Dave Stafford, who stayed until the late train arrived and departed. In Washington the next morning we visited Frances Roberts and some of her friends in the State Department, including W. J. Porter, who has just arrived in Jerusalem as vice consul. Briefly we saw Dr. David Baumgardt, formerly of Pendle Hill, in the Library of Congress. We continued that night to Philadelphia for a day or two. There we saw friends at the Service Committee, Pendle Hill and the Baptist Institute. One of our dearest memories is the delicious roast provided by Hugh and Alma Moore!

On Thursday, October 3, we went on to New York and the Herald Square Hotel, expecting to sail on the 8th. We learned on the 7th that the maritime strike was to delay the S. S. Marine Corp. Each day we thought there would be news. We went on this way, from one day to the next, until on November 4 we learned that we would actually sail on the 4th. Meantime we shared our savings with the hotel, the automats, a few plays and pictures. We heard the inauguration sermon of Dr. Robert McCracken at Riverside Church; listened to

Awards Presented by Merchants to Players For Outstanding Work

The following merchandise, presented by clothing establishments of Greensboro, will be awarded to the individual members of the basketball team who are chosen to represent the qualifications specified. The awarding will take place during the chapel program on Tuesday, March 11, 1947.

An all-weather jacket given by the Hall-Putnam Clothiers will be awarded to "the player voted the most valuable to the team." An all-wool sweater will be presented to "the high scorer" by the courtesy of the Youngs-DeBoe Clothiers, and a pair of Freeman "Royal Rogue" shoes will be awarded by the Hall-Putnam Shoe Department to "the most improved player of the season."

This merchandise is now on display in the library.

Student Service Chairman Pictures World Relief Aid

Reverend Winburn T. Thomas, Ph.D., general secretary for the Student Volunteer Movement for Christian Missions, was the speaker in chapel on Thursday, February 13.

As chairman of the International Student Service Commission, he visited 19 universities in the French, British, American, and Russian zones of Germany. The commission's report inducted World Student Relief to undertake a program of material aid among the students of Germany.

It was this topic of aiding students overseas that formed the basis for Reverend Thomas' chapel talk. He gave an interesting and informative picture of the conditions under which the students abroad live and study. He then outlined the various ways in which help was needed and told of the contributions already made by various countries to alleviate this critical situation.

Salem College Plans Educational Meeting

(Special to The Guilfordian)

Four speakers of national importance will be at Salem College March 3 through March 9 to take part in a symposium on women's education, which is being held as a major part of the 175th anniversary celebrations at Salem College, Winston-Salem, N. C.

Mrs. Grace Loucks Elliott, general secretary of the national Y.W.C.A.; Mrs. J. J. Clark, owner-manager of the Security State Bank of Pharr, Texas; Dr. Elise Strang L'Esperance, director of the Strang Cancer Prevention Clinics and assistant professor of preventive medicine at Cornell University; and Harrison Smith, president and owner of the Saturday Review of Literature, will come to Winston-Salem to participate in the symposium.

All four speakers will discuss the opportunities for women in their particular fields. Emphasis at the symposium will be placed on discovering how a liberal arts college can train women to take their places in the fields of religion, business, medicine, and literature.

Each speaker will talk one evening during the symposium. The lectures will take place in Memorial Hall at 8 p.m. Dr. Howard E. Rondthaler, president of Salem College, has announced that the public is invited and urged to attend these meetings which are presented as much in the interest of the townspeople as for the students at Salem College.

Snipes Elected Head Of IRC Organization

At a recent meeting of the International Relations club an election of new officers for the spring term was held. Brad Snipes replaces Leonard Twine as president of the organization which was formed last semester by several students interested in discussing current affairs.

Other officers elected were: Inge Longerich, representative to the Student Affairs Board; Lucille Oliver, secretary; and Carl Erickson, treasurer.
