Green and Scott Attend Seminar

Two Guilford College students and a faculty representative attended the first Walter F. Fancourt Memorial Seminar, held at the W. F. Fancourt Co., textile chemists, Greensboro, N. C., on October 4th and 5th.

Harvey A. Ljung, professor of Chemistry, was accompanied by David Green of Guilford College and Miss Martha Scott of Washington, D. C.

The Seminar has been established by John L. Fancourt, president of the company, in memory of his father and brother, both of whom were eager to attract young people into the textile industry.

Students and faculty representatives from 12 leading colleges and universities in the Carolinas were guests of the Fancourt Company during the two-day session.

Clearing Things Up

As the Traffic Committee ends its second week of operation, it has become evident that there are certain things which need to be cleared up. The main questions asked so far are:

1. Was this whole deal set up just because one boy was hurt?

The answer to this question is definitely no. When the new constitution of the Student Legislature was passed last year, it made a provision for the establishment of a Traffic Committee. A Traffic Committee was appointed last year and work was begun. The accident, unfortunately, occurred before it went into operation. It may and it may not have happened if the rules were being enforced. However, this is not the main point. Our purpose is to prevent, in any way possible, such things from happening again.

2. "But I didn't know that the rules were being enforced, in fact, I didn't even know that we had rules, because I wasn't in chapel the three times that is was announced, and I didn't receive a mimeographed copy of the rules, and I didn't know that a yellow curb meant no parking . . ."

We feel that by now everybody should be aware that traffic regulations are being enforced, and that we have given adequate warning concerning exactly what is being enforced. Ignorance will be no excuse for not complying with the regulations.

3. "I am only going to have my car down here, for a weekend or two and I don't know if I have to register my car or not." "I am going to have a different car later and I didn't see any reason for getting a registration sticker because I was changing cars."

To answer the first part of this question, we have decided that if you are going to be driving a car on campus it will have to be registered. Anyone having exceptional cases is asked to see any member of the Traffic Committee for further explanation. As to the changing of cars, you must get a registration sticker for your first car. If you know that you are changing cars, the sticker could be put up temporarily on the windshield via tape or any other convenient method. It may then be transferred to the new car.

4. How are we going to enforce speeding?

We don't have radar, and don't feel that we need radar. The giving of a speeding ticket will be a matter of judgment. If you are given a speeding ticket, there won't be any doubt.

5. Do the city police have any jurisdiction here?

The city police COULD have jurisdiction here. They are of the opinion that as long as we can handle the situation, they will let us handle it. If we ask them to come out, they would, and with full authority.

6. How much jurisdiction does the Traffic Committee have?

We have been told by the administration that we have as much jurisdiction as we want (within reason). We have approval of enforcement of all the rules currently in operation, and they back us completely.

These seem to be the main questions raised so far. Further questions, suggestions, or criticisms will be appreciated. The members of the committee are Carol Hunter, Pat Larracy, Stan Williams, Sherm Kelsey, and David Miller.

We appreciate your cooperation and hope that it will continue. If it does, we are sure that this traffic problem will no longer exist.

15 Campus Beauties Nominated As 1962 Homecoming Court Candidates

Once again Eris tosses the Golden Apple inscribed, "for the fairest," into the chaos of Guilford's Homecoming Week festivities.

Fifteen of our smiling co-eds are vying for the prize. The rivalry began last week as the candidates were announced, and it amuses some of us to watch the evolution of a "popular girl."

The male portion of the students should be enjoying the week because the girls never took so much trouble in preparing themselves for their grand appearance in the Union or the cafeteria each day.

It's very easy to spot these beauties as they slink to class, with their mawkish smiles and insipid conversation. The harassed professors will pull through the week without too many ill effects, even though they must fight the admiring crowds away from the classroom door in order to get a homecoming queen candidate into the class before "quarter of."

The group of leering "top athletes," the Monogram Club, has suggested Darlene Brigrance as a possible candidate for the prize. Darlene, a sophomore Elementary Education major from Charlotte, is a talented vocalist and has held several state and local titles.

Mary Burton, a pert freshman from Stuart, Va., has the full support of the A Cappella Choir in her campaign.

The men student representatives have unanimously decided to support Diana "come lately" Coneybear. Diana is a senior this year, majoring in psychology. She is interested and active in many campus organizations.

Judy Day, a senior political science major from Guilford College, seems to have her International Relations Club well in hand. This organization is suggesting Judy as its candidate for the crown.

The Women's Student Council has nominated Linda Krauss as its candidate. Linda is a senior psychology major from Garden City, New York. She's lucky to have the endorsement of all the women students and a certain Mr. Barnes.

The sophomore class chose Diane Moseley as the fairest of its co-eds.

Diane is a bona fide member of the class and an Education major from Mount Airy.

The campus thespians, always "better late than never," have nominated a freshman, Gloria Phillips, for the contest. Gloria is a bright-eyed history major from the metropolis of Greensboro.

Kay Reese, one of the many "Slater slaves," entered the competition from the senior class. Kay, a Guilford veteran of four years, is an Economics major from White Plains.

Mary Davis Riddle, representative from the freshman class, is from Fayetteville. She may be found tip-toeing around the Union lounge almost every night.

Those of us who saw and participated in last year's May Day program will remember Janice Rogers—Lady Maidenform. She is a sophomore Education major from High Point, and has been nominated from the Women's Athletic Association.

The notorious Jane Simpson, a Sociology major from Salisbury, comes to the competition from the junior class. "Simp" is one of Guilford's "big wheels," being active in almost anything that goes on around campus.

The bouncing, bobbing, bubbling cheerleaders have nominated Kay Smith, a senior English major from Greensboro, for the contest.

Kay Stabler, one of the noisiest girls in Mary Hobbs who channels her exuberance through leading cheers at the games and riots in the dorm, has been nominated from the Quaker. The yearbook staff has confidence in Kay, a sophomore Psychology major from Bethesda, Md.

Judy Wells, exacting dorm president at Mary Hobbs, chief cheerleader and head of the Social Committee, is a senior Education major from Teachey. "Wells" can usually be found flicking the lights at ten o'clock while she says "good night" to "the body" Holly.

Helen June Wright, a sophomore Economics major from Greensboro, has been nominated by the Day Student Committee.

Student Legislature

First on the agenda of the Student Legislature calendar for October 4 was the welcoming of the new members who are Tom Taylor, president of the freshman class; Lee Milner and Jim Williams, freshman class representatives to the legislature.

Stan Williams reported that the men students will participate in Homecoming Day with floats and dorm decorations.

Newly-formed committees of the legislature are as follows: Sandy Brown, corresponding secretary; Liz Allcott and Jane Simpson form the Secretariat; Pete Rickards, chairman; Tom Taylor, Lee Milner and Kay Reece for the Freshman Week Evaluation Committee; Dillard Norman, chairman; Jim Williams, Jane Simpson, and Bill Seabrook are members of the Student Union Committee.

The Traffic Committee, under the leadership of Dave Miller, is well under way and has been enforcing laws.

It was decided that we will have only one work day, which will be in the spring.

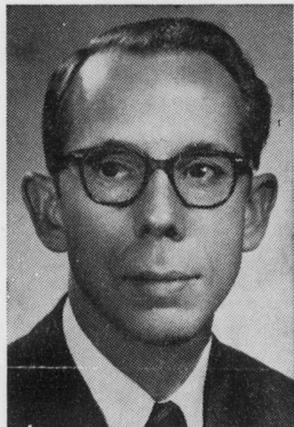

Booster Club

The Student Legislature moves forward for the formation of the Guilford College Booster Club. Working under the auspices of the Guilford College Student Legislature, the Booster Club has elected as its officers Brinley McDanel, president; Linda Krauss, vice-president; and Lib Pyrtle, secretary.

These officers, along with the vice-presidents of all the student organizations and classes, are responsible for all announcements within the school. Anyone wishing to make announcements will turn such into the Student Government Room (211 Archdale) by Thursday night. They will be mimeographed and distributed to the students on Monday.

In its first effort to perform the duties of a Booster Club, the organization is aiding Jerry Smyre in the formation of a band; thus raising or reviving, as the case may be, school spirit and team morale.

Constant representation by all vice-presidents is important and the cooperation of every student is urged as the Booster Club attempts to serve the entire school.

Dean I. B. Cauthen, Jr.

Chairman of the Region V Selection Committee for the Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation is Dean I. B. Cauthen, Jr., of the University of Virginia.

An associate professor of English and associate dean of the university's College of Arts and Sciences, Dean Cauthen has published in various journals in Elizabethan and seventeenth century literature, American literature and textual bibliography.

Competition for the 1,444 Woodrow Wilson Fellowships for 1963-64 is now under way. Any faculty member at any college or university in Delaware, the District of Columbia, Maryland, North Carolina, Virginia or West Virginia may send nominations to Dean Cauthen between now and October 31.

All candidates must file the required credentials with Dean Cauthen by November 20.

Union Music

The poor people who used to sit for hours, listening only to the unpleasant sounds of those around them, will be delighted to hear that the Union has been provided with music throughout the mornings. Yes, the dull, drab Union will be dull and drab no more. Saturday, October 13, marked the beginning. As Union patrons entered they were greeted by melodies that filled the air. The rough tones of conversation were smoother over by the sound of music.

The Union phonograph will be placed in the old bookstore in the soda shop of the Union and all will be able to enjoy the music. Miss Upchurch has decided to play some records from her personal collection, consisting of sound-tracks and popular classical music. The music will be provided for all to enjoy and appreciate as they congregate in the Union.
