NANCY DETTOR

SYDNEY THOMPSON

Haring, Dettor, Brown And Thompson In Cast

At 8:00 p. m. tonight and tomorrow night the Revelers Club will present its fall production, "The Glass Menagerie." The lead roles will be played by Lee Haring and Nancy Dettor. They will be supported by Sydney Thompson and Ted Brown. They are all veterans of former plays; Sydney and Ted were in both the fall and spring plays last year; Nancy was in the fall play; and Mr. Haring was in the spring play. Mr. Haring is faculty advisor of the Revelers Club and director of their productions.

Tennessee Williams, author of "The Glass Menagerie," wrote "The Streetcar Named Desire" which was produced as an Academy Award winning motion picture. "The Glass Menagerie" also has been produced as a motion picture.

"The Glass Menagerie" is the story of a young girl living in a dream world surrounded by her faithful animals. It tells of an ambitious mother and the harm she does.

This play promises to be an enjoyable one, for the Revelers are noted for their excellent productions.

BSU

One of the newer organizations on the campus, organized essentially for the enrichment and perpetuation of the religious life and faith of Guilford's Baptist students, is the Baptist Student Union. Meetings are to be held on alternate Wednesday evenings (6:45 p. m.) and will consist of devotional periods and programs. At the last meeting held November 17, Dr. Whitaker, state secretary of the Baptist Student Union, was guest and speaker. Information concerning meeting dates and programs can be procured through Gerry Price, president.

SCA Thanksgiving Service

The Student Christian Association is sponsoring a Thanksgiving worship service in the Meeting House at 10:00 a. m. on Thanksgiving Day. The service will be directed by Bill Gibson.

The Guilford College A Capella Choir will present several selections of Thanksgiving music. The Choir, under the able direction of Mr. C. C. Baumbach, presented the music for the Founders' Day celebration.

This year, and for the next three years, the U. S. Government is contributing 500 million pounds of surplus wheat, cotton, cottonseed oil, corn, corn products, butter, cheese and powdered milk to the Church World Service, and is paying the cost of transportation with the stipulation that the C. W. S. raise the $7.5 million needed to distribute the surplus. This is part of the "Share the Surplus" plan.

Each $1 contributed by each of us for this distribution will release $20 worth of food to the needy. These foodstuffs will go to the needy all over the world, and thirty-five denominations are joining in this undertaking.

The offering today will be towards this cause. Let's make this Thanksgiving Day a "Share Our Surplus" Day.

SOCIAL SCIENCE FORUM

Yesterday and today the Eighth Annual Harriet Elliott Social Science Forum is meeting at Woman's College. The theme for this year is the three causes of the present international tensions — ideological conflicts, economic pressures, and differences in national character.

A most impressive list of speakers was secured for this year's Forum: Leonard S. Cottrell, Jr., social psychologist with the Russell Sage Foundation, New York; Klaus E. Knorr, professor of public and international affairs, Princeton Center of International Studies; Margaret Mead, professor of anthropology, Columbia University; and Dana Adams Schmidt, Washington correspondent for the New York Times.

The IRC is attending the sessions as a body, and all other campus students are invited to attend. There will be sessions this afternoon and tonight.

Thanksgiving Dinner

Thanksgiving Dinner this year will be served at 1:00 p. m. For the past several years we have had a football game on Thanksgiving afternoon, and the dinner at night. This year, however, since we have no game, dinner will be in the middle of the day.

NOTICE

There will not be an issue of the GUILFORDIAN next week due to Thanksgiving Holidays. Our next issue will be December 3.
