Guilford Clowns Again Cop Campus Championship

The Guilford Clowns won the intramural basketball championship for 1950 by beating the Yankee Stadium "Jockeys" in a 53-37 game. The Yankees gained the final round of the playoffs by trouncing the Married Vets, C division winners, 26-8. The Clowns defeated Old South 50-31 and Old North swamped Center 49-29 to throw the A division into a three-way tie. The Clowns then captured both the playoffs, beating Old South 30-21 and Old North 45-33, to get into the championship round. Mann paced the Clowns in both contests, hitting for 15 points in each game.

In division B, Yankee Stadium came through with a one-sided 34-14 victory over the Community Day Hops to tie the Lower Archdale for the division title. In the playoff Al Milner checked in with 11 points to lead his team to a close 30-27 triumph over the Archdale five.

Bob Shoaf was the high individual scorer during the regular season with a total of 64 points. Jimmy Mann, runnerup for the season scoring crown, was the high man in the playoffs with 19 points. Don McLeod, of the Clowns, was selected as the best sport during the tournament and will receive the sportsmanship award.

The All-Campus team, selected by a vote of the managers of each team, was paced by the Clowns. Don McLeod and Jack Elkins were selected to represent the champions on the "Dream Team." Al Milner of the second place Yankee Stadium club and Bob Shoaf, high scorer from Lower Archdale, won the forward berths, while Garland Rakestraw, Upper Archdale, teamed with Elkins at the other guard slot. The Manager selected was Tom Eवाल.

The tournament this year was a big success. Much credit goes to officials, scorekeepers, and all others whose cooperation helped to put it over. All those interested in the softball league are asked to watch

Quakers Lose to Appalachian as Curtain Falls

The basketball season is over as far as Guilford College is concerned. In the last week of the season the Quakers ran into quite a bit of tough luck. Hanes Hosiere dumped them 64-56. Then they bumped into an Eastern Carolina Teachers team that was in the middle of a hot streak and got beat, 56-32.

This game was followed by a thrilling one at home against Catawba. It was a nip-and-tuck battle until the last eight minutes of play. Then the Indians got hot and defeated the Quakers, 64-52.

In the last game of the season, the Quakers went over to Elon and were beaten by a 70-51 score. At this time Elon was the hottest team in the conference, as they later proved by their showing against High Point, Catawba, and Appalachian in the tournament at Statesville.

Guilford's tournament game was lost to Appalachian by a score of 70-59, ending the basketball season. Star of the game was J. T. Venable, who scored 15 points before he fouled out in the second half.

Basketball

A girls' basketball team elected by voting among the different girls represented Guilford in a basketball game on February — at Woman's College. Twelve girls attended and they lost the game by a close score of 25 to 20. Both teams were about evenly matched with Woman's College having slight advantage as to height. The twelve girls were: forwards, Hockett, Venable, Williams, Lowe, Roberson, and Haworth; guards Neece, Brown, Martin, Victorius, Kirkman, and Smoak. "Butch" Haworth was high scorer with ten points.

The guards deserve much credit for a good defensive game. After the game the girls were invited to stay for dinner and W.C.'s game with Wingate Junior College. This (Continued on Page Four)

Director: "Change the settings, quick! The basketball scene is finished. The next scene is spring football!"

Stage Manager: "Kee-rect, Mr. Director—only you're a little late. You see, the hopeful grid candidates donned their pads and headgears a couple of weeks ago."

In fact, the boys have already had a couple of real live scrimmages. They proved pretty successful, too, considering the large number of new inexperienced boys with whom Coaches Eddie and Emmett are having to work. From here, we seem to be rather strong in some positions, but quite weak in others. Our most outstanding deficiencies at present seem to be quarterbacks, centers and fullbacks. Venuto, Elkins, and Jones, all inexperienced at running a split "T," are working hard and improving steadily. Of course, with the return of "Wild Goose" Johns from the cage wars, worries at the quarter will be dispensed with. Our fullbacks at present consist of a couple of rough, tough converted linemen, namely, Chief and Shugart. Both are hard chargers, but lack the finesse and experience necessary; however, both of these will be acquired with practice. At center, Larry Crawford is the only stalwart returning. However, Gresham will probably become a center and Fettor, a new-comer, is trying hard.

We've got several good guards, tackles and ends, and you just can't beat Breedon, Yarborough, Venuto, and Feeney at the halves, as well as freshmen Lakey (who has an injured knee) and Browning. So you see, a few capable reserves in key places, and we'll have a championship team! Look out, Appalachian! September 17 isn't too far off!

Now to basketball—a touchy subject to most Quakers this year. The only truly bright spot in the season just past was our thrilling victory over Lenoir Rhyne—one of the best games I've seen. Everything was right that night. The Rebels (Confederate hats and all) were whooping it up from their improvised cheering section. Dick was hitting, the others were working together smoothly. Coach Lentz had a birthday and a new pair of shoes—we just couldn't lose that night.

Then we played High Point over here and we all expected repeat performance—up until the last eight minutes of the game; that is, we just couldn't keep up that terrific pace.

Then we said, "Wait until the tournament, and we'll show 'em something." So we played Appalachian and Al couldn't buy a basket, Dick couldn't get a shot, etc. The only bright spot that night was those uncanny hooks of J. T. Venable, who collected 15 for himself.

Here's a tip: Watch the Guilford Clowns in the Piedmont Open for some thrilling basketball.

Got to go. See ya' next issue!

Bendy the Bunny has now arrived at ELLIS-STONE'S. Bendy is a toy Easter Rabbit made in England. He is wired on the inside and can do all kinds of tricks. Bendy is made of rubber and he can stand alone.

Bendy is dressed in a cut-away coat and wears green trousers. He has on a bow-tie and is about eighteen inches high. He has pearly white buck-teeth and beautiful pink ears.

He can be made into almost any kind of pose, and is really comical to see. One of Bendy's cutest poses is that of the unsuccessful businessman who failed to get an order. He stands with his ears drooping and his hands behind his back, and is the picture of grief.

This little rabbit was made to be enjoyed by adults and children alike, so be sure to come in soon and see him in person. Bendy can be bought for $1.98.
