

WAA to Sponsor Dance; Sultans Will Play

Tomorrow night the Royal Sultans Orchestra of Winston-Salem will furnish music in the Gymnasium for the annual Homecoming Dance, sponsored by the Women's Athletic Association. The eight piece group and its vocalist, directed by Bernard T. Foy, will render special arrangements for dancing from eight o'clock until eleven-thirty.

The semi-formal dance, which will climax a full day of Homecoming festivities, is free to all students, faculty, alumni, and friends. It is a "no flower" dance.

Immediately preceding intermission will occur the figure and the presentation of the 1957 Homecoming Queen, her court, and their escorts. Bob Marsh will act as master of ceremonies for this special feature.

The decorations committee, headed by Anne Cox and Becke Blackwell, has planned to use a harvest decorating motif. A large artificial bonfire will be used as centerpiece for the dance floor, and the backdrop for the bandstand will picture a fall scene. Pumpkins, cornstalks, harvest vegetables, and orange and black crepe paper streamers will surround the edges of the dance area and complete the decorating scheme.

Punch and cookies will be served as refreshments during intermission. Centerpiece for the refreshment table will be a horn of plenty filled with vegetables and fruits and surrounded by autumn leaves. Carol McBane and Mary Cashwell are in charge of this area.

A receiving line, headed by Ruth Anne Hammond, WAA President, will greet the guests at the door. Included in the line will be: Dr. and Mrs. Clyde Milner, Dr. and Mrs. Harvey Ljung, Miss Helen Davis, Mr. Bill Yates, and Miss Mary Catherine Upchurch, WAA advisor.

The WAA Council cordially invites everyone to attend the dance.

Mrs. Milner Elected Altrusa Club "Veep"

During the summer, Ernestine C. Milner was elected vice-president of Altrusa International. This is a service organization for women in executive and professional fields.

Since its founding in 1917, Altrusa has been known for two major projects; they are the Founders Fund Vocational Aid Program and the Inter-American or Asian Grants-in-Aid Fund. The first of these is to help older women provide a means of income for themselves. Yoon Kim, a student at the University of North Carolina receives aid from the second of these programs. Altrusa is the oldest of women's aid organizations and now has grown to the proportions of 427 clubs nationally with 14,266 members.

Denny Walters, a senior from Wilmington, Delaware was chosen the 1957 Homecoming Queen from a ballot of twelve candidates.

Heterogeneous Group Makes Up Guilford Student Body

The South has long been noted for its hospitality, and Guilford College seems to carry out that tradition. A look at a cross-section of Guilford's enrollment will confirm that statement if a heterogeneous school population is a true indication.

There are in the student body twenty-one students from foreign lands. Five of these are from Cuba; one each from England, France, India, Iraq, Jordan, Japan, Sweden, Viet-Nam, and Guatamala; two from Mexico and five from Korea.

As for out-of-state students, Guilford boasts the presence of seven students from Connecticut, four from Delaware, three from the District of Columbia, seven from Florida, two from Georgia, one each from Illinois, Indiana, and Kentucky, three from Louisiana, one from Maine, four each from Maryland and Massachusetts, one from Michigan, two from New Hampshire, twenty from New Jersey, twenty-three from New York, four from Ohio, eighteen from Pennsylvania, two from Rhode Island, two from South Carolina, five from Tennessee, twenty-nine from Virginia, and one from Wisconsin—all of these and five hundred seven from North Carolina.

From the standpoint of religious affiliations, Guilford has as wide a variety of faith represented as it has hometowns; Baptist, Brethren, Buddhist, Catholic, Episcopalian, Greek Orthodox, Holiness, Latter Day Saints, Lutheran, Methodist, Presbyterian, Nazarene, Union Church, Christian, Christian Science, Church of God, Dutch Reformed, Jewish, Moravian, Moslem, Mormon, Reformed, Unitarian, United Church of God, United Christian, and Friends.

This year Guilford has one hundred thirty-eight seniors, one hundred seventy-three juniors, one hundred forty-eight sophomores, and one hundred ninety-three freshmen. There are eight special students and four graduate students; sixty-one made the change from elsewhere to Guilford.

Men students, did you know there are four hundred eighty-two of you as compared to the one hundred ninety-four members of the opposite sex on this campus?

Yates Selected For "Who's Who"

William Yates, Guilford's new Dean of Men has been selected to appear in "Who's Who in American Education." This volume which has been published bi-annually since 1928 is a biographical directory of some of the greatest living educators both here and in Canada.

Dean Yates, who completed his undergraduate work here at Guilford College in 1953, received his MA from the University of North Carolina, where his record prompted his professor to recommend him for the honor he has received. He has been outstanding as a student, athlete, youth-worker, and teacher. Dean Yates has spent some time in the army overseas in Germany. He has also taught at Guilford and Thomasville High Schools.

The Alchemist Named As Fall Production

The Reveler's Club, under the direction of Mr. Donald Deagon, has started plans and activities for this year with the selection of its fall play production—"The Alchemist" by Ben Jonson. This was announced at the first meeting of the organization in the Auditorium on September 30. The purpose of the meeting was to introduce the new students to the club activities, to stimulate interest, and to discuss plans for the fall term.

"The Alchemist" will be produced in modern dress and setting. The setting will be something new to Guilford—a setting that is abstract and representative of actual construction. The tentative dates for try-outs will be October 17 and 18, and the performances are planned for November 21, 22, and 23.

Besides this experimental production, the Reveler's Club plans to have new lighting equipment for the Auditorium. This has been made possible by the club's increased allocation from the Student Affairs Board and excess money left in the club treasury from last year.

The administrating group of the club include: Eileen Murray, president; Susan Walter, secretary; Dale Embich, vice-president and treasurer; Lyndal McFarland, technical chairman; Craven Mackie, acting department chairman; and Virginia Honea, costume and make-up chairman. The officers of the Reveler's Club see this year as the best year yet for the club, they were quite pleased with the enthusiastic spirit at the first meeting.

In addition to the crowning of the Homecoming Queen, there are many more events scheduled for the day. At 11 a.m. the judging of the dorms will take place. Last year Archdale won first prize for the men's dorm. The committee that judges the decorations is composed of members of the faculty and administration. Between the hours of twelve and two, open house will be held in Archdale, Cox, English, and Founders halls. Activities about the Gridiron will start soon after, with kick-off time slated for two o'clock.
