Trustees Approve Development Plans

David Morrah Appointed to Publicity Director Post

David W. Morrah, Jr., Greensboro author and newspaper columnist, has been appointed director of public relations at Guilford College, according to Dr. Clyde A. Milner, college president.

David W. Morrah, Jr.

"In addition to directing our news service and editing our publications, he will assist our trustees and our administration with the college's promotional and development program," Milner said.

A graduate of Greensboro Senior High School, Morrah holds a degree in architectural engineering from State College.

The college's new public relations head served in the Army for five years and was discharged with the rank of captain in 1946.

He was close combat director for the anti-aircraft comand for three years and served as athletic and recreation director in Alaska for two years.

He was vice-president and art director of Bradham & Company, a Greensboro advertising agency, from 1947 to 1955.

The author of several humorous books, Morrah is also known to readers of the American Magazine, the Saturday Evening Post, and the American Legion Magazine.

REVELERS SUCCESSFUL IN DRAMATIC FINALS

Friday, April 12, saw the achievement of one of the goals of the Guilford College Revelers Club at the 34th Annual Festival of the Carolina Dramatic Association in Chapel Hill. In a field of twenty-six productions of one-act plays competing in several different categories, the judges awarded to Guilford College's Judgement of Court by Luigi Pirandello, the highest rating award, with associate professor of English Donald D. Deagon, director, receiving the honor.

On March 30, this play was presented at Woman's College for the semi-final elimination and, having passed with favorable comments from the judges, went on to win further honor at Chapel Hill.

Following the Saturday afternoon series of productions, a discussion and criticism period was held and presided over by Harry E. Davis, Associate Director and Thomas M. Patterson, Assistant Director of the Carolina Playmakers and Mrs. Thomas M. Patterson of the University faculty. All aspects, from the direction and interpretation to the setting were praised by the judges and members of the audience, and the applause which concluded both the performance and the discussion of the production was highly enthusiastic. Particular kudos went to Jim Palmer and Craven Mackie for their sensitive portrayals of Judge D'Andrea and Rosario Chiaro respectively.

John Lacava as Marranca; Phal Hodgin, Dale Embich and Jim Williams as the Three Magistrates; and Mary Ella Clark as Rosinella completed the cast of the award-winning production.

Yates Appointed Dean of Men

Dr. Clyde A. Milner, President of Guilford College, has announced the appointment of Bill Lee Yates, a Thomasville native and 1953 graduate of the College, as Dean of Men and Assistant Professor of Education. Mr. Yates will assume his duties September 1, succeeding Dr. E. Daryl Kent who will devote all of his time to the planned expansion of the Department of Religion.

Yates was given the Key Senior award while at Guilford and was an outstanding scholar, athlete and student leader. He was an honor roll student for five semesters, captain of the football team and a varsity basketball and baseball player. He received the undergraduate Athletic Award and the Achievement Award and served as president of the Junior Class, the

Science Fair to Be Held Tonight

Between the hours of seven and nine-thirty tonight, the first annual Guilford College Science Fair will be held in King Hall. It will be open to all students, faculty, and members of the general public who, at last, will be able to penetrate the cavernous depths of the science labs. The fair will be composed of projects and exhibitions developed by the future neophyte scientists from each of the major science departments — biology, chemistry, and physics.

The initiation of the fair was begun last semester in the Biology Club. Chester Haworth and Alvin Jaffee were elected to serve as co-chairmen for the project.

The purpose of the fair is threefold:

(1) To show the student body and the public the practical applications of science at the undergraduate level.

(2) To encourage more students to enter scientific careers.

(3) To allow the science students to exhibit their talents.

Some of the contributing students and their projects are: Biology — first floor labs: Julia Trimble and Dave Griffin, dissection of frogs; Ann Rae Thomas and Bert Wellons, bacteriology; John Slopey and Peggy Johnson, embryology; Chester Haworth and Alvin Jaffee, evolution of lungs.

Chemistry — second floor labs: Obie Burt and Jack Peters, organic chemistry (several experiments).

Physics—basement: Dudley Cox, electricity; Robert Rosier, transmitters and receivers; Andrew Gydinski, electricity.

May Day Dance Slated for May

Guilford's only flower dance of the year, the annual May Day Dance sponsored by the WAA, will be held in the gym from 8:30 until 11:30 o'clock on the evening of May 4th. Decorations will be centered around the theme, "American in Paris."

As usual, tickets will be $1.50 per couple and will be sold at the door or can be purchased ahead of time from Joyce Hannaum or Becke Blackwell, co-chairmen of the dance.

Plans hint that a new dance band will be introduced to the college at this time, and there is promise of some good music. At intermission Guilford's May Court will be introduced.

NOTICE

Students are requested not to sunbathe nor use the campus athletic facilities from 10 o'clock to 12 o'clock, Sunday mornings.

Dr. Milner Adopts Slogan In Presenting Outline for Plans

In executive session Friday, April 12, at the College, the Board of Trustees of Guilford College, Robert H. Frazier, Chairman, approved a $1,250,000 development program looking toward June 1962, when the institution will celebrate the completion of 125 years of continuous educational service. In presenting an outline of the program, Dr. Clyde A. Milner, President of the College, said, "We have adopted as our slogan, "A million and a quarter by a century and a quarter."

Highlights of the action taken by the trustees were approval of plans to attain a minimum endowment of $2,000,000; to construct an Auditorium-Chapel-Religious Education Building costing $300,000, preliminary plans for which were shown at the meeting; to achieve a Living Endowment of $20,000 annually; to construct the proposed education building for the Greensboro Division on its West Washington Street property; to remodel the second floor of Memorial Hall; and to relocate the athletic and recreational areas.

The trustees also approved a policy establishing a maximum enrollment of 600 degree students, with a goal of 550 students carrying a full schedule of degree work completing each academic year. In explaining the purpose of this policy, Dr. Milner stated, "Careful selection of new students academically qualified for college work will enable us to point with pride to the number of students who finish each year rather than to the number who begin."

The development of a Religious Education program especially designed to prepare leaders for the Society of Friends was viewed favorably by the trustees. This program will provide for a one-year graduate study program leading to an M.A. degree in Religion.

Final action of the trustees was approval of the college budget for the fiscal year beginning June 1. Guilford's overall budget for 1957-58 totals $688,100.00, largest in the history of the institution. Of this total, $577,100.00 is allocated to

JUNIOR - SENIOR SUCCESSFUL

The Junior Class entertained the Senior Class last Saturday evening at the annual Junior-Senior banquet and dance. The theme for the occasion was "River Boat."

Founders dining hall was the scene of the banquet and was decorated with a large picture of a river boat. Craven Mackie was master-of-ceremonies for the event. He first introduced Bill Jarvis, President of the Junior Class, who welcomed the guests. Bob Iskowitz, Senior Class President, replied on behalf of the Senior Class, and Dr. Milner gave the invocation.

Following a dinner consisting of tomato juice, fruit salad, veal cutlets, rice and gravy, string beans, rolls, iced tea and coffee, and ice cream topped with strawberries, a well-received program was presented. "The Showboaters," Gertie Wright, Sara Jane Robertson, Woody Finley, and Tom O'Briant, sang a medley of songs of the deep South. Julie Trimble tap danced and Paul McDonald played the hand organ. After another song by "The Showboaters," the program closed with a pantomime by Ray Albright and Craven Mackie.

From 8:30 until 11:30 the Rhythm Vets rendered dance music in the Student Union. The building was decorated as a showboat and was entered by a gangplank to the patio. Refreshments were served from the "bar" in the soda shop and the parlor featured scenes of the Mississippi.

Committee chairmen for the event were: invitations, Carolyn Newlin; decorations, Woody Finley; entertainment, Barbara Jinnette; food, Jimmie Askins; dance refreshments, Ann Harper; and properties, Charlie Atkinson.

"The Browning Version" to be Presented

The Revelers Club will present Terence Rattigan's "The Browning Version" next Thursday and Friday, May 1 and 2, in Memorial Hall at 8:30 p.m.

"The Browning Version" is concerned with a bitter and emotion dried-up school master who, by the end of the play, feels friendship and liking for other people. The school master, Andrew Crocker-
