33rd Summer Session - - June 5th to August 5th, 1950

The Guilford College campus is particularly lovely in the summer. The century-old oaks provide an abundance of shade. The nearly three hundred acres of rolling hills, largely wooded, provide opportunities for good hiking. Tennis and badminton courts, the archery range, and diamonds for baseball and softball provide for recreation. The weather is generally mild with cool evenings and nights.

Freshmen may begin their college education in an atmosphere of quiet and peaceful surroundings without the usual busy period of the opening of college in the fall. Mathematics 13-14 and Natural Science 11 are offered for their benefit.
