

The Guilfordian

Published by the Students of the South's Only Quaker College

Volume XLVII

GUILFORD COLLEGE, N. C., NOVEMBER 2, 1962

New Professors On The Campus

The continually growing family of Guilford College added a number of new professors this year. Some have already been introduced through the first edition of The Guilfordian; others will now be pre-

John D. Lambeth comes to us from Guilford High School as an instructor in Physical Education. A native of Martinsville, Virginia, Mr. Lambeth is a graduate of Guilford College, and a graduate student at UNC. In addition to his regular work in physical education, Mr. Lambeth is director of intramurals, and has been helping out in football and will be working with the tennis team in the spring. "Phy-sically, the school has changed greatly since I was a student here, he says, "but the atmosphere of friendliness and closeness among the students and faculty is the John Stewart, Assistant Professor in Physical Education, is from Gar-ner High School in Wake County. Mr. Stewart was a classmate of Mr. Lambeth at UNC, where he received his Bachelor and Master's degrees. Mr. Stewart has also been helping in football and will be coaching track in the spring. He is a native of Roanoke, Virginia, is married and has two children.

Sheldon J. Morgenstern, Instructor in Music, comes to us from Atlanta, where he was with the At-lanta Symphony Orchestra. He is a graduate of Northwestern University. Mr. Morgenstern became familiar with the Guilford campus this summer, when he served as director of the music camp. Besides Mr. Morgenstern's regular courses he is organizing the new school band and orchestra. "The band is going very well," he says, "but we need more participants. I'm sure there is more musical talent on the campus than is participating now. Mr. Morgenstern enjoys working at Guilford very much, and emphasizes the artistic freedom of school, which he says is very rare. Presently a bachelor, Mr. Morgenstern is engaged to be married in December.

Jerry M. Steele, Instructor in Physical Education, is a graduate of UNC and has just earned his Master's from Wake Forest. Mr. Steele, known to most of us as "Jerry," is living in Cox Hall this fall, where he says he enjoys the opportunity of living with and helping the students. Mr. Steele is also ing the students. Mr. Steele is also basketball coach. "We have a prob-lem with height," he says. "Most of our opposition is taller than our team. But the boys are very enthusiastic and I feel we shall have a sound team."

Student Legislature

The Student Legislature particularly urges all men students to use the parking spaces behind the men's dorms. It is becoming impossible for the girls to find a place to park their cars.

Founders basement is open for all the dancing you can do. Another point of interest may be that new furniture and recreation equipment will soon be installed in the basement of Founders.

Although some students seem to be displeased with the lack of a Guilford College radio station it is not due to any fault of the legislature. All that is possible is being done and we still hope for the sta-

Baubles, Bangles, and Bungles

BY RICHARD JONES

Homecoming has long passed and | to be the message that Jane (Crazy | the Caperettes' chorus line formahas given way to more current issues, but it's very doubtful that it will be forgotten in too short a time. The long-awaited taste of victory for our grid team had finally come true on October 20th. The team had least, came the prize-winning proda record of fifteen straight setbacks uct of the New Girls' Dorm. The when the season was inaugurated blue ribbon float was cleverly decwith Hampden-Sidney at Danville, Virginia. There is no doubt at all that the team could have ended this streak at any period during this season, but the team felt if it should put on its big showing when the alumni returned for the Homecoming game with Frederick College. So rather than prolong the eagerness of their fans, they showed just what they could and would do when determined enough. Maybe now we will see the kind of football that we all enjoy: winning. Congratulations are in order for Coach Appenzeller, his staff, and, most of all, the forty men who practice five days a week in preparation for the big game.

Turning from brawn to beauty the crowd enjoyed some elaborate festivities during half-time of the game. First of all, the homecoming court was introduced as they entered Armfield Stadium riding on the backs of shiny convertibles. From the five lovely ladies on the court, the announcer had trouble informing us of the loveliest. But after some deliberation, it was established that the fairest one to represent Guilford College under the crown of the Homecoming Queen was Miss Kay Stabler. Kay's maid of honor on her court of pul-chritude was Miss Darlene Bri-gance. When we kneel to the Queen and extend our hand, we should never forget to show the due respect to the members of her court: Darlene Brigance, Linda Krauss, Mary Davis Riddle, and Jane Simp-

Homecoming not only is intended for the football team and the beauties to show what they have to There will no longer be dancing beauties to show what they have to allowed in the Student Union, but dorms to display their ingenuity. This year, we witnessed the allnight endeavors of a handful of students from three of the girls' dorms and also from the now actively participating day students. The float of the day hops led the parade. It was quaintly adorned with a fine upstanding Quaker chap. Following closely behind the Rufus Jones those co-operative girls in Mary Hobbs Hall. "Lion Soup" seemed hose co-operative girls in Mary Hall. "Lion Soup" seemed hose co-operative girls in Mary Hall. "Lion Soup" seemed hose co-operative girls in Mary Hall. "Lion Soup" seemed hose co-operative girls in Mary Hall. "Lion Soup" seemed hose co-operative girls in Mary Hall. "Lion Soup" seemed hose co-operative girls in Mary Hall. "Lion Soup" seemed hose co-operative girls in Mary Hall. "Lion Soup" seemed hose co-operative girls in Mary Hall. "Lion Soup" seemed hose co-operative girls in Mary Hall. "Lion Soup" seemed hose co-operative girls in Mary Hall. "Lion Soup" seemed hose co-operative girls in Mary Hall. "Lion Soup" seemed hose co-operative girls in Mary Hall. "Lion Soup" seemed hose co-operative girls in Mary Hall. "Lion Soup seemed hose co-operative girls in Mary Hall." How Ha Legs) Ansell was trying to get tions. across to us. Shore Hall had a float that depicted a merry-go-round with the Lions as the prime sub-jects. And last, but certainly not orated with pink toga-clad sirens who were out to slay the "Lions." They not only aided in the slaying of the Lions, but also in slaying the judges until they were finally chosen as the winning ensemble.

With the awarding of the trophy for the best float completed, it was then time to announce which dormitory group was to receive a similar prize for the best effort in decorating their building. Founders Hall walked away with top honors for the fair sex, while the New Men's Dorm captured the laurels for the weaker sex. The "Quaker Express" was the theme for the ladies and "Quake Canaveral" won the prize for the men.

Preceding the playing of the Alma Mater and the return of the team, a dozen dancing damsels pranced out onto the field for an exhibition that provided a very good outlet for which the male members of the audience could let off steam. The females also found some pleasure in the preciseness of

A. S. T. Meeting Held at G. C.

On October 6, 1962, the North Carolina Unit of the Association of Student Teaching met on the Guilford College campus at the invita-tion of Mr. Bailey. Representatives of the Executive Board were from East Carolina College, Western Carolina College, North Carolina State College, High Point College, Winston-Salem Teachers College, and Dr. Gerald James, Representa-tive from Public Instruction in

The chief order of business was planning for the annual conference to be held on the Guilford College campus, April 27, 1963. Upon their arrival, the Future Teachers served lunch in the Union lounge. They were also the guests of Guilford College for lunch. The host was Mr. Tom Bailey who is the 1962-63 president of the N. C. unit of the Association of Student Leaders. Dean Kent was the special guest. Dean McCracken was also invited, Having completed the agenda for the half-time period, the Alma Mater of Guilford College was then played by the newly-formed Guiltord College Band. The Guilfordian tips its hat to them on a fine job their first day out.

We could not let our alumni get away with just seeing some afternoon activities, so the day was completed by the annual Homecoming Dance in the gymnasium. It too was very successful this year. The decorations were well above par, and the music was tops.

We would like to thank all those who were involved one way or another in preparing for the best Homecoming Day that Guilford College has had in many years.

Homecoming Queen

A round of applause for the Quaker staff please! They put their heads together a few weeks ago and wound up with a winning candidate for the 1962 Homecoming Queen at Guilford College. Miss Kay Stabler was the Quaker's honored guest on Homecoming Day.

As a point of historical information, may we inform you that the girls at Hobbs seem to be quite famous for their monopoly famous for their monopoly on Homcoming Queens. This year makes it four years in a row that Hobbs Hall has produced the leading lady of the Homecoming festivities. The sophomore class need be mentioned also, for both the queen and her maid of honor, Miss Darlene Brigance, are members of that class. The other classes are well represented on the court, however, Linda Krauss is a senior this ever. Linda Krauss is a senior this year; Jane Simpson, a junior; and Mary Davis Riddle, a freshman.

Queen Kay, a psychology major from Bethesda, Maryland, is interested in music as a pasttime. Her future plans include further study in psychology and music. We sinyou much success in the future, Kay, and we congratulate you on the past success.

Guilford's I. R. C.

For those of you who have not met up with Guilford's answer to foreign aid, get ready. This organization was founded by our academic grandparents for the purpose of solving international problems and improving relations of the interna-tional type (diplomatic). The I. R. C. feels that it is neces-

Students Assist 62-63 Curriculum

The following persons have been approved by the Curriculum Comnatice as tutors, paper-grauers, and uaporatory assistants for the academic year 1902-1903. The list is departmentanzed aiphabeticany. Dana scholars are indicated.

BIOLOGI:
For use in Dr. Bryden's laboratories:
Scott, William; Granam, Date; riamilton, Judy; Sisk, Starr; riunter, Carol; Bolinim, Nobert (tutor); Benjamin, George ror use in Mr. Ward's laboratories:

ror use in Mr. Ward's laboratories:
Thorseil, kiven; Goostrey, Morton;
Banes, James.
Chiemistry Dr. Ljung
Lindenderger, Stewart, lab assistant;
Fay, duzz (unor, part time); Green, David (dana); Scort, Martha (Dana).
ECONOMICS
For Mr. Devlin:
Miner, David Ralph (tutor); Swindell, Rodert brandt.
For Mr. Lockard:
Lowdermink, Clarence Vernell (tutor); McCormack, Rodert Clark (grader); Davidson, Rodert Oneil (grader).
EDUCATION Mr. Baney
Andrew, Sarah
ENGLISH Dr. Altman
For use in the new English laboratory:
Adams, Dinie Owens (Dana); Sneppard,
Linda Sue (Dana); Spove, Steen Holst (Dana); Voss, Phyms (Dana); Kernekhan, Mary
Ann.
French Mr. Engelman

Ann.

French Mr. Engelman
Desmond, John (grader and laboratory assistant)
German Mrs. Mary Feagins
Miller, Patricia (Dana) to be used in grammar tundamentals; Angotti, Constance; Kroll, Astrid.

To be used for propulaciation conver-

To be used for pronunciation, conversation, and making tape recordings to sation, and making tape recordings to accompany text.

GREEA and LATIN Dr. Anne Deagon Rock, Robert (tutor in Greek and Latin); Sperry, Pat (to grade papers in English 21).

nsh 21).

rilstORY and POLITICAL SCIENCE
For Dr. Polhemus:
Troxler George (grade in History);
Day, Judy (grade in Political Science).
NATURAL SCIENCE Mrs. Bartlett
Smith, Kay (chief lab assistant);
Wolmsky, Joel (substitute lab assistant);
Hood, Johnny (substitute lab assistant);
Norman, Dillard (paper grader); Kivett,
Forbis (tutor). Forbis (tutor).
PSYCHOLOGY Mrs. Milner

PSYCHOLOGY Mrs. Milner
Truitt, Page
Mr. Vance:
Vincinnaza, Paul (lab assistant, Psychology 23); Gordon, Peter (lab assistant, Psychology 21); Ellis, Raven (Psychology 21); Karmen, Karen (Dana); Stout, Rebecca, and Bernstein, Ellen (Dana scholars helping with students from Africa and Linda Helm)
PHYSICAL EDUCATION (Men)
requests two

PHYSICAL EDUCATION (Men)
requests two
PHYSICS and MATHEMATICS
Dr. Purdom:
Holt, David (Dana) for Physics; Raiford, Daniel (Dana) for Physics; Parker,
Elwood (Dana) for Mathematics; Chase,
Lois (Dana) for Mathematics; Fay, Temple for Mathematics; Fay, Temple, for Mathematics. RELIGION

McGee, Gary (Dana); Stout, Rebecca (Dana).
SOCIOLOGY Dr. Stafford
Smith, Penelope (Dana) tutor; Mackenzie, Carol (tutor); Van Hoy, Tim (tutor and grader); Brown, Gordon (tutor and grader) grader). SPANISH

For Mrs. Rosa Morell: Fernandez, Edwardo For Mrs. Ligia Hunt: McBane, Jean

sary that the average college student learn more about countries other than his own. This is not say-ing much since the knowledge of his own is probably very limited. Anyway, this does seem like a very good argument, especially if our foreign comrades get any closer. Current plans of the I. R. C. inof debate national problems, attendance of the Model UN Assembly at U.N.C., and a series of international dinners in order that international students on campus can become better acquainted with other members of the student body.

Signs will be posted as to the when and whereabouts of the next meeting. All are welcomed to attend buf due to the overwhelming interest of students at Guilford in international relations, there will be limited space.